

A General Walkout Seems Imminent In San Francisco

Authorities and Householders of the Coast City Prepare For Harrowing Conditions Paralleling Those in a Beseiged City—Food Supply Reported To Be Running Short.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14—A general strike seemingly inevitable, panic swept San Francisco today. Authorities and householders prepared for harrowing conditions paralleling those in a city beseiged in war time.

The city's food supply already was endangered. No fresh vegetables will be available after night-fall. The supply of fresh and smoked meat may last through Monday.

Labor threats were directed against garbage collectors and public health will be menaced if they quit. Other threats were directed at electric power, gas and telephone maintenance men in an apparent effort to cripple utilities.

Two thousand National Guardsmen, who had maintained military law on the waterfront since the riots there last week that took two lives, tightened patrols and stacked ammunition. New violence flared there last night when a sailor was shot.

Vandalism and pillage broke out in widely separated sections.

SEVENTY-SEVEN WERE KILLED IN NAZI REVOLT

Berlin, July 13—Not the least interesting portion of Chancellor Hitler's speech to the Reichstag tonight was that in which he stated that the number of dead in the revolt was 77.

No number had been officially given previously, but semi-official statements had put it as much lower. Nineteen were high Storm Troop leaders, 31 lesser members of that organization, and the others scattered among civilians, and Schutz Staffel (special guard) members. Three of the latter were shot, he said, for mistreating persons taken into protective custody.

Thirteen of those killed were "resisting arrest," and three committed suicide, the chancellor asserted, indicating that 61 executions took place.

DIRECT RELIEF TO BE CONTINUED ANOTHER MONTH

It Is Announced That the Federal Government Will Pay 25 Per Cent of the Cost.

Ottawa, July 13—Dominion government assistance to the provinces in the cost of direct relief will be continued for another month to the extent of 25 per cent of the total, and a Dominion-provincial conference has been called for July 30 to consider ways and means of dealing with this problem in the future.

Announcement of this move was made today by Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley, acting prime minister, following a meeting of cabinet council. Telegraphic advices were sent to all provincial premiers inviting them or their representatives to attend the conference.

Some months ago the provinces were advised that federal contributions to direct relief costs would end on June 15. This limit, was later extended to July 15. The extension announced today means a slight decrease in the share to be borne by the Dominion treasury which now pays one-third of the total.

The following telegram was despatched to all provincial premiers:

"The government has been giving most careful consideration to the question of direct relief and is of opinion that it should not continue indefinitely. In any case the necessity for it is greatly lessened on account of the improved conditions and therefore it imposes a lighter local burden."

"The Dominion government has decided to contribute 25 per cent of the cost of direct relief for the month ending August 15 only. As this question of relief is a most important one we ask that you and the other provincial premiers attend a meeting here on Monday, July 30, for the purpose of carefully considering and dealing with this serious matter. If you cannot come yourself will you please send a representative."

OLDEST STREET IN UNITED STATES IS IN BAY STATE

Plymouth, Mass., July 14—Perhaps the oldest street in America is Leyden street in this ancient town where the Pilgrims landed.

Laid out in 1621, it runs from Town Square to the reservation that surrounds Plymouth Rock.

It was first called merely "The Street," for there was no other with which to confuse it. Later it was renamed First street, then Great street, then Broad street. Since 1823 it has been known as Leyden street.

During their first year in the new land, 50 pilgrims from the Mayflower lived in seven crude houses along the street.

ELECTRIC SIGNS

Permission to erect electric signs was given to Mavor Brothers, and J. Clark & Sons, at the special meeting last evening of the city council, at which Mayor Clark presided. The work will be done under the supervision and direction of the city engineer. The city hospital account for the first four months of 1934 was submitted last night and the sum of $824.50 was voted to be paid.

WESTERN CROP OUTLOOK WAS FAIRLY GOOD

Percentage of Wheat Crop Now Heading Out

LITTLE CHANGE DURING WEEK

Some Light Frosts Reported, But Did No Damage

Winnipeg, Man., July 14—A substantial percentage of the prairie wheat crop is now headed or heading out, the weekly report of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Agricultural department says today.

Generally speaking, there has been little change in outlook during the past week, with the exception that in Southern Manitoba and southern and western Saskatchewan some deterioration is noted due to insufficient rainfall combined with a few days hot weather. Rain is needed in these sections.

Best prospects at present are in all parts of Alberta, in East Central, Central, north-western and northern Saskatchewan, and in the eastern and northern portions of Manitoba. In the irrigated blocks in Alberta warm weather is stimulating growth and prospects were never better at this time of the year. Sugar beet yield will probably be considerably heavier in south Alberta than last year.

Peace River has continued to get cool weather with scattered showers and warmer weather would be helpful. What is in good condition, however, headed out or heading. Light frosts at a few points have done no damage apart from gardens.

FLORAL DISPLAY

The Fredericton Horticultural Society, in its campaign for new members, is sponsoring a display of flowers in the window of the store recently occupied by the Fred B. Edgecombe Company. The many beautiful specimens on display are conveniently labelled. One of the outstanding exhibits is a species of rose, the "Daily Mail". This flower doubtless was named after the flower of newspapers. The whole display is very creditable and is attracting much attention from lovers of horticulture.

Ocean divers must do some deep thinking.

Saint John Scots Leave Montreal On Good Will Tour

Will Carry To Scotland a Gesture of Friendship From the Maritime Provinces — Miss Myrtle Daley Heads Group, Which Consists of About Twenty People.

MONTREAL, July 14—A delegation of Scots people sailed last night on the Anchor-Donaldson liner Letitia for Glasgow and other Scottish points. They came mainly from Saint John, N. B., and are going home both as a gesture of good-will between the Maritimes and Scotland, and also to gratify the normal desire of expatriated Scots to see the Caledonian shores as often as possible. The party is headed by Miss Myrtle Daley, of Saint John, and there are about twenty in the group.

The home-bound Scots were piped aboard by the Letitia's talented coterie of pipers, reputed, even among Scots, as exceptional artists. A good supply of haggis and other Scots delicacies are in the larders, and the trip is to take on a distinctly North-of-the-Tweed character.

The Saint John Friendship Tour is the first party of its kind ever to be organized in Saint John by a local person. The tour will take in Ireland, Scotland, England and France.

Among those on board are Miss Helen Rogerson, Mrs. Charles A. Rankin, Miss Jessie Milligan, Mrs. J. Mackenzie, Miss A. Kathleen Craft, Mrs. G. B. Williams and Miss O. J. Maxwell.

A COMMISSION WILL PROBE ABITIBI DEAL

Toronto, July 13—Independently of the federal Royal Commission already named, a commission appointed by the Ontario government today began an investigation into circumstances surrounding the acquisition of the Abitibi power properties in Northern Ontario by the Ontario government a year and a half ago. The commission is composed of Chief Justice F. R. Latchford of the second division court of the appellate division of the supreme court of Ontario, and Hon. Robert Smith, retired judge of the supreme court of Canada.

Possibly a new speed record for getting an inquiry under way was set by the Ontario government today. The two judges were called to the offices of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission this morning, received their instructions and held their first session at noon.
