STRONG ARM METHODS

The Toronto Mail and Empire in commenting on the action of the Hepburn government of Ontario in dismissing members of the Toronto Police Commission has this to say.

"It is surely unprecedented that the Attorney-General of a province should change the personnel of the police commission of such a city as Toronto with the avowed purposes of controlling the police force in the interests of the provincial government. No one would suggest that the Liberal appointees to the board are as capable or as fit for office as Judge Parker and Mr. J. R. L. Starr. We have nothing to say against Mr. Lee and Mr. Denton, personally, but in Mr. Robertson's own language they are appointed because they are Liberals and may be expected to do the Liberal Attorney-General's work, especially as regards to reception of the hunger marchers who are shortly to converge upon this capital. This is the Hitler method. When the dictator of Germany is intent upon accomplishing his purpose he ruthlessly changes municipal officials, so that he may have men subservient to his own ends. The Attorney-General once more uses violent language almost as if he hoped to stir up the visitors to make trouble on their arrival here. He champions a parade which has been organized by Communists and other extremists as against the Toronto "Cossacks." It has to be added that the methods pursued by the Hepburn administration are as crude as they are rude. Take, for instance, the treatment that has been meted out to Judge Coatsworth. His Honor may have been long on the Bench, but he is an aged and highly respected citizen, and should have been treated with respect by the authorities in Queen's Park. Instead of that he was notified by telephone of his dismissal from the Bench and the cases which he tried at the morning court had to be retried."

EXIT, DILLINGER

John Dillinger, notorious bad man of the Middle West, has paid the penalty of his numerous crimes and the greatest manhunt of modern times is at an end. He was caught yesterday by sleuths of the United States Department of Justice in the act of leaving a Chicago theatre and was shot down in cold blood. He never had a chance to pull a gun and it is doubtful if he even knew what hit him. The Department of Justice agents had orders to take him dead or alive and decided to give him a dose of his own medicine. Dillinger's record was a black one, but no doubt since his daring escape from the jail at Crown Point, Indiana, he had been accused of many crimes that he did not commit, as is usually the case with most desperadoes. Now that he has been put out of the way the people of the Middle West, the scene of the man-hunt will breathe easier.

Premier Angus MacDonald of Nova Scotia undertook to deliver an address of welcome to Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain on his arrival at Digby on Friday in the Gaelic language, only to discover that the distinguished visitor did not understand a word, he said. Premier Tilley of New Brunswick made a better job of it under similar circumstances at Shediac last summer, when he read an address in the Italian tongue to General Balboa and his associates of the air fleet. Beyond a doubt they understood what he said.

Fredericton was honored on Saturday afternoon by a visit from seven gentlemen reputed to be in the millionaire class. They arrived at 2:45 o'clock and remained exactly one hour.

An overdraft usually makes the banker hot.

Dr. F. E. Meredith, a director of the Canadian Pacific Steamships, who accompanied the C. P. R. President to the city on Saturday, is a member of a family which has given Canada two Chief Justices and a bank president. Dr. Meredith is a lawyer by profession and was once the professional partner of the late Hon. J. J. C. Abbott, who succeeded Sir John A. MacDonald as Prime Minister of Canada.

The Canadian Bisley team certainly covered itself with glory at the National Rifle Association matches last week. The major prizes won included the Kolapore Cup, the McKinnon Cup and the Prince of Wales prize. The three New Brunswickers on the team, Lieut. H. W. Steves of Moncton, Lieut. Neal Dow and Lieut. R. D. McLeod of Saint John contributed their share to the team's success.

The movies, having acquired maturity, are confronted with the necessity of acquiring respectability. They have ceased to offend the intelligence but think it desirable to offend the decencies and moralities.

Jack Dempsey is reported to have been given a "baby shower," but if he will communicate with the Dionne family he will learn he ain't seen nothin' yet.

Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, has issued orders that idlers are to be barred from public buildings. But aren't a lot of them protected by civil service rules?

It may be appropriately observed that the first requisite of ability to control other people's affairs is capacity for self-control.

Every man wants to be his own paymaster when it comes to paying compliments.

You haven't much left to bank on when your last dollar has been drawn and quartered.

Even a day dream may turn into a night-mare.

The girl who longs for shorts usually gets them before very long.

These may be summer bargain days, but thermometers aren't down.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

A race of supermen is to control the world some time in the future, but those who control it now think that time has already arrived.

Sometimes, the most glamorous part of love, marriage or a trip abroad is the thrill of looking forward to it—or the pleasure of remembering it.

At first, one tries to direct the cranks. Then after he learns better, to elude them.

Culture is what enables you to glance into ten books and throw nine of them aside.

Impossible things can, of course, be done if you can only find the man who can do them.

Courtesy, it is said, costs nothing. It may cost constant control of one's temper if that's "nothing."

Great executive: one who hires good men to do the work and then keeps out of the way.

The old aristocrats are queer. They are polite when they aren't trying to sell you anything.

Blessed are the obscure. They needn't ask the public to suspend judgment until the trial.

In 100 years, says a professor, all girls will be pretty enough for magazine covers. The average is not so bad now.

Remodeling an old farmhouse into a country seat can usually be done by knocking the parlor, "sitting room" and "parlor" bedroom into one room and making a drawing room thereby.
