Memorial to Early Settlers Unveiled On Sunday Afternoon

Imposing Ceremony at Salamanca Attracted a Large Gathering—Appropriate Addresses by the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Tilley and Mayor Clark—Local Militia Took a Prominent Part in the Affair.

In the presence of a large and representative gathering, a boulder monument in honor of Fredericton's first English-speaking settlers and the real founders of the city, a band of United Empire Loyalists, who landed here one hundred and forty years ago, was formally unveiled by His Honor Major-General Hugh Havelock McLean, K. C., LL.D., V.D., Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick, on Sunday afternoon. After unveiling the monument His Honor read the inscription on the bronze tablet, and then delivered a brief but forcible address in praise of the Loyalists and warmly commending the action of the citizens of Fredericton in honoring their memory. The other speakers were, Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, Premier of New Brunswick, and His Worship the Mayor of Fredericton, W. G. Clark. The speeches were most appropriate to the occasion and were listened to with marked attention. Those present by invitation and for whom seating accommodation had been provided, included Hon. Dr. MacLaren Minister of Pensions, and Mrs. MacLaren; Hon. Geo. B. Jones, M.P., Mr. Justice Richards, R. B. Hanson, K.C., M.P., Mrs. L. P. D. Tilley, Rev. George Telford, Mr. and Mrs. John Black, the Countess of Ashburnham, Mrs. H. F. McLeod, Mrs. J. M. Scott, George E. Fisher, Mrs. Martha Harvey, J. J. F. Winslow, Dr. C. C. Jones, Rev. J. W. Bartlett, Brig. Gen. Hill, Lieut.-Col. J. J. Bull, V.D., Mrs. J. B. Maxwell, Miss Kate Stewart, C. S. Brannen, J. L. Neville, and many others. Brig.-Gen. J. R. Parsons, district officer commanding the militia, in full dress uniform, occupied a seat on the platform with the Lieutenant-Governor.

A Fine Ceremony
Thanks to the splendid arrangements made by the memorial committee the ceremony in connection with the unveiling was carried out without the slightest hitch. A detachment of uniformed militia, numbering about one hundred and twenty officers and men, representing three branches of the service, cavalry, artillery and infantry, stood in line on the right of the monument, facing the river. The ceremony, scheduled for 12.45 P. M., started punctually on time and was carried out in less than an hour. While weather conditions were none standing throughout the ceremony. The police arrangements for handling the crowd were first class and officers stationed at strategic points performed their duty without the slightest confusion. Ample parking space for cars was available on Waterloo Row and adjacent cross streets, and all spectators had a good opportunity to witness the ceremony.

A Good Location
The monument or cairn is located on the green off Waterloo Row and just opposite the intersection of Alexandria Street, and is easily seen from the street. Near by is the old cemetery, where a number of Loyalists who perished during their first winter in Fredericton were laid to rest. The boulder has a height of nearly five feet and presents a rugged appearance. It was obtained on the Woodbridge farm a short distance away. The memorial was draped with the Union Jack and was guarded by a detail of four men from the New Brunswick Dragoons, wearing scarlet uniforms, and some boy scouts.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Brigadier General Parsons, members of the committee and the military contingent attended the special service at the Cathedral in honor of the occasion and at its conclusion proceeded direct to the site of the memorial. His Honor arrived by car and was accompanied by the Brigadier-General Parsons, Capt. Theodore Barker, the official secretary and Lieut. Col. E. J. Lounsbury, A. D. C. The troops marched in a few minutes later and were drawn up on the streets in two ranks facing the memorial. The band of the York Regiment was assigned a position at the rear of the memorial next to the river.

Sent Greetings
The ceremony began with the playing of "O, Canada", by the band, after which His Worship the Mayor delivered the opening address. In his preliminary remarks he stated that he was in receipt of messages of good will from the following: Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, Premier of Canada; Judge O. S. Crockett of the Supreme Court of Canada; Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen of the New Brunswick Supreme Court; His Lordship Bishop Richardson, Mayor Briflain of Saint John, Mayor Stewart, or Toronto; The Council of the United Empire Loyalists Association of Canada and the Governor Thomas Carleton Chapter of Toronto.

THE MEMORIAL AND INSCRIPTION

try, played a very important part and did much to make the affair a success. The band of the York Regiment rendered patriotic selections and also the accompaniments to the very appropriate hymns, sung by a mixed choir from the city churches, under the direction of Prof. Harrison. A detachment from the 90th Howitzer Battery of this city, fired a salute of twenty-too favorable, they might have been a great deal worse, as rain had fallen during the night, but fortunately had ceased early in the forenoon. The sky, however, remained overcast, and there was a chilly wind that caused overcoats and furs to be called into use. It is estimated that upwards of fifteen hundred people were present, the great majority of whom remained

His Worship's address was followed by the singing of "Oh, God, Our Help in Ages" by a mixed choir with band accompaniment.

The Unveiling
His Honor the Lieutenant Governor, on being called upon by the mayor formally unveiled the memorial, and read the inscription thereon as follows:—

Florida Voting Today on Repeal Of U. S. Dry Law

Generally Conceded That the Verdict Will Be Heavily In Favor of Repeal—Two to One Vote Looked For—Hope Expressed That State May Retain Its Dry Law.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 10—The State of Florida is today voting on the 18th Amendment, and the indications are that the verdict will be strongly in favor of repeal. Both wet and dry leaders have expressed this opinion. Careful estimates place the vote at two to one in favor of repeal. One dry leader says that owing to the apathy shown by the voters on the question, he would not be surprised should a three to one vote be recorded in favor of repeal. Rev. Paul W. Duke, while expecting the verdict to be against prohibition, is hopeful that the State dry law will be retained. The vote on this law will be taken on November 18th. Florida will be the thirty-third State to vote on repeal and should its verdict be wet the standing in the country will be 33 to 0. Only the verdict of three more States will be needed to ensure the repeal of the 18th Amendment.

SEVERE GALES PLAYS HAVOC IN NOVA SCOTIA

Annapolis Valley Apple Growers Suffer Heavy Loss—Severe Damage To Shipping.

Halifax, October 8—A mowing tropical hurricane lashed Nova Scotia and part of New Brunswick over the week end, paralyzing coastal shipping, wrecking a schooner and a scow and causing crop and property damage estimated at half a million dollars.

Annapolis Valley fruit growers bore the brunt of the loss as the gale ripped through Nova Scotia's famous orchard and stripped 150,000 barrels of apples from the trees. Late tonight as the wind moderated, the growers estimated the storm had cut $375,000 from their returns.

Overflowing rivers and streams left several miles of dykelands under water in the valley. Potatoes and other field crops were damaged there and in other parts of Nova Scotia.

The storm whipped the Bay of Fundy into fury. At Craft's Cove on the New Brunswick shore the two-masted auxiliary schooner Dorothy, out of Parrsboro, Nova Scotia, dragged her anchor and piled up on the shore. The crew escaped to a nearby boat. Several yachts of the Royal Kennebecasis Yacht Club were driven ashore at Milledgeville near Saint John.

At Parrsboro, on the Nova Scotia shore a lumber-laden scow parted her mooring wires and drifted out into the bay. Tonight it was reported at Margaretsville, Annapolis county.

Torrential rains flooded highways and lowland fields in Nova Scotia and damage was reported all the way from Yarmouth to Amherst. Cape Breton escaped with little damage.

A century-old dam gave way at Great Village, sending water rushing over the countryside. The flood carried away a road bridge.
