

COD LIVER OIL, HOT LEMONADE CURE GORILLA

New York, Jan. 15—The gorilla population of the United States remains unchanged. For a while it looked as though it might be reduced, when Janet Penserosa, prize exhibit of the Bronx Zoo, came down with a cold.

Janet approaching her seventh birthday began ailing last week. Her long fingers pressed to an apparently aching ear, she emitted from time to time loud and unseemly noises classified by her keeper as sneezes.

When a 106 1-2 pound gorilla sneezes it is not the subdued and lady like "choo" smothered in a handkerchief by the average human.

Keepers prescribed hot lemonade and an increased allotment of cod liver oil. Recovery was almost immediate and by way of showing her appreciation, Janet went through a fine performance on the flying trapeze.

Janet arrived from Africa in October, 1928, weighing 17 1-2 pounds thin and sickly. Dr. Charles V. Noback, zoo physician, decided to violate all traditions, and instead of keeping the gorilla in a sub-tropical atmosphere to let her live out doors in all kinds of weather. Cod liver oil and foods that agree with young humans were prescribed.

Janet thrived. For the five years of her sojourn at the zoo she has had across to an outdoor cage in which is located the trapeze.

Some of the best bridge players could improve their table manners.

FEEDS BABY CHAMPAGNE FOR GOOD HEALTH

Miami Beach, Florida, Jan. 15—Champagne as a part of baby's diet is recommended by Princess de Polignac of Paris.

The princess, who is vacationing here, said her 2-year-old daughter, Diana, was baptized in the beverage and it has been a standard item on her diet for many months.

The princess said the two or three teaspoonfuls Diana gets at meal times were largely responsible for the child's perfect health.

Princess de Polignac is here with her husband and her brother Jacques Deputy, French newspaper publisher, who is in the United States studying American publishing methods.

RHINOCEROS ARE CHEAPER

St. Louis, Jan. 16—Like potatoes and tomatoes, rhinoceroses are cheaper.

Frank Buck, who brings 'em back alive, has offered to sell the St. Louis Zoo "Rhino" for $9,000 which Director George Vierheller of the zoo calls "a rock-bottom depression price." On two occasions about ten years ago, Vierheller says he offered $20,000 for similar animals.

The "Ride from Ghent to Aix" is nothing any more. You go by motor.

NO COMMENT AT OTTAWA ON RELIEF SCHEME

Ottawa, Jan. 13—Until full details of the relief scheme of Premier Taschereau of Quebec were available and examined into minutely, Dominion Government members were reluctant today to express any opinion on the scheme.

The Government though, is prepared for a discussion of the suggestion for the establishment of corporations in each province to issue 30 or 40 year debentures backed by the Dominion and the Province, in the handling of the relief. The proposals will be reviewed at the conference with the province opening at Ottawa on Friday next when submitted by Premier Taschereau. Representatives of all provinces will be afforded the opportunity of giving their views on the scheme.

Large Sum Paid Out

A large sum of money has been paid out by the Dominion to assist the provinces in taking care of the unemployment situation without in any way interfering with the autonomy of these provinces, the Dominion had had little chance to administer the relief money expended.

All administrations of relief practically, including the sums of money paid over from time to time during the past three and one-half years by the Dominion to Provincial Governments, have been administered by the provinces.

SNOWSHOE CARS IN MOTOR SHOW

New York, Jan. 16—Fish-tail cars... tear drop cars... snowshoe cars... cars that bend their knees cars that shoot ahead as "smoothly as a grape being squeezed out of its skin."

All these and more are being arrayed in all their glory today for the 34th annual National Automobile Show in session in Grand Central Palace.

Designers have studied icebergs, snow shoes and tears. The salesmen, exhausting the dictionary, have coined new language to describe the creations: Aero-stream, for instance.

The accent this year is on streamlining. Engineers found that icebergs moving through water are round in front, pointed behind...like a snowshoe or a fish.

Some cars are built with these lines in mind. Another school of body design favors more familiar lines, but with smart new styling. Everything looks faster, smoother.

Lamps, hinges, door handles are streamlined. Spare tires are tucked away where the breezes won't hit them.

Cushions are deeper, softer, engines more powerful. Some pleasure cars have superchargers, hitherto characteristic only of racing machines. The long-legged person has more room for his knees. Prices range from under $500 to more than $7,000.

Along with the 250 cars and chassis on view will be a million dollars worth of parts, equipment, accessories.

The show, put on by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, represents an industry which in 1933 produced goods with a wholesale value of $1,655,928,000.

Added to our other knotty problems is this one noted about a year ago by Robert Quillen: "You see, by saving all you earn you will have money to share with the fellow thrown out of work by your saving."

WOMAN BULL FIGHTER DEMANDS EQUAL RIGHTS

Madrid, Jan. 16—Equal rights for women bull fighters was demanded today by pretty Juanita Cruz, 18.

Senorita Cruz, already a veteran of 16 fights, filed a petition with the Ministry of Interior asking the government to declare unconstitutional Article 124 of the bull fighting law, which prohibits women from fighting bulls.

She based her argument on the fact that the constitution of the Spanish republic permits women equal rights with men, and declared that the bull fighting law is obsolete, having been adopted under the monarchy.
