TOM MIX FAVORS CLEANER MOVIES

Defiance, O., July 19—Full support of the churches' campaign for the clean-up of the motion picture industry, even to the extent of government control, was given by Tom Mix, western pictures star, when interviewed here where he was appearing with a circus.

"Too many producers," Mix said, "believe you must have a Mae West in every picture to give it 'box office' appeal. In my opinion, the United States government should take over the industry, clean up our films and make them the highest medium for good that we have."

An "intellectual" is one who is certain to have several queer opinions.

PROFESSORS CHECK YACHTS

Newport, R. I., July 19—Science has entered the competition to gain the right to be defender of the America's cup against T. O. M. Sopwith's Endeavour. The Bostonians behind the Kankee brought Richard Fay, professor of communications in the department of electrical engineering from Mass. Tech here to check up on their craft and Harold Vanderbilt, owner of the Rainbow, retaliated with Prof. Zenas R. Bliss of the department of physics of Brown University. The actual experience of both professors is limited to small yacht sailing.

German argument, as we get it, is that if the rest of Europe is broke it is broke.

STRONG EFFORTS BEING PUT FORWARD TO END THE GREAT STRIKE AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, July 18 — Public statements which in effect called upon organized labor to discontinue the general strike in San Francisco were issued late today by Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator and government spokesman in the dispute, and by Mayor Angelo J. Rossi.

The statements came amid a cycle of rapidly developing events in which powerful influences began to work toward united action for ending the extended strike of Pacific Coast maritime workers and the mass walkout of 100,000 workers here in support of the maritime workers and the mass unions.

In the course of these fast moving developments Harry Bridges, militant leftist leader of striking longshoremen, remarked to newspaper men "the general strike is over, but the longshoremen are not beaten."

Later Bridges repudiated his comment.

Sour newspapermen, including an Associated Press reporter, said they had understood Bridges to say "the general strike is over." He was quoted further as saying "the reason the general strike is 'buster' is first, the street car men going back to work; second, the lifting of the ban on food and gasoline, and third mismanagement of the general strike."

Caused General Strike

It was the walkout of 12,000 Pacific Coast longshoremen, whom Bridges represents, that precipitated the general strike in San Francisco area, beginning last Monday.

Bridges' comments were made in an interview.

Edward D. Vandeleur, chairman of the general strike committee, hearing of the Bridges incident, sent word from a conference of delegates that in his opinion "the strike is not over."

These developments followed a formal call of the federal longshoremen's strike board for immediate cancellation of all walkouts and submission of all central issues—those in the longshoremen's and maritime workers' strikes—to collective bargaining and arbitration.

The federal board's move followed last night's action of the San Francisco general strike committee virtually instructing the longshoremen and the maritime workers to submit to arbitration.

Begins to Operate

One after another, the strike throttled thoroughfares of commerce began opening in San Francisco this morning—the beginning of the third day of the mass walkout.

Much of this activity was permitted by relaxation of labor's general strike decrees.

Fresh food began rolling into San Francisco and the strike-bound East Bay communities by the hundreds of truckloads. The strike committee allowed the opening of all union restaurants in San Francisco, the opening of meat markets, the distribution of fresh food and the release of blockaded gasoline and oil supplies.

New violence, however, flared in Seattle and in Portland. Communist activities bobbed up, following similar action here.

In Seattle

In the Washington city, 1,200 strikers and sympathizers charged twice at piers where 450 non-union men were working cargoes, but were repulsed by guards and police hurling tear gas and nauseating fumes.

Seattle demonstrators said they were angered by "the sell-out in San Francisco" (presumably meaning last night's general strike committee resolution calling for settlement by arbitration) and by the employment of non-union men on the piers of the northern city.

The Spokane central labor council announced a boycott on California business until troops are removed from the San Francisco area.

Plans for a general strike were withheld in Portland while labor leaders discussed the situation with Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, who flew there in a move to avert further spread of the coast labor trouble.

Police there raided a reputed Communist centre, confiscated a pile of printed matter, arrested three men and questioned about 50 others. Dirk deJong, one-time Communist candidate for mayor of Portland, was held.

DIVORCE WAS GRANTED IN SHORT ORDER

The Hearing in McAdoo Case Lasted Only Five Minutes — An Enquiry Being Made.

Los Angeles, California, July 18—The divorce of Senator William Gibbs McAdoo and Mrs. Eleanor Wilson McAdoo, daughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, faced an inquiry today by presiding Judge Frank C. Collier of the superior court.

Mrs. McAdoo was granted the divorce by Superior Judge Allan B. Campbell in a hearing lasting about five minutes yesterday—within twenty minutes after she filed suit.

"It would be possible for a complaint to be filed and go through the regular processes in the time which this action took", Judge Collier said, "but I want to know that all the processes were duly followed in the case".

The Washington weather and differences of interest were blamed by Mrs. McAdoo for the divorce, obtained on grounds of incompatibility.

Senator McAdoo is 70 years of age; Mrs. McAdoo 43. Mr. McAdoo's first wife, Sarah Fleming McAdoo, died in 1913.

Miss Wilson, youngest daughter of the president, and Mr. McAdoo, then secretary of the treasury in her father's cabinet, were married at the white House in 1914.

In the Senior Bud Lynch won quite handsily but in the junior event Neil McMinnum came from behind in the last lap to win over a strong field.

BEER AND WINE SALE IN ONTARIO IS RESTRICTED

Toronto, July 18—All details connected with the operation of the new Ontario liquor law are complete and only legal and practical technicalities remain to delay the opening of the sale of wine and beer in hotels, clubs, trains and boats. The regulations of the Liquor Commission to provide for open sale were approved by the Ontario government today and sale will begin early next week with a slight possibility of a few hotels being ready for business Saturday.

The new law passed under the former Conservative government was launched on its path today by Premier Mitchell Hepburn and Liquor Commissioner E. G. Odette as a "temperance measure" which it is hoped will eliminate the bootlegger by providing him with stiff competition.

SWORN IN TODAY

Regina, July 19—The new Liberal cabinet of Saskatchewan headed by Premier Gardner will be sworn into office at Government House today.
