A CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM

Seldom in recent years has the legislature listened to an abler or more constructive address than that with which Premier Tilley closed the budget debate yesterday afternoon. He briefly reviewed the government's record of achievement, dealt frankly with the public debt, gave a list of the expenditures that had brought about the increase, and announced that the sinking fund appropriation would be reduced from one and a half to one half of one per cent. The Premier bluntly stated that the province had about reached the limit on capital expenditures, other than those called for by absolute necessity, a sentiment that was heartily applauded by both sides of the House.

A strong note of optimism ran through the Premier's one hour speech. He predicted an increased revenue from stumpage and held out strong hopes of further aid from Ottawa when the report of the Duncan Commission is implemented. He also expressed the opinion that the government would be able to present a balanced budget in the year 1935, a consummation devoutly to be wished.

In outlining the government's program for the coming year the Premier stated that with the assistance of the Federal Government he hoped to see an agricultural college, for the province established at the Fredericton Experimental Station. Another announcement of great interest to this city was that the government purposes to establish cold storage plants for the preservation of fruit and vegetable products, and will give assistance to the Agricultural Fair to be held in Fredericton in co-operation with the Marketing Board, to be formed under an act passed this session.

The Premier also announced that in future the government will hold annual conferences with representatives of the Municipalities and that there would be semi-annual conferences with the representatives of labor. This will be a decided forward step and will undoubtedly meet with cordial public approval.

It was announced by the Premier that the Government's program for hard-surfaced roads will be carried out during the ensuing year. He said that these roads would do away with the dust nuisance and that the cost would not be nearly so great as had been suggested by members of the Opposition.

The Premier in referring to the extraordinary conditions that had prevailed when he took office, said that the people had demanded governmental action, and that he had done his best to meet their views. So far as he could judge public opinion, the feeling was that the government had done remarkably well under the circumstances.

The able speech of the Premier in closing the debate will inspire confidence and hope throughout the province, and will add strength to the belief that the worst of the depression is past, and that New Brunswick is now on the eve of better days.

THE DENTAL BILL

The short shrift given to a bill to amend the New Brunswick Dental Act in the Legislature last evening indicates that a majority of the members are pretty well fed up on that sort of proposed legislation and want no more of it. Year after year the time of the House is taken up with applications to admit somebody to the Dental Society, whom the members of that organization do not want because they lack the proper qualifications. In former sessions there was more or less sympathy for those who have a hunch that they can practise dentistry, but it seems to be petering out. As Hon. Mr. Reilly pointed out yesterday, members of other professions are not continually coming to the Legislature asking to be qualified by legislation, and he saw no reason why dentists should do so. Four of the medical men in the House, including the Minister of Health, took a strong stand against the dental bill, and their words no doubt carried great weight with the lay members. The majority vote on the bill was made up of members from both sides of the House, and it is to be hoped they settled the question for good. From now on near-dentists who wish to strike out for themselves must qualify in the regular way and not by means of an act of the Legislature.

Twenty seven years ago according to newspaper files the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature spent much of the time investigating bills for telegrams, horse hire and telephones. Times have changed since then. Today such accounts are seldom called for by the committee. The province now has an audit act, which it did not possess twenty seven years ago.

ELIMINATION BOUTS HELD BY COLLEGE BOYS

Instructor Laskey Trots Out Some Classy Talent at College Gym; Jardine Outstanding; Boyne and Harrington Pleased Fans.

Frederic Jardine, Stanislas Guimond and Kenneth Corbett comprise the team which will represent the University of New Brunswick at the Inter-collegiate boxing tournament, to be held at Dalhousie University on March 24. The men were selected following a series of elimination bouts held in the College gymnasium last evening, and will be entered at Halifax in the featherweight, welterweight and middleweight classes, respectively.

Corbett proved to be the "Dark Horse" of the evening and showed up surprisingly well in two separate bouts, in one of which won a decision and in the other, a draw. Jardine scored the only knock-out, and kayoed Bury with a wild swing to the jaw in the opening round of the match.

An interesting finale to the programme was an exhibition bout between Jimmy Boyne, of Fredericton, maritime welterweight champion, and Kid Harrington of Edmundston, following an intermission after the elimination fights. Boyne won the decision with two rounds out of three.

All of the bouts were scheduled to go three rounds. The entries and results are as follows:

VETERAN M.P. HONORED IN PARLIAMENT

parture from the rules of procedure. He thanked the House from the bottom of his heart and was glad to believe that he had, numerically, almost as many close friends amongst the Opposition as on the Government side. While a strong party man, he always realized the right of those who differed from him to their own opinions. He thanked the House again for its kindness.

STOCK MARKET WAS UNSETTLED THIS MORNING

A Sag in a Number of Issues Reported—Motor Industry Threatened by Strikes—Montreal Exchange Was Weak.

New York, March 16—The stock market was irregular this morning with a somewhat bearish tone. Motor stocks were off because of strike tendencies. Traders are inclined to wait until the atmosphere clears before placing buying orders. Gold in London was quoted at 34.74 and Silver was steady.
