CONTROL OF INVESTMENTS BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT URGED
BEFORE ROYAL COMMISSION

Toronto, Sept. 10—Federal control of investment, and creation of a central bank found strong support before the Royal commission on banking here Saturday. Two submissions to Lord Macmillan and his four colleagues contained arguments in support of these new features in Canadian finance.

The first came from Professor J. F. Parkinson, of the University of Toronto, who stressed the desirability of control in the monetary, credit, exchange and investment fields. His memorandum outlined the needs for a central bank, and the functions which it should fulfill. It also proposed creation of a board of national investment "with powers somewhat analogous to those of the arbitral tribunals under the Railway Act of 1933."

Purpose of Board

The purpose of this board would be "to substitute for the lame and one-sided controls of investments now exercised by closely integrated investment groups, a system of national controls over investment in order to supplement the policies of the central bank." It would co-operate with the central bank.

The League for Social Reconstruction, represented by Graham Spry, national secretary, also favored the creation of the two bodies referred to by Professor Parkinson.

"We submit the development and growth of the country's resources of capital and equipment should no longer be left to the irresponsible activity of private individuals or corporations," stated Mr. Spry's brief in its advocacy of federal control of investment. It proposed the creation of a body which should be empowered to take necessary steps to co-ordinate public borrowings, and to recommend to the cabinet measures to bring private investment projects within a national plan. Ultimately this board would operate most of the machinery of investment and strictly supervise the rest.

In the Meantime

"We suggest that, in the meantime, the board be given power to license or veto all new issues of securities and all other forms of borrowing for capital purposes, in respect to both public and private authorities" the brief proceeded.

Saturday's sitting comprised a variety of representations in addition to those from Professor Parkinson and Mr. Spry.

The Commission was given an optimistic statement on mineral development in Ontario by Hon. Charles McCrea, minister of mines for the province. Dealing more particularly with gold, the minister anticipated a production this year of $45,000,000 which, with the premium added, would amount to $62,000,00 in terms of currency.

BOSTON'S FINE
NEW BUILDING DEDICATED

Boston Mass., Sept. 11—Boston's new Federal building, 22 stories high, erected at a cost of $6,000,000 and built to house the 7,000 federal employees of 43 governmental departments was formally dedicated on Saturday with appropriate ceremonies at which Postmaster General James A. Farley was the principal speaker.

Governor Ely, Senator Walsh, Mayor Curley, and other dignitaries took part in the dedication exercises, which were held in the open air at the Post-office square entrance to the new building.

MAJESTIC ELM THREATENED

(Boston Post)

The majestic American elm, finest shade tree in the world and pride of our New England villages and countryside, is threatened with a disease as potent to kill as was the chestnut blight that has all but exterminated the trees that it attacked.

Already 141 authenticated cases of the blight have been discovered since the first was reported a few weeks ago. The infected trees have been found in an area of about 150 square miles in New Jersey. It is, of course, a foreign pest, the Dutch elm disease, that is marching into the splendid trees and it is no trifling matter that now confronts us.

Contrary to the situation at the start of the terrible chestnut blight that was first noticed in 1904, an appropriation of federal government fund will be available to begin the battle to save the elms. The Public Works Administration, acting under the National Industrial Recovery Act, has authorized the Department of Agriculture to spend $80,000 in combating the disease. Scientists of that department are in the thick of a campaign to stamp it out. They warn the people of all the States to be on the watch for signs of the encroaching danger.

"Watch for wilting or yellow or brown leaves accompanied by brown streaks in the young wood", they advise. "When such cases are found, cut pieces of the infected twigs as big as a lead pencil and send them to the Dutch elm disease laboratory, Experiment Station, Wooster, Ohio. There are other tree diseases with the same symptoms, and we cannot be sure of the cause of the trouble till the specimens have been cultured."

The co-operation of tree owners and elm lovers everywhere is absolutely necessary to save the elm. The disease strikes the tree dead in one or two years. Once it has a firm foothold, eradication and salvation of the noble trees is almost impossible. So we say to everybody: Save the elms! Do you share a love of the beauty and majesty.

WALDO YOUNG
GIVES VIEWS OF STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 11—Waldo Young in his market review says:—A downward drift like this may run two or three weeks without reversal of the major upward trend. There should be a decline of 10 or 20 average points further without establishing a new bear market. Meanwhile, there is much hugging of low levels to disposition in any department to pull briskly away from recent low figures, except perhaps the oils. The triangle formation in the charts shows a slow drift through the underneath trend line, not a decisive breakout and perhaps, as a bare possibility, a false move. There should be something decisive in next two or three days, if not hours. A pronounced "off" opening today would suggest definite breakout downward.

MRS COSTELLO HAS APPLIED FOR A PENSION

Salem, Mass., September 10—Nearly all the world knows that Mrs. Jessie B. Costello, has been declared innocent of the charge of murdering her husband. But apparently the officialdom in Washington cannot abide by what is hearsay.

A representative of the Veterans' Bureau in Boston came into the clerk's office in the Essex County Superior Criminal Court here yesterday and requested that she be given a document to prove that Mrs. Costello did not poison Fire Captain William J. Costello last February. It is understood that the widow has applied to the Federal government for a pension, the late Captain Costello having been a member of Uncle Sam's forces in France during the World War.

BOIESTOWN IS
CONFERENCE

Winnipeg, September 10—Every province in Canada sent delegates to the Canadian Hospital Council Convention here, but the smallest community of all, Boiestown, N. B., sent by far the largest representation of its professional body—its doctor, its lawyer, and its parish priest.

It so happens that Rev. Dr. William, P.P., is three-in-one, parish priest, lawyer and doctor, and also chairman of the public relations committee of the Canadian Hospital Council.

UNITED STATES HAS THE RIGHT TO INTERVENE

Havana, Cuba, September 10—The "Platt amendment" granting the United States Government the right to intervene in case of trouble in Cuba says in part:

"The Cuban government consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence and to maintain a Government capable of protecting life, property and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of peace on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba."

An attractive feature about the licenses is that both the non-resident moose and deer license and the non-resident deer license entitle the holder to his daily bag limit of partridge in season, but if he wishes to hunt Migratory Birds, such as Woodcock, Geese, Ducks and Brant it is necessary that he take out a non-resident Bird License.
