NOTABLE CANADIANS

It was noted a few days ago says the Moncton Times, that Sir William Mulock of Ontario had celebrated his 89th birthday, spending his later years on the Ontario bench after long service in public life. Sir William had the distinction of being a member of the Government formed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in 1896, which was heralded at the time as the Cabinet of Talents, including no less than four ex-provincial premiers, Hon. L. H. Davies of Prince Edward Island, Hon. A. G. Blair of New Brunswick, Hon. W. S. Fielding of Nova Scotia and Sir Oliver Mowatt of Ontario. In many respects, however, the late Sir George Foster of New Brunswick had a more notable career in public life than Sir William Mulock or any other Canadian. He was in the cabinets of Macdonald, Bowell, Thompson, Tupper, Borden and Meighen; he was a veteran in public life when Laurier assumed office, and his voice remained potent in National and Empier affairs until death called him a little more than one year ago.

Sir William Mulock is still going strong as Chief Justice of Ontario, and last year asted as Administrator of the government. He has also served as Chancellor of the Toronto university. While holding office as Postmaster-General Sir William inaugurated penny postage. He is the sole survivor of the Laurier cabinet formed in 1896.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, speaking in New York recently, predicted that if international trade continues to decline at the rate of the last three years, "it will disappear entirely within a few years and each separated and isolated national will be left to a quiet economic death in its lonely bed." He declared that the modern world is "in the gravest crisis of its history" and stated it was "up to the United States to prevent disaster." As specific remedies, he urged—disarmament; levelling of barriers of international trade through the coming economic conference; reconsideration of the war debts problem; ratification of the World Court protocol, and greater co-operation with the League of Nations.

Hon. W. J. MacMillan, Minister of Education for Prince Edward Island, has received a $75,000 cheque from the Carnegie Foundation for the endowment of a chair of economics and sociology in Prince of Wales College and St. Dunstan's University. The cheque is payable in American funds yielding between $12,000, and $13,000 extra in Canadian money. The University of New Brunswick being a state aid institution does not come in for any windfalls of that kind.

A picture now going the rounds shows Sir Henry Thornton, former president of the Canadian National Railways and Mrs. Thornton enjoying themselves at the race track at Havana Cuba. It is quite evident that railway deficits are not causing Sir Henry to lose any sleep these days.

Rev. Dr. S. Parker Cadman, the New York radio preacher, says that he is not in favor of military training for high school and college students. He says that it consumes time that should be devoted to other purposes, and inculcates a military spirit.

A farm and live stock in the state of Iowa was sold out a short time ago under foreclosure of a $3,000 mortgage. Ridiculously low prices were obtained and the total proceeds of the sale amounted to only $45.

Cyril Maude, the celebrated English actor whose stage career dates back over fifty years, was heard yesterday in an international radio talk from London. His daughter, Miss Marjorie Maude, now in New York, introduced him to the America audience.

The head of a Utah group sees barter opening the door to a new economic order. In some quarters this is regarded as the most promising of recent developments, excepting only the invention of the wheel.

A dog, in Stamford, Conn., is reported to be greatly improved by having his tonsils removed. Did it ever occur to you that when your dog lets his mouth hang open he may be suffering from adenoids?

As Gandhi is to direct the policy of a new weekly paper in Poona, some distinction will have to be made hereafter in references to the Mahatma's rags.

It's easy to get by as a technocrat. You just use big words to say nothing and then appear disgusted by the ignorance of those who don't understand.

Probably it will develop that the specimen of the finny tribe found in a tree in Ohio was a perch or a flying fish.

Eliminate memories and anticipations—life wouldn't be worth living even in prosperous times.

A French cabinet is so soon done for one wonders what it was begun for.

There is no way to have the fun of breaking economic laws without making times harder.

Those Japanese never will restore their own finances by continuing to wreck the buying power of China.

Caucus to Be Held

Members of the Provincial government and a number of their legislative supporters will arrive in the city this evening, for a government meeting and caucus. The government meeting will begin at eight o'clock, and the caucus is scheduled for tomorrow. Matters connected with the legislative program and prospective change in the Personal of the cabinet which are likely to take place after the close of the session, will probably be topics for consideration. No doubt measures of unemployment relief will also be discussed.

N. Y. TOWN PUTS FAITH HEALERS UNDER SCRUTINY

Rochester, Jan. 16—Aiming to prevent faith healers of all descriptions from attending cases of communicable illness without the supervision of a licensed physician, the town of Irondequoit has passed a health ordinance requiring examination by a doctor in all such cases.

Irondequoit is believed to be the first community in the state to adopt a measure of this kind. The ordinance was recommended by Dr. Willis W. Bradstreet, town health officer, after a child suffering from diphtheria had been permitted to run at large with the only attendant a faith healer.

The ordinance is not intended, said Dr. Bradstreet, to prevent or hinder the practice of faith healing, but to prevent the spreading of communicable disease.
