

A MOTHER'S DUTY TO HER DAUGHTER

Her Health Must Be Carefully Guarded
As She Approaches Womanhood.

The mother who calls to mind her own girlhood knows how urgently her daughter is likely to need help and strength in the years between early school days and womanhood. It is then that growing girls droop, become feeble, "lolly" and nervous. Nature is calling for more nourishment than the blood can supply. Signs of distress are plainly evident in dull eyes, pale cheeks, weak and aching backs, fits of depression and often a dislike for proper food. These signs mean anaemia—that is bloodlessness.

The watchful mother takes prompt steps to give her girl the new, rich, red blood her system calls for, by giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which transform weak, anaemic girls into a condition of perfect health, through the rich, new blood these pills actually make. No other medicine has ever succeeded like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and thousands of weak, disheartened girls have proved their worth. Miss Mabel Sinclair of Coburg, Ont., says:—"About three years ago I was a very sick, nervous and run down girl. At the least excitement I would tremble and faint away and the slightest noise would annoy me. I had severe pains about the heart and would often take dizzy and smothering spells. I lost in weight and the color all left my face. My mother got all sorts of medicine for me but all failed to do me any good and I was still going down hill. One day we read in the newspaper of a similar case cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and the next time my mother went to town she got three boxes. In a short time I felt that the pills were helping me and from that on every day they helped me more. I took altogether nine boxes and felt like a new person. I was ready for all my meals, gained in weight, the color came back to my cheeks and I was again enjoying perfect health, and has ever since enjoyed that blessed condition. I earnestly advise all weak girls to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial as I am sure they will do as much for them as they did for me."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

French Officers Must Stand Trial

(Canadian Press.)

Geneva, via Paris, Feb. 4.—The investigation into the charges that Col. Karl Egli and Col. Maurice de Wattonville, officers of the general staff, communicated to Germany information regarding French frontier positions, has been concluded. Col. Dubois, who made the investigation, recommends that the officers be sent to trial before the military court of the 8th division.

I heard of 'Fruit-a-tives' and gave it a trial and it was the only medicine that really did me good. Now I am entirely well; the Rheumatism has disappeared and the terrible pains in my body are all gone. I am exceedingly grateful to 'Fruit-a-tives' for such relief, and I hope that others who suffer from such distressing diseases will try 'Fruit-a-tives' and get well."

MR. LAW'S TRAGIC END.

The news that Mr. Law had been caught in the death trap became known to the members only this morning, when it was found that he had not returned to his room at the Alexandria Hotel and that no one had seen him after the fire.

Shortly before the alarm of fire startled the members in the Commons Mr. Law had told Mr. Chisholm of Inverness, that he was going up to his room in the Nova Scotia headquarters on the top floor to telephone about a dinner engagement on the following night. He told Dr. Chisholm, who was the next speaker on the fisheries debate then in progress, to "speak good and loud so that I may hear you upstairs."

When the members made their hurried rush from the chamber, A. K. MacLean of Halifax, ran up to the Nova Scotia rooms, thinking that possibly Mrs. Kite, one of the members' wives, who had been there a short time before, might have been caught there. He says he looked into the room but it was empty and with difficulty he made his escape through the smoke down the stairway at the west end.

CAUGHT IN A TRAP.

It is presumed that Mr. Law, instead of going to his room to telephone, went into the basement to the telephone booth situated just below where the fire broke out. With the door of the telephone booth probably closed he was unconscious of the quick rush of fire and smoke along the corridor. When he attempted to escape it was too late. Death came either from asphyxiation or he was buried beneath the debris from the floor above which collapsed within a very few minutes after the fire alarm. Just how he met his death will probably never be known.

Today there was no flagstaff surmounting the gigantic main tower on which the flag could be half-masted. The tribute to his memory was paid in the broken words of Premier Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the new Commons chamber this afternoon and in the hushed words of sadness and regret with which the members referred to "poor Law."

THOUGHT THAT OTTAWA FIRE WAS OF INCENDARY ORIGIN

Remains of Mr. B. B. Law, Liberal M. P. For Yarmouth
N. S., Found in the Ruins—How Two Quebec Ladies
Lost Their Lives.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT THREE MILLION DOLLARS

The Opinion Prevails That the Rapid Spread of the Flames Was Due to Incendiary Bombs.

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—With firemen still playing on the empty shell of the parliament buildings, with a toll of seven dead and half a score injured, and with parliament meeting for the transaction of "business as usual," in the improvised chamber of the Victoria Memorial Museum, the capital today realized something of the great national tragedy of last night.

The walls of the building still stand to outward view almost the same as they have stood since Confederation, save for the fallen roofs of the central portion, the fallen ornate crown of the main tower and a few shattered and jagged peaks of some of the smaller towers.

Inside, however, there is nothing but a mass of fire-swept ruins beneath which still lie the bodies of five of the victims. Tonight soldiers and firemen are digging among debris twelve feet deep, seeking to uncover the charred bodies of those who lost their lives while bravely seeking to stay the progress of the flames.

It will be days before the full story can be told. Meanwhile, however, the main outlines of the capital's biggest story are becoming fairly clearly defined amid the haze of rumour and sensational conjectures which sprang from the suddenness and confusion of the catastrophe.

A FEW BRIGHT SPOTS.

There are a few bright sides to the picture. The beautiful architectural gem of the library building, with its irreplaceable treasure of books and public documents, has been saved. The historic monument, one of the finest bits of architecture of Canada, and of the continent, still stands in outward semblance repairable with the expenditure of a few million dollars.

The loss of life, considering the suddenness of the fire's attack, which swept through the whole building from corridor to corridor within five or ten minutes from the time the fire was first discovered, would assuredly have been greater had the Chamber of the Commons and the galleries been filled. As it was, there was scarcely a quorum in the House and in the galleries only a couple of dozen.

The escapes, as told in the calm light of day, were many and sensational. The marvel of it is that the toll of death was but seven, only one member of the House, B. B. Law of Yarmouth, and the assistant clerk of the House, J. B. R. Laplante.

MR. LAW'S TRAGIC END.

PERISHED TO SAVE VALUABLES.

The deaths of Mesdames Bray and Morin of Quebec, guests of Madame Sevigny in the speaker's chamber, were especially tragic. The two ladies were on the second story and Madame Sevigny had called to them to follow her down the stairs into the passageway leading to the north exit. Apparently, instead of following her, and thinking that there was no danger, they turned back for their furs and jewelry.

DON'T SCOLD, MOTHER THE CROSS CHILD IS BILIOUS, FEVERISH

Look at Tongue! If Coated, Clean Little Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of old, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative" and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask our druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

SUSPECT ARRESTED FOR OTTAWA FIRE

Ottawa, Feb. 4.—An arrest was made by the police at Windsor tonight of a man suspected of having set fire to the Parliament buildings. The man's name is believed to be Charles Strony, pianist to Madame Edvina, the Canadian songstress, who was in the capital with her company last night. He was supposed to be a Belgian, but has a Teutonic appearance.

"We have no definite charge to make against him," Col. Sherwood, chief of the Dominion police, stated tonight, "but the man was at Ottawa and was heading for the United States when taken off a train. He will have to give an account of himself. He is not the only one."

SELECT MEDICINE CAREFULLY

Purgatives are dangerous. They gripe, cause burning pains and make the constipated condition worse. Physicians say the most ideal laxative is Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; they are exceedingly mild composed only of health-giving vegetable extracts. Dr. Hamilton's Pills restore activity to the bowels, strengthen the stomach and purify the blood. For constipation, headache, biliousness and disordered digestion, no medicine on earth makes such remarkable cures. As Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Try a 25c. box yourself.

UNANIMOUS VERDICT.

When a man gets quipped in some manner by a woman, there is only one opinion among womenkind—it serves the Old Fool Exactly Right. Has any use ever been discovered for a loving cup?
