

A Tired, Worn Out Woman Can't Make a Happy Home

There is no happiness in the home when the mother is sick and worried by the never ending household duties. She gets run down and becomes nervous and irritable, has shortness of breath, faint and dizzy, can't sleep, and gets up in the morning feeling as tired as she went to bed, and is downhearted and discouraged.

Milburn's H. & N. Pills will soon convince women it is not necessary to suffer, as they build up the nervous system and bring back the former health and vigor.

IMPORTANT MEASURES

Washington, Jan. 3.—One of the first measures Congress will be asked to deal with will be a bill to impose a $2 tax on liquor. The President will ask authority to make reciprocal tariffs with other countries. The budget will call for an expenditure of six billion dollars.

GOLD PURCHASES

Washington, Jan. 3.—It was announced yesterday that gold to the value of $50,000,000 had been brought from foreign countries and $25,000,000 at home. The buying was done with the object of raising commodity prices.

FIREMEN INJURED

Toronto, Jan. 3.—George Willey and W. C. Clarke, Toronto firemen, were injured yesterday when a truck skidded while on the way to a fire. Willey was thrown from the step and Clarke jumped. Both men were taken to the hospital.

WARDEN'S SUPPER

Warden Morrison of the Municipality of York, has issued invitations to the annual warden's supper to be held at the York Hotel on Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

"Our cook is terribly temperamental."

"So's ours. We never know whether it'll be angel cake or devil's food."

Notice to the Holders of Debentures of: ASSOCIATED GAS and ELECTRIC COMPANY

You, of course, wish to do your utmost to safeguard your investment in the Debentures of Associated Gas and Electric Company. To do this we believe you should exchange them at once under the Plan of Rearrangement of Debt Capitalization.

About $100,000,000 of the Debentures of all series have been exchanged by well over 40,000 holders.

Realization by important banks, trust companies and investment dealers of the need for the Plan has been growing steadily. Many, who heretofore showed no interest or were opposed to it, have recently changed their opinion. They are now exchanging their own Debentures and advising others to do likewise without delay.

Options 1 and 2 are the more conservative and have been the choice of almost all holders. Regular payment of interest is more certain with Option 1.

Nearly three-quarters of the new Debentures which are reserved under Option 1 (subject to the terms of the original offer) have already been issued and are outstanding. Certain expected large deposits make quite likely the early closing of Option 1.

All Debentures sent in for exchange under Option 1 will be exchanged under Option 2 if Option 1 is closed prior to their receipt unless the holder otherwise directs. Those who send in their Debentures by return mail will be reasonably certain, however, of having their Debentures accepted for deposit under Option 1.

In figuring the interest adjustment on exchanges made from now to the first of the year, you will be allowed full interest to January 1, 1934, on your present holdings.

Holders who wish to do their part to protect their own interests should act immediately.

POLICY OF U.S. GOVERNMENT HAS BENEFITTED THE DOMINION, SAYS HON. H. H. STEVENS

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Canada has been primary industries of Canada, so that placed in a much improved position, on selfish as well as altruistic as far as her outside indebtedness is concerned, by the policy of the present United States administration is proceeding across the border.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, states in a review of conditions at the close of 1933

A year ago, the minister says, it was estimated that $3,248,000,000 of Canadian bonds, including Dominion, provincial, municipal and private corporation, were payable in United States funds. This involved at the rate of exchange in December, 1932, "an additional obligation of practically $500,000,000 for exchange, thus being equivalent to approximately $3,750,000,000 in Canadian funds."

"That extra obligation in principal together with the corresponding obligation for interest," says Mr. Stevens, "has been swept away in 1933, materially lightening the burdens which this country is carrying."

The minister's view cites improved conditions in the past year as a warrant for looking forward to gradual recovery in 1934.

"Although our leading industry of agriculture is still in a very unsatisfactory condition, yet the present situation in other great Canadian industries indicates substantial progress in the Dominion as well as in the other English-speaking countries and generally throughout the world," he says. "Indeed, it may be asserted with a fair degree of confidence that both the world as a whole and Canada in particular have well passed the worst point of depression though recovery must necessarily be gradual. Recovery is the 'key word' to be used in describing the economic condition of the world towards the close of 1933."

Mr. Stevens finds that the consumer's dollar lost nothing of its purchasing power in 1933. Canada, he states, still retained her position as fifth exporting nation of the world.

In Great Britain

In Great Britain, says Mr. Stevens, the paper pound that has existed for over two years in the absence of a gold currency has proved a fairly satisfactory standard of exchange between debtors and creditors, and has done substantial justice between them. Between August, 1931, when the gold standard still existed, and October, 1933, the fluctuations of both wholesale and retail prices have been confined within a comparatively narrow range, and the paper pound of the present time purchases approximately what the gold pound bought in August, 1931. What is more, the British people are obviously confident that it will continue to do so.

While British imports in the first 11 months of 1933, according to preliminary figures, are down to £613,154,000 as compared with £642,575,000 in the same period of 1932, this decrease of 4.6 per cent in value, if we may judge from the Board of Trade's study of the relation between volume and value of trade in the first nine months, does not involve any decline in volume of imports.

Across The Line

"The United States recovery policy is still in an experimental stage, but it cannot be doubted that, in spite of the recent reaction, the general situation has greatly improved since the present administration took office and undertook the raising of commodity prices through the departure from the gold dollar. Wholesale prices, according to the official index number of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, have risen from 59.8 in February, 1933, to 71.7 in October, 1933, or by approximately 20 per cent, and this increase of prices has encouraged industrial activity."

As for employment, the manufacturers' report show that in October 1933, they were employing 73.4 per cent of their 1926 staffs as compared with 59.9 per cent in the same month of 1932. Similarly, the American Federation of Labor estimates the total number of unemployed in the United States at 10,076,000 in October as compared with 10,875,000 in the same month of 1932 and 13,770,000 in the record month of March, 1933. This increase of productive activity in the United States is bound to have a stimulating effect upon at least the

In Canada

In Canada also the relative stability of prices in the last two years and some net increase of prices in the last nine months have contributed greatly to the recovery, which has taken place, and have also encouraged the people to subscribe to issues of government bonds. The index number of wholesale prices has shown comparatively slight variation in more than two years, the maximum figure recorded in the last 29 months being 71.3 in August, 1931, and the minimum 63.6 in February, 1933, after which wholesale prices rose to 70.5 in July, thereafter falling slightly to 67.9 in October, but rising again to 68.7 in November.

this practice of much of its ill-effects. It was asked that the City Council take steps to secure legislation so that the by-laws of the city would adequately cover this matter. Ald. Forbes said that complaints are made regularly that the city by-laws covering peddling and "hawking" were not effective. On the suggestion of Ald. Dougherty, the matter was left to the city solicitor for action.

The report of tax collections for the month of December, 1933, given by Alderman Warren Maxwell, showed collections of $8,484.33, and for 1932 the amount was $6,991.16. The report of relief work for the month was presented by Ald. Forbes and good results were shown.

the state of her health mentally at the time of the drawing up of the various wills. Witness was interrupted time after time by Mr. Hanson in his severe cross-examination, counsel objecting to what he said was "interpretation of the evidence." Particular with respect to Mr. Winslow's testimony of Mrs. Lee's reactions during the time of the drawing up of the wills was Mr. Hanson critical. "This class of testimony," he said, "was all subject to objection."

During the hearing this morning Mrs. Lee's will was admitted as evidence. Witness told of the three wills which had been drawn up: One in July, 1925; one in October, 1925, and the other in May, 1928. During the evidence Mr. Winslow admitted of Mrs. Lee's mental incapacity at various times. In response to questioning he said he knew, too, of the late Mrs. Lee being treated for mental trouble at various times.

THE PHAROAH CURSE AGAIN RECALLED

New York, Jan. 2.—The death in London today of Arthur E. P. B. Weigall, famous Egyptologist who was present at the opening of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb, recalled the curse said to hang over those who interfere with the graves of the Pharaohs.

Friends said there was something mysterious about his illness and one newspaper reported Mr. Weigall did not scoff at the King Tut superstition.

In connection with several previous deaths there was talk of the curse—The Earl of Carnarvon, head of the archaeological expedition which discovered the tomb, died in April, 1923, shortly after the exploit.

Woolf Joel, son of a British race horse owner, died in London in November, 1923, a few months after he visited the Valley of Kings. He was en route to the Egyptian tombs at the time of his death.

Last September friends of J. F. Cellerier, a noted French research scientist, wondered if he were another "victim" when he lost the use of his left eye as a result of ultraviolet ray tests on a small statue from an ancient funeral chamber.
