

THE DAILY MAIL

Published Every Afternoon (except Sunday) at 327-329 Queen Street, Fredericton.

THE MAIL PUBLISHING COMPANY
J. L. Neville, Managing Editor.

Subscription Price: $4 per year by Carrier; $3 per year by Mail.

TELEPHONE 67.

MONDAY, AUGUST 13, 1934.

OPEN THE DOORS

A correspondent wishes to know why our school board meetings are not open to the press. This is a very natural question. Our school board is composed of a fine body of citizens, men and women who have the respect of all the community. They do considerable work and they get no salary. But they have to do with the largest spending department in our city. They can demand what they want and the city council has to come across. This being the case it is only reasonable that the public should know what goes on at the meetings, and why this and that has been done—or not been done. The school board belongs to the people. The members of the board are the people's servants—not as some seem to think the masters. No member of the board has any right to stop the public or press from attending the meetings. If there is any rule about "closed doors" at school board meetings let us abolish the rule. Open the doors, at least to the press which can be depended upon to use judgment. As one member of the press the Daily Mail does not want any cut and dried reports of school board meetings.

OUR ANNIVERSARY

This week at Saint John the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the founding of our province will be observed with an appropriate two days programme. The first session of the Legislature—a short one—was held there. After which the Legislature was moved to Fredericton which has since been the Capital.

Last year Rev. Dr. F. A. Wightman of this city started the movement to hold this celebration in this city. He brought the matter up at our local historical society and the proposal was endorsed by representatives of the Provincial government. Then Saint John took up the plan and suggested that the celebration be transferred to that city. To this the Fredericton Committee agreed, so the celebration will be held at Saint John.

Formerly a part of the province of Nova Scotia, and before that, of ancient Acadie, much history has been written within our borders. The coming of Champlain followed by the heroic missionaries, the arrival of settlers from France, the progress of Christianity, the development of trade, the changes in ownership, the arrival of the English, Irish and Scotch who with the French pioneers, laid well and firmly the foundations of what is now New Brunswick—all passes in retrospect as the anniversary approaches. Four of the great races of the world combined to give us what we have today and the record is one in which we, as people of a common province, may well take a common pride.

The settlement of Champaign on St. Croix Island, the discovery and naming of the Saint John River ushered in that period of development which has not only given us New Brunswick but, also, Canada of today. Champlain was here four years before he founded Quebec.

It was 180 years after Champlain sailed into Saint John harbor that the province of New Brunswick was organized due to the great increase in its population through the coming of the Loyalists. We now form a happy province within the great British Commonwealth of Nations.

There is a feeling that our province has not been fairly treated and public-minded citizens are striving to correct many injustices which exist. If we are to progress, if there is to be a future for our children, things must be bettered in New Brunswick. Opportunities must be provided for them.

Christian Science Monitor: Radical leadership will have little appeal in industries where workers receive not only a fair deal but also enough contact with management to know it as a fair deal.

Our Mail Bag

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

Editor, The Mail,

Sir,—A well patronized country market is not only a very interesting gathering, but is at the same time one of the most useful institutions of the land. It furnishes a sort of clearing house for the products of the country to the great convenience of both producer and consumer. Probably none of our provincial markets are as well patronized as our local one and it is safe to say none furnish produce of higher quality or in greater variety.

Our market, however, having been established in the very early days, continues, through established custom some of its early defects. One of these is the lack of a proper market building for shelter and protection of both people and produce. This defect could be easily rectified, and should be.

The other defect is one which has developed through the progress of the years, and especially of late. This is the growing congestion at all times and especially in the summer season. The introduction of the truck and automobile has enlarged the radius of the marketing area probably ten times its original scope. This not only causes much inconvenience to both buyer and seller but tends to depress prices.

Now the remedy for this condition is simplicity itself and the suggestion of the remedy is the chief purpose of this letter. The suggestion is three market days per week instead of two as at present—Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. When Fredericton was half its present size and ten or twelve miles would be near the limit of the area covered, the present arrangement would be fairly satisfactory, but a change to three days a week is now urgently needed for all concerned.

The chief advantage, as stated, would probably be to relieve the ever growing congestion. Since an extra official market day was available, fewer patrons would feel they had to be on hand on the two days now available and country produce would be more evenly spread over the week for the purchasers. But this would not be the only advantage. It frequently happens that one of the present market days is so stormy or cold or follows on the heels of a blocking snowstorm that the market for that day is nearly empty. Occasionally it happens that both days are bad, especially in certain seasons of the year. But with an extra day the chances of having at least one good market would be greatly increased. This would prevent dearth in the city and an accumulation of unsold produce in the country to spoil.

This desirable change could, I presume, be easily brought about by co-operation between representative farmers or county councillors and the city authorities. Why not give it a trial? This plan would be in line with all other places of similar size.

F. A. WIGHTMAN,
Fredericton, N. B.,
August 10th, 1934.

NOTES AND NEWS OF DOAKTOWN

Aug. 11—The annual picnic of the United Baptist church was held recently on the church grounds, with a large attendance. The tables were bright and attractive and the food of the best, while the service was all that could be desired. Games, contests and sports were participated in and prizes given. The proceeds were for church purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Furrholmen, of Minneapolis, who are spending their honeymoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson, of McNamee, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinnon.

Mr. and Mrs. Perley Holmes, of Fort Francis, arrived here on Friday last, being called by the serious illness of his mother.

Mrs. Maud Hartford and daughter, Nola, and Mrs. Cora Spellman, of Houlton, Me., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Russell on Sunday last.

William MacKinnon and children, Margaret and Billy, who have been spending a few days at Campbellton, have returned home.

Mrs. Annie Cook, of Campbellton, is visiting at the home of her brother, Dr. J. B. Hamilton.

Mrs. Ernest Logan and family, of Fredericton, are spending the summer with her father, Bradford Ogilvie.

CUBA SEIZES U.S. PHONE CO.

Havana, Aug. 13—The strike-ridden Cuban Telephone Company, a $28,000,000 American investment, was in the hands of the Cuban government today. Seeking to end labor quarrels, the government took over the properties through a form of "Intervention."

H. C. Hart, American president of the firm, registered protest against "the act of the republic of Cuba in intervening, despoiling the company of its administration and depriving it of the legitimate enjoyment of its properties without legal grounds."

The company refused to grant government demands that it reemploy some 256 former strike leaders, charging some were guilty of sabotage.

A government official was placed in charge of operations as "intervenor."

ANN CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

GAITY

NOW PLAYING

Female EARTHQUAKE ROCKS 'FRISCO.

Meet Frisco Arlene... Queen Cobra of the Golden Gate... Whose smile is Paradise... Whose kiss is death!

First National's top-ranking frame of the Hottest of the West, with

6-STAR CAST

Also Two-Act Comedy "CARE-TAKERS DAUGHTER"

PARAMOUNT NEWS USUAL PRICES

Here Wednesday-Thursday

"The Old Fashioned Way"

—with—
W. C. Fields, Baby LeRoy, Judith Allen

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

Ann CAPITOL NOW PLAYING

HARDING

The RIGHT TO ROMANCE

a story of the love game... played with loaded dice

ROBERT YOUNG
NILES ASTHER
SARI MARITZA

RKO RADIO PICTURE

Directed by ALFRED SANTILLI
Merian C. Cooper, exec. producer
Myles Connolly, associate producer

News Comedy Usual Prices

Thurs., Fri., Sat., This Week

"Let's Fall In Love"

—with—
Edmund Lowe and Ann Sothorn

COMPLETE COST

The price that we quote you is all inclusive—there are no additional charges. Whatever the price, you receive the same high standard of service that overlooks no detail. Complete Funerals, $75.00, $100.00, $125.00 and upward. Deliveries anywhere in the country at no extra cost.

The New Funeral Home

H. R. ADAMS
All Phones 26. 459-461 King St. Fredericton, N. B.

INSURANCE

HOWARD H. BLAIR

RELIABLE BRITISH & CANADIAN COMPANIES

PHONES—Office 291-21 Residence 345-11

68 YORK STREET

—You Can Rest Assured—

SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY</