Union Government Talk Being Indulged In at the Capital

The Movement For a Political Holiday to Beat the Depression Does Not Show Much Prospects for Success—The Names of Dunning and Ferguson Are Mentioned For Premiership.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7—Although many business leaders appear to be advocating the formation of a National Government there are no indications at Ottawa that steps are being taken to meet their wishes.

On the contrary, National Government looks to be farther away right now than ever. Last January the drive for a political holiday and a beat-the-depression ministry showed promise of success. The politicians were distinctly worried about it. But today nobody on Parliament Hill takes the proposal seriously.

The rumors that are finding their way into print these days art to the effect that a National Government may emerge under the leadership of a man not presently in Parliament. Both party leaders would have to step aside and allow a new leader to unify the Liberals and the Conservatives. The man most frequently mentioned is Hon. Chas. A. Dunning, Liberal, former minister of finance, and the runner-up is Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Conservative, High Commissioner at London.

GERMAN GIRLS WIN FIGHT FOR PRIVILEGES

Berlin, Oct. 7—German women henceforth have the inalienable right to use as much lipstick and powder as they please.

They can even smoke cigarettes in public, heinous as that sin has hitherto been, and will not be molested by morally outraged young men of the Storm Troops.

A statement was issued last night by Capt. Ernst Roehm, national chief of the Storm Troop army, calling off the recent campaign to keep German women powderless and without the benefits of nicotine.

This announcement follows a scene some days ago when mannequins in a Berlin fashion show were herded into a room and summarily asked to wipe off their powder and rouge. The mannequins refused and after a bitter argument, won their point and were allowed to paint as they pleased, even to smoke—one of the first instances yet recorded of successful defiance against the strictures of the Nazi revolution.

AN ANGRY ANGLER'S WIFE

Chicago, Oct. 7—When his wife, Barbara, found him digging in the back yard for worms she became so angry she showered him with a frying pan, a coffee pot, and a soup kettle, Fred H. Schubert said in a bill for divorce.

EATS BEE SANDWICH

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 7—George Althouse of Ackley, went to a picnic. A bee lit on his sandwich. George didn't see the bee.

He ate the sandwich. The bee stung his tongue. A hospital furnished the treatment.

THE WRONG BOX

Salt Lake City, October 7—An alarm of fire yesterday brought the firemen to the Mormon Temple. There was no fire but an investigation showed that somebody had been trying to mail letters in a fire alarm box and had rung in a alarm.

YAWN DISLOCATES HIS JAW, AND A BUMP CURES IT

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 7—Awakened by the appetizing odor of hot cakes and sausages, Edward Hines arose, dressed and hastened to the kitchen of his home here. Just as he reached the table he yawned. His mouth remained open, for the yawn dislocated his jaw.

Reluctantly, Edward left the savory dish behind and boarded an ambulance, hospital bound.

Enroute the ambulance hit a bump, jolted Edward and snapped his jaw back into place.

He thanked attendants and raced home to the cooling cakes and sausages.

CHEAP FARES ARRANGED FOR THE HOLIDAY

Montreal, Quebec, October 7—Arrangements have been made by the Canadian National Railways for extra travel service during the Thanksgiving day holiday this weekend, covering a period for railway travel from Friday to Tuesday inclusive, during which time the railways of Canada are offering to the Public special reduced fares on the basis of one and one quarter times the regular first class fare for the round trip. These railway tickets are good to leave on the outgoing trip from 12 o'clock noon on Friday, October 6th until 12.00 o'clock noon on Monday 9th, with return portion permitting the final homeland journey up to Tuesday, Oct. 10th.

San Francisco, Oct. 7—Self-portraits by leading California artists have been on display at the Palace of the Legion of Honor and one that attracted attention was painted by Ralph Stackpole. He pictured himself armed with a razor, halfway in the act of shaving.

UNCLE BENAIAH STARTS DOWN THE LONG TRAIL

Vet Guide Who Brought Fame to Miramichi, Passes

ALMOST A NONOGENERIAN

Guided Many Famous Sports, Including Gov. Cox of Ohio

The death occurred on Friday morning at his home at Bloomfield Ridge, York County, of Benaiah Norrad, who in his day achieved considerable fame as a guide and trapper. He had reached the advanced age of eighty nine years and six months, and had been quite active and bright up to a few weeks ago. His death was due to the infirmities of age. Mr. Norrad was a son of the late Robert and Margaret Norrad, and was a native of Bloomfield Ridge, where he resided during the whole of his long life. Many old friends in this province and throughout the United States will regret to learn that he has taken the long, long trail.

A Master Woodsman

The late Mr. Norrad carried on farming and lumbering operations during the early part of his life, and incidentally acquired a thorough knowledge of woodcraft, which was destined to stand him in good stead. Along in the late nineties of the last century, when big game hunting was more popular than it is today, Mr. Norrad took up the business of guiding along with his brother, Edward. On the death of the latter a few years later, he continued business alone, and did much to make the Miramichi country famous as a big game area, especially in the Middle West. Mr. Norrad reaped the benefit of some splendid publicity, which New Brunswick secured as the result of a fine exhibit at a great sportsman's show held in the Coliseum in Chicago in 1901. His early parties included Dr. D. W. Greene, of Dayton, Ohio, a noted eye specialist, who shot his first moose under Mr. Norrad's guidance. The doctor returned the following year and brought with him a party of friends, and all continued to come annually for a period of ten years or more. He usually brought his wife and another lady relative along and quartered them at a Fredericton hotel during his stay in the woods. Dr. Greene's companions on one occasion, included Hon. James M. Cox, who subsequently became Governor of Ohio and in 1923 unsuccessfully opposed the late Warren G. Harding for the presidency of the United States. During the past summer Governor Cox was a conspicuous figure at the World Economic Conference in London. Only a short time ago the Norrad family received a letter from him enquiring about Mr. Norrad's health and extending best wishes.

Dr. Greene won fame some years ago by making a trip to Egypt and removing a cataract from the eye of the Khedive, thus earning a fee of $10,000. Uncle Ben stood high in his estimation and he directed many big game hunters to his camp at Lake Brook on the Miramichi. A booklet distributed by the first Fredericton Tourist Association was the means of bringing Dr. Greene to New Brunswick.

Reports Change For the Better in The Maritimes

A. D. Ganong, M. P., In a Montreal Interview, Tells of Increased Exports of Sardines to the United States—Lumber Stocks Cleaned Up; Praises Work of Premier Tilley.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7—Things are getting better in the Maritimes; according to A. D. Ganong, M. P., manufacturer, of St. Stephen, N. B., who dropped into the Canadian Chamber of Commerce offices yesterday.

"You can see improvement all along the line," said Mr. Ganong. "Take Eastport, Maine, where much of our Canadian output is sold; there were more sardines shipped out of there by the 1st of September of this year than there were in all last year. The fish have all been cleaned up. The salt fish and every other kind of fish have been sold. So the fishermen start this year with a bare market, for the first time in four years.

"It is the same in the lumber trade. There is no old lumber left; it has all been sold. That means there is a bare market in lumber, and the lumbermen will be able to cut, knowing that all the previously cut timber has been sold. That will be the first time in four years that this has happened also.

Asked about Prime Minister Tilley, recently elevated to the premiership, Mr. Ganong said: "He is a strong man, the strongest man we could have got in New Brunswick for the job. We feel he will be a good premier."

RURAL INNS OF QUEBEC THRIVE ON DEPRESSION

Montreal, Oct. 7—The depression had proved beneficial to at least one industry in the Province of Quebec, that of the rural hotels and inns.

Citing this anomaly, Rodrigue Langlois, managing director of the Quebec Country Hotel Keepers' Association, points out that "as a result of the economic crisis, many a country hotel keeper suddenly sat up and took stock of his affairs, realizing that tourists would come to Quebec inns only when assured of a distinctly French atmosphere, which is, after all, the cradle of French Canada."

Tourists sought individuality of surroundings, excellent service, a good French-Canadian cuisine, M. Langlois stated, and above all, that touch of old France. And many a rural innkeeper benefited by this experience, and improved his hostelry.

The tourist trade in Quebec, notably that from the United States, has been well maintained during 1933, M. Langlois finds. And a larger number of visitors to the province are seeing Quebec as a whole, motoring from such metropolitan centers as Quebec City and Montreal to the Gatineau district, the Laurentian Mountains, the Lake St. John region, the lower Quebec and the Gaspé Peninsula.

WOMAN'S WARDROBE RAIDED

Seattle, Oct. 7—Ask any man if women have too many dresses and he'll probably say yet. Evidently one man thought so, because he raided the home of Mrs. A. P. Hedington the other night and departed with nineteen dresses.

Wife of a refrigerator manufacturer has secured a divorce on grounds of cruelty. The probability is that his love grew cold.

POPULATION OF TOKIO OVER FIVE MILLION

Tokio, Oct. 7—The city of Tokio is composed of 1,237,771 households, with a population of 5,837,319 persons, according to the figures published by the Police Board. The number of households shows an increase of 20,817, compared with the corresponding period in 1932 while the population increased by 77,395 persons.

LARGE BULL MOOSE INVADED THE CITY AT AN EARLY HOUR

Trotted In Northumberland Street at Six O'clock This Morning—Frightened by Dog and Took to the River.

A full-grown bull moose, wearing a nice set of antlers, stalked majestically through the city at the early hour of six o'clock this morning and was seen by a number of people. It emerged from the woods at some point on the hill in rear of the city and trotted leisurely in Westmorland street. It slowed up at the Queen street corner, near the Grand Hotel, glanced at the blackboard sign offering breakfast for thirty cents and then continued on to Campbell street, where it turned the corner and proceeded eastward. When opposite the Capital Garage a bulldog locked up in the office of the owner, W. E. Vaughan, began to bark, and the noise caused the monarch of the forest to speed up and head for the nearby river. It plunged into the water, and when last seen was heading for the Devon shore. It is quite unusual for a moose to invade the city at this time of year, but it probably was aware of the fact that it is protected by law until the 15th instant.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. B. Young, of Caraquet, are motor visitors to the city and are registered at the Queen.
