Japanese Military Machine Reversed Its Position Today

Is Now Occupying Strategic Positions in China Proper, Which It Had Begun to Evacuate—The Sudden Switch Puzzling to Foreign Military Observers—Big Cities Throb With Rumors.

(Special to The Daily Mail by the British United Press)

PEIPING, April 29—The Japanese military machine suddenly reversed itself today, and began reoccupying strategic positions within the two hundred and fifty square mile Luan triangle of China proper. Long Japanese columns advanced behind artillery and airplane bombardment into territory they had begun evacuating earlier in the week. Their objective was obscure and foreign military observers could not understand the sudden switch in operations. Peiping and Tsentsin, major cities of Northern China, throbbed with rumormore and reported residents feared that this time Japanese capture was inescapable.

SAYS JAPANESE FISHERMEN ACT AS SPIES

Sensational Statement Made in Parliament by British Columbia Member of House.

Ottawa, April 29—Charges that Japanese naval officers in the guise of fishermen had obtained employment on fishing vessels in British Columbia and had actually been devoting their activities to familiarizing themselves with Canada's Pacific Coast, were made in the House of Commons tonight by Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster). Mr. Reid was speaking during a discussion on the fisheries estimates.

Protesting against increasing the number of fishing licenses to Japanese, Mr. Reid declared that any such increase would result merely in building up a piece of Japan in Canada. Many officers of the Japanese naval service had made it a practice to secure employment as fishermen on Japanese owned vessels.

"They were spying, really," Mr. Reid said "and I am not afraid to say so."

He denounced the long hours worked by Japanese fishermen as an invasion of their licensed rights and asserted that many of them were in Canada under falsified naturalization papers.

Explains Statement

There was no reply in the House to Mr. Reid's charge and he did not elaborate it. Seen afterward, he said Japanese naval officers came to Canada either under the quota, as merchants or as scholars. Then they shipped aboard fishing vessels.

"They (the Japanese) have our whole seacoast plotted," the British Columbian charged, sitting in one of the parliamentary lobbies. Fishing vessels, he said, had been surprised in bays and in channels taking soundings and making general hydrographic surveys.

More Fishermen

Capt. Charles A. Campbell, of New Brunswick, New Jersey, and Paul Richardson, of New York, will arrive here this evening by car enroute to the Miramichi on a fishing trip. They have engaged Raymond Currie of this city and Alex. Price of Boiestown, to guide them. These gentlemen visited the Miramichi last September and had fine sport.

FOUR-POWER CAMPAIGN FOR A NEW ORDER

Friendly Spirit Prevailed at the White House Conference In Which Premier Bennett Took Part.

Washington, April 28—A four-power campaign for a new economic order and for disarmament was organized tonight by President Roosevelt as he concluded the first phase of his international negotiations.

Canada and France took their places beside Great Britain and the United States during the day in the effort for economic stability and arms reduction to be made at the London economic conference the enevya arms reduction parley.

War debts—the thorn in relations between the United States and European debtors—also came up in a "most frank and friendly" talk today between President and Edouard Herriot, special envoy of France.

As in the case of Great Britain, no agreement or plan was proposed but a joint statement from the president and M. Herriot said the exchange of views "will undoubtedly help in determining the steps to be taken hereafter." Future negotiations were hoped for.

France still owes her last Dec. 15 instalment of $19,000,000. It is known definitely President Roosevelt expects that payment to be made as well as the instalment due on June 15. After the world economic conference he will consider a revision of the debt agreements.

Most Friendly Spirit

The most friendly spirit prevailed during the busy day at the White House as the president held his final meetings with M. Herriot and later with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett of Canada, and bade them both farewell. Mr. Bennett decided to remain in the Capital another day, but changed his residence to the Canadian legation.

THE BODY OF BERT HINKLER FOUND IN ITALY

Noted Australian Aviator Met Death Near Florence, Italy — Five Others Killed in Crash.

Rome, April 28—Almost simultaneous discovery of two wrecked planes, one in central and the other in southern Italy, cleaned up two mysteries of the air and brought first definite knowledge of the death of Bert Hinkler, Australian aviator.

Hinkler's charred body was found beside the burned wreckage of his plane by charcoal burners in the Pratignano woods near Florence, at an altitude of 4,700 feet. He had been missing since January, when he took off from England in an attempt to lower the air speed record to Australia, flying solo.

John C. Van Cleef, an American was one of five persons killed in the crash last Sunday of an Air-Orient liner flying from Corfu, Greece. Three survivors of that crash were found near the wreckage of the air liner on Mount Scifarelli, near Saracena, in Calabria.

Both of the planes were wrecked in the same way. They crashed against tall wooded mountains.

The three survivors of the Air-Orient crash were found sitting in the cabin of the wrecked plane, huddling together because of the severe cold and suffering from shock, but otherwise not dangerously injured.

Still in Wreckage

The body of Van Cleef, identified as a recent Princeton graduate, who was making a world tour, still was planned in the wreckage of the ship, as were the bodies of four French passengers and members of the crew.

The nearest town, Morano Calabro, is two hours distance by mule, from the scene of the crash. The authorities said it would be impossible to move the dead until tomorrow.

The survivors kept alive on sandwiches, chocolate and biscuits which are a regular part of the plane equipment for ships of the line. They ate snow to quench their thirst.

Members of the forestry militia found them and gave them cordials and fresh water.

Hinkler's body was identified by his passport. The spot where it was found is on the route he probably would have taken from the Savogno Alps to Greece.

Governor of Iowa Orders State Troops to the Scene

GOV. IS INDIGNANT Same Crew Mooted In a Recent Mid-West Milk Strike

Des Moines, Ia., April 29 — Gov. Clyde E. erring yesterday ordered one battalion of Iowa National Guard to Le Mars, where farmers tried to hang a district court judge.

The dispatch of state troops was asked by Sheriff Ralph Rippey by telephone, the Governor said. Detachments at Le Mars were ordered mobilized and a detachment from Sioux City was ordered sent to the scene.

A battalion numbers 200 men.

A governor, indignant over last night's episode in which 60-year-old Judge C. C. Bradley, dean of jurists in Northwest Iowa, was saved from the roadside, criticized Sheriff Rippey's failure to act last night.

Governor Herring pointed out that "practically the same crowd was involved in the milk strike, and was kept under control by the Woodbury county sheriff."

In sending out the guard, the Governor intimated that the State would send agents to the scene to investigate. The name of one of the members of the crowd was known. He is Morris Cope, a farmer from Kingsley, Iowa.

"We'll do whatever has to be done at Le Mars," the Governor said.

E. T. M'KNIGHT IS HELD UNDER POLICE GUARD

Former New Brunswick-er Failed to Appear In Court at Medford For Sentence.

Medford, Mass., April 28—Edwin T. McKnight, president of the closed Medford Trust Company, was under the guard of line detectives in his home tonight as the result of his failure to appear in Middlesex superior court today, on the plea of ill-health for sentencing on charges of larceny, conspiracy to bribe and receiving illegal fees.

Judge Walter Collins ordered that McKnight, who was born at Havelock, N. B., and taught school at Sussex and Fredericton, be defaulted after hearing testimony regarding the banker's physical condition. A capias was issued for his arrest if he attempted to depart from the court's jurisdiction before next Monday, or failed to appear in court at that time.

Counsel for McKnight today sought to have the verdict set aside on the grounds it was against the weight of the evidence. Arguments on this question will be submitted Monday.

Confined to Bed

McKnight, a sufferer from heart trouble and diabetes, was reported by his counsel as confined to bed. A county physician, sent to the banker's bedside, reported back to the judge that the defendant's condition was very good. The detectives were then assigned to the McKnight residence.

McKnight, a former president of the State Senate, was convicted earlier in the week. The charges grew out of his dealings with a contracting firm, an official of which said he had paid McKnight large sums to obtain construction contracts which were financed through the trust company.
