THE FIRST ARMISTICE

While the armistice was signed by Germany on November 11th, 1914, it must not be forgotten that the allies of Germany had been beaten to their knees some days earlier. Bulgaria, the little autocracy in the Balkans, which had entered the war on the promise by Germany of territorial loot, signed the armistice on September 29th, after its army had been overwhelmed by a force composed of British, French, Italians, Serbs and Greeks. With Sofia, the capital in danger of bombardment the Bulgars sought and obtained peace. King Ferdinand abdicated the throne in favor of his son, Boris.

Turkey was the next German ally to throw up the sponge, and it came with great suddenness. General Allenby commanded the British forces in Palestine and was reinforced by Indian and Arab troops. Battling on holy ground, General Allenby attacked the Turkish forces on September 18th on a sixteen mile front, and in less than a day they were fleeing in full rout. On September 21st an entire Turkish column of twenty thousand men, in an effort to escape into the Jordan valley was cut off and taken. The British captured Nazareth, and practically annihilated two Turkish armies. Later the British advanced to the Sea of Galilee, which region they dominated. The ancient city of Damascus was also surrounded and captured. In the fighting British and French warships co-operated along the coast. Facing destruction from all points of the compass the Turkish government sued for an armistice on terms which meant absolute surrender. The armistice became effective on October 31st.

Early in October the Italian troops launched a tremendous drive against the Austrian forces. The enemy was driven across the Asiago plateau, losing thousands in dead and prisoners. British and American troops joined in the drive and on October 30th the Piave river was crossed. A frantic appeal to Germany for assistance proved unavailing, as the German troops were then being hard pressed on the western front. On November 1st, with nearly 100,000 of their men in the hands of the allies, and with two hundred thousand more cut off, an armistice was asked for and granted on November 3rd. The armistice left Austria powerless. It called for the surrender of her navy and the total demobilization of her army, including the troops fighting with the Germans on the western front.

Germany made her first request for an armistice on October 6th, but there was delay, and the armistice was not signed until November 11th. In the meantime a revolution had broken out in Germany, and the Emperor, William II abdicated the throne and renounced the right of succession for the Crown Prince on November 9th, and the overthrow of autocracy and militarism was complete.

The Town of Marysville lost its oldest native-born citizen on Sunday in the person of Elias White, who passed away in his 94th year. He was one of the pioneer lumbermen of the Nashwaak, having for many years carried on extensive operations for the late Alexander Gibson, Sr., when that gentleman was New Brunswick's greatest captain of industry. The late Mr. White had a very large circle of acquaintances, and was universally esteemed for his many excellent qualities.

Marie Dressler, well known charity worker in a radio talk from Los Angeles last night in a nation-wide hook-up, roundly condemned a Los Angeles landlord for evicting a woman and her children for non-payment of rent. She said that she felt like placarding his house so he would never be able to rent it again. She went on to say: "If I had the strength I once possessed, I would seek out that man and give him a swift kick on his piazza."

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

An overdose—Snow.

For Sale Cheap: An old-fashioned winter.
All in the point of view, Playing Football in the snow is to some people real sport, and to others just being dumb foolish.

Curiosity is a good drawing card, as for instance the crowds of men and women who attended "Damaged Lives" at the Gaiety.

What will the Governor of North Carolina now have to say to the Governor of South Carolina?

If those who undertake to "reduce" aren't careful, they get one foot in the grave.

The only time a modern girl worries about the men staring at her is when they don't.

Love is something at which no woman can play without getting burned fingers and a badly scorched soul.

Exercise in will power is to have an open box of chocolates in the room and let it alone.

Don't believe you have "personality" unless someone tells you so. It's like pulchritude in that way.

It is a woman, it is illusions she entertains; if it is a man, it is hallucinations he suffers from.

MOTOR PUMPER TO BE SHIPPED TO TORONTO

Fredericton's modern seven-ton $16,000 combination motor pumper and chemical, badly damaged in a collision with a coupe, driven by Mrs. Vincent Jamieson, Saturday night, at the corner of York and George Streets will be sent to Toronto immediately for repairs. This is being done on the advice of a mechanic of the La France Company, manufacturers of the truck, who examined it here today.

Robert Coombes, who was on the seat with the driver, assistant Fire Chief Melvin Bearisto, when the accident occurred, received painful injuries to his foot. Neither he nor Bearisto was thrown clear of the vehicle. Bearisto suffered bruises.

Mrs. Vincent Jamieson who was driving the coupe that collided with the fire truck, was thrown from her car and landed on the road. She received no injuries beyond a bad shaking up. Mrs. Jamieson was able to walk to a nearby house with assistance. Her car was badly smashed in front. Both motor truck and coupe had to be towed to garages.

The fire car was answering a still alarm for a chimney fire at the home for a chimney fire at the home of Miss Areta Gerow at the corner of Saunders and Westmorland Streets. According to Assistant chief Bearisto he was going out York Street when he saw a car on his left coming up George Street.

Mr. Bearisto maintains that he speeded up in an attempt to pass the corner first but the two machines crashed.

The heavy pumper skidded for nearly 100 feet along York Street and hit a tree on the left side of the street. The right front end of the truck was smashed and the engine almost totally wrecked and the frame was twisted and broken.

A wrecking truck came upon the scene and an extinguisher was sent to Miss Gerow's home by it. Bearisto himself proceeded immediately to the fire which was easily extinguished. Both truck and coupe were towed away.

The damaged pumper had been in service over four years and cost $16,000. It was a modern seven ton combination motor pumper and chemical and had a capacity of 1000 gallons.

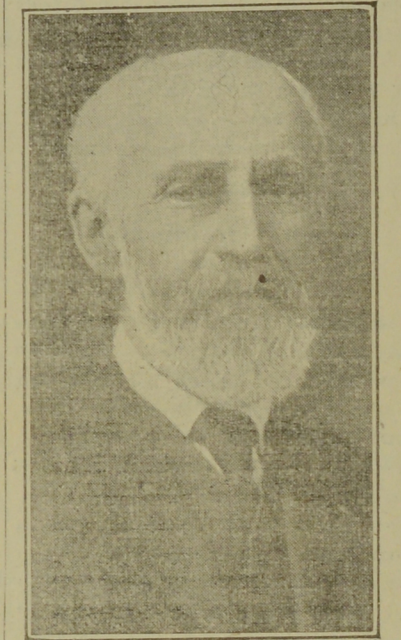

It was announced today at the City Hall that the truck was not carrying collision insurance and that most of the damage might have to be paid for by the City. It is believed the bill will be in the thousands.

ELIAS WHITE PASSES AWAY IN MARYSVILLE

A Well Known Citizen Closes Long and Useful Career—Was In the Employ of Alexander Gibson For a Number of Years.

Marysville lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens last evening in the passing of Mr. Elias T. White in his 94th year.

Mr. White was born at Marysville on February 13th, 1840, and was always interested and active in its development. He was probably the oldest surviving long lumber operator on the Nashwaak, having superintended the driving of lumber for his friend, the late Alexander Gibson, for upwards of twenty years. While he has not been actively engaged for many years he retained complete possession of his faculties until his death.

Walter Donahue, Rev. Albert Thompson and Rev. W. A. Burge. Joseph McManus, a returned veteran, gave a reading, and a wreath was placed by Helen Stickle, niece of the first Devon boy killed overseas. A firing party from "A" Company of the York Regiment, under command of Lieut. C. W. Johnston, fired three volleys, with Bugler David Coombes sounding the Last Post and Reveille.
