WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

In commenting on a report that the Dalhousie paper mill may be compelled to shut down on account of power shortage the Newcastle Advocate says:—

"If the above is an actual fact, what must be the thoughts of those who voted for the Veniot plan of handling the Grand Falls situation against that of the Baxter party? However, we think that by now, mostly all sane voters are of the opinion that the local government, handled this question in the best interest of the province, and are satisfied with how the Grand Falls settlement turned out."

It will be pretty generally admitted that the Province of New England escaped a whole lot of trouble when the people turned down the proposal to develop Grand Falls as a public utility. It would have meant the addition of millions of dollars to the public debt and the province would not have had a dependable power service in return for the investment. Conditions in the province are bad enough now but they would have been infinitely worse had the Grand Falls Scheme not been nipped in the bud. It is scarcely likely that the parrot cry, "You gave away Grand Falls," will be repeated during the approaching session of the Legislature.

AS TO PROGRESS

It has been said that it took 10,000 centuries for man to advance from the open fire to the open fireplace. It has taken a few moments in the great stretch of time to come from the first open fireplace to the hot water radiator. Mankind may have stumbled about the earth for 500,000 or a million years before he discovered the uses of fire. It is not strange that in a lifetime we see little that can be called human progress. We must give man time. He progresses so slowly. The human mind today is no better than the mind of 2,000 years ago. Read Plato and be sure of that. But that does not mean there is no progress. Think in terms of hundreds of thousands of millions of years. Evolution never hurries. It deals not with generations but with countless ages.

The Democrats opened what they call their Victory campaign in the United States last evening. Banquets were held in eighty different cities and had a total attendance of 27,000 people, while the speeches were broadcast by radio to 22,000,000 others. All the speakers predicted a victory for the Democrats in the November elections. The Democrats in Congress are certainly on the job. All of the 219 members were on hand, when the House was organized and not one has missed an important division since that time.

A term of adversity—hard times—is the only adequate measuring rod to enable us to judge the value of a man. No man can be accurately judged in easy times, in undisturbed and pleasant circumstances. We can judge people only when we can observe their behavior in times of difficulty and great stress. If we are to know a man we must listen to his answer to the call to coolness under fire and the call to courage.

The Democratic floor leader in the U. S. Congress operates a large farm in the State of Illinois. In a recent public address he said that all he was able to do at the present time was to make the farm earn sufficient to pay the taxes on it. This would indicate that the Fordney McCumber tariff and other legislation enacted in the interests of the farmers has been a failure.

It is believed that the Gulf Stream, the discovery of which was one of Benjamin Franklin's great achievements, is working closer to the Eastern States and Maritime Provinces, thus accounting for the mild weather. Some day we might be growing oranges in the Maritimes.

With the recent passing of its last member, the Sobaipuri Indian tribe of Arizona is now extinct, a condition which will doubtless be confirmed from time to time as another last member passes on.

One school of scientists now holds that the "missing link" was a spider. Perhaps the old Lon Chaney joke can be revamped to cover this development, "Don't step on that spider. It may be one of the folks."

Although a western research body says nine children out of 10, of school age, find spinach distasteful, you find those here and there who say these investigations are a waste of time.

A London jazz composer writes pieces said to be too difficult for the average jazz band. However, our experience with average jazz bands is that they are pretty dauntless.

We may not recognize prosperity when it does return, unless we correct some of our ideas about it. Most references to it sound as if we would look out of a window some day and see it coming down the street, preceded by a band and escorted by motorcycle cops.

Technicians for the sound pictures confess they cannot make an accurate reproduction of the sound of a kiss. The sound of a kiss, like the taste of pie, can only be described. As a boy says, "a pie tastes like more."

Trisecting an angle, a feat long deemed impossible, has been performed by a mathematician. Meanwhile a new problem has arisen: What sort of geometric figure is a "peak of a depression?"

Socks, says a British writer, portray the wearer's character, makes his temperament easy to read and indicate the state of his nerves. According to late camera studies, Mr. Gandhi has no nerves.

Though a leap year, it is thought doubtful if 1932 will seem any longer than a certain predecessor.

- Social Evening
The Philathea Bible Class of the Brunswick St. Baptist church had a pleasant social evening at the home of the teacher Mrs. Louise Bailey last evening. A program of entertainment was carried out. Mrs. G. W. Guion sang several solos, and a quartet composed of Miss Helen Smith, Miss Madeline Jones, Mr. Ronald Beatty and Ralph DeLong rendered several selections. Refreshments were served.
Fell, Broke Hip
Joseph Gillon, fell at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Gordon Blair, 183 Brunswick street yesterday afternoon and suffered a broken hip. The injury has caused Mr. Gillon considerable pain, though today, he was reported resting easier at the Victoria Hospital. An x-ray was taken this morning of the injury.
Wise, Va., Jan. 15—For a town of 1100, Wise does pretty well in the way of longevity. There are 12 more than 80 years old here, the oldest being 87. It has 65 widows and 12 widowers.

DIED
