Boston Paper Not In Favor of Trade With the Russians

Says the Soviet Needs Recognition in the United States To Bolster Up Its Credit—Motives Are Mercenary—Would Be Opening the Door To Rebels Against Democracy.

BOSTON, Oct. 23—President Roosevelt's invitation to the President of Soviet Russia to send a representative to Washington for a conference on trade matters has not aroused any great amount of enthusiasm throughout New England, judging by press comment. The Post, in commenting editorially on the matter, says:

"The Russians have exhausted their credit in Europe. The Italian Government found to its sorrow that business with Russia meant no profit for Italy. Neither France nor England is ready to risk much more money.

"But, the United States, despite the depression, is still a vast reservoir of credit. The Russian government promises to spend $2000,000,000 here but only provided we will lend her the $2,000,000,000 on long term credit. They need recognition to bolster that credit.

"We are surrendering to Russia on the most mercenary of motives. We may regret it. When the farmers find that we are to lend hundreds of millions to Russia to enable the Russians to buy American farms which will enable Russia to dominate the wheat markets of the world, they will wake up.

"We are opening the door to rebels against democracy. We are welcoming those whose aim is to destroy men's faith in God. We are deliberately financing a nation which aims at the destruction of all that America hold dear. We shall regret it."

PREMIER BENNETT HAS RETURNED TO FEDERAL CAPITAL

Ottawa, Oct. 22—"I was tremendously impressed and encouraged by the splendid spirit manifested by the people in the West," Prime Minister R. B. Bennett said on his arrival in Ottawa today after a fortnight's tour of the Western Provinces. "The sanity and courage of the people of the Prairies augur well for the future of the Dominion, even as it explains in a great measure why Canada has so well withstood the difficulties of the past ten years," he said.

Tomorrow Mr. Bennett will probably call a cabinet meeting to deal with business accumulated during his absence, and it is possible an announcement will be made with respect to the compromise reached between the running trades of the Canadian Railways and their employers, over the wage dispute.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, federal Liberal leader returned to Ottawa on Saturday from the constituency of Restigouche-Madawaska, N. B., where he spoke in support of the Liberal candidate, J. E. Michaud.

WHEEL COMES INTO HOUSE

Shelby, Mich'gan, October 23—Mrs. Ella Kellogg, narrowly escaped injury when the rear wheel of a passing care broke off, and rolled 300 feet across a road, ditch and lawn, broke through a porch door and stopped after demolishing a chair next to the couch on which she was resting.

PROHIBITION WAS DEFEATED IN ICELAND

Reykjavik, Iceland, Oct. 22—A landslide vote for the repeal of prohibition on spirituous liquors in Iceland was predicted tonight on the basis of early results in the Reykjavik district returns.

Results in the Reykjavik district were repeal was approved by a ratio of more than two-to-one, was regarded as indicating the sentiment of the whole country. Five towns, including the capital, voted 6,972 for repeal and 2,762 against.

Figures from outlying districts were coming in slowly.

FOUND SHOE OF MISSING GIRL

Word was received here this afternoon at R.C.M.P. headquarters that a running shoe for the right foot had been found within 200 yards of the spot where a bare right foot had been found Saturday, a foot which has been positively identified as that of 17-year-old Marguerite Aschah, of Peninsula Gaspe, who mysteriously disappeared on the night of August 31st. The shoe has been identified as that belonging to Maude Aschah, 15-year-old cousin of the former girl, who also disappeared the same night. Both girls are believed to be dead. The R.C.M.P. are continuing investigations in the mystery.

HAD CLOSE CALL

Lima, Peru, Oct. 23—An unsuccessful attempt was made yesterday to assassinate the President of Peru. Police made eight arrests.

CAMPAIGN ON NORTH SHORE TO CLOSE TODAY

A Large Vote Likely To Be Polled in the Constituency of Restigouche-Madawaska.

Edmundston, N. B., Oct. 22—Last-minute presentation of Conservative, Liberal and Farmer-Labor policies today and tonight concluded intensive campaigning in Restigouche-Madawaska as the three candidates made final appeals for support in tomorrow's by-election.

Five Conservative rallies on behalf of Paul L. Dube were held in different parts of the constituency today, and J. E. Michaud, Liberal candidate, addressed four meetings. The Farmer-Labor candidate, J. L. G. Annett, gave his last formal address Friday night.

A Conservative meeting at Dalhousie last night was addressed by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, federal minister of finance, Hon. Dr. Murray MacLaren, federal minister of pensions and national health, and Hon. D. A. Stewart, provincial minister of public works.

Speaking in similar vein as he did at Campbellton Thursday night, Mr. Rhodes dealt with trade, tariffs and lumber and accusations by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader. He attributed the brighter outlook in New Brunswick's lumber industry to the embargo placed upon Soviet lumber by the Bennett government.

Expect Heavy Vote

As a result of keen interest in the campaign and unusual activity by the candidates, a heavy vote is expected tomorrow at all 111 poles in the large constituency.

Max D. Cormier, Conservative, whose death created the vacancy, had a majority of only 546 votes out of nearly 20,000 when he opposed T. H. McElroy, Liberal, in the general election of 1930.

Messrs. Dube and Annett are making their debut in the political field, but Mr. Michaud is a veteran in provincial politics. He has acted as the financial critic for the Opposition in recent sessions of the New Brunswick Legislature and was formerly a member of the N. B. Electric Power Commission.

SICK SIBERIAN 'GIANTS' NEED AID OF THE SOVIET

Moscow, U. S. S. R., October 22—Sick giants are awaiting drastic medicines out in Siberia, the Commissar of Heavy Industry, Gregory Orzhonikidze, has reported to his colleagues in the Kremlin after an extensive tour.

The enormous metallurgical enterprises built in Magnitogorsk, and Kuznetsk (now Stalinsk) are referred to in Soviet parlance as "giants." The commissar found that the giants were ailing and did not scruple to make his findings public.

He reported that the construction was not moving speedily and that enormous wastage of materials and labor were in evidence.

One of the worst sides of the metallurgical giants is the everyday life of the hundreds of thousands of workers engaged there. Commissar Orzhonikidze described housing and feeding conditions as on an inexorably low level.

Heavy Freights Being Handled at Port of Montreal

Canadian Metropolis Seems To Have Struck "Fag-end" of the Depression--Three C.P.R. Liners Take on Big Cargoes For Overseas During the Week-end—Grain Being Shipped.

MONTREAL, Oct. 23—The depression is still with us, maybe it's just the "fag-end" of it; or so it would seem, judging by ocean freight handled recently through this port in Canadian Pacific liners.

During the past few weeks, activities on the waterfront have been of redoubled intensity, and this week three liners, the Beavertale, Duchess of York and Montclare have sailed with an aggregate of 14,000 tons weight of cargo, including 170,000 bushels of grain. Two of these vessels are passenger liners, with comparatively limited cargo space. It was learned today, however, that for the past three weeks the "Duchess" liners and the "Beaver" cargo steamers have left Montreal and Quebec with capacity loads of cargo for European ports.

The Duchess of York, with a passenger list for Glasgow, Belfast and Liverpool, took on 3,700 tons in Montreal, of which grain amounted to 24,000 bushels. She will take on an additional 150 tons of cargo in Quebec.

JEMSEG BOY VICTIM OF AN ACCIDENT

Claude Heustis Struck by a Govt. Truck, Sustained Injuries Which Proved Fatal.

Gagetown, Queens County, October 22—Claude Heustis, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Heustis, Upper Jemseg, died Friday night of injuries received when struck by a provincial government highway truck, doing road work opposite the home of Eben Slocum, Upper Jemseg. The truck was driven by Lorne Chapman, Upper Jemseg.

At the time, a road machine, a scraper and a truck, dumping gravel, were at work close together on the road, and the lad daret out among them just as another truck moved in, it was said. He was not seen until the truck was almost on him, when the driver swerved toward the ditch in an effort to avoid striking him. The truck ran over the boy's foot, however, throwing him against the side of the other truck. His head struck the second truck, and he was picked up unconscious. He received several cuts and bruises also.

The accident occurred at two p.m., and from that time until he died nine hours later, every effort was made to save his life. Three doctors, Dr. W. M. Jenkins, Gagetown; Dr. F. A. McGrand, Welsford; and Dr. C. W. Buchanan, Minto, and three nurses were in attendance, but their efforts were in vain.

He was a bright, promising lad, and a pupil at the Upper Gagetown School.

Many At Funeral

The funeral took place this afternoon from the home of his parents, Rev. F. H. Sinnott, pastor of the Upper Jemseg Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in the Baptist Cemetery nearby. A large attendance at the funeral testified to the sympathy felt throughout the district. The boy is survived by three
