

WOMAN'S HEALTH NEEDS CONSTANT CARE

Work and Worry Leaves Her a Victim of Many Distressing Ailments.

Every woman's health is peculiarly dependent upon the condition of her blood. How many women suffer with headache, pain in the back, poor appetite, weak digestion, a constant feeling of weariness, palpitation of the heart, shortness of breath, pallor and nervousness. If you have any of these symptoms you should begin today to build up your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Under their use the nervous energy of the body is restored as the blood becomes red and pure and the entire system is strengthening to meet every demand upon it. They nourish every part of the body, giving brightness to the eye and color to the cheeks and lips.

Mrs. James S. Francis, Oakwood, Ont., says: "I should have written long ago to tell what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for me, but I suppose it is better late than never. In June 1913, I had to go to an hospital for an operation for female weakness. I was in the hospital for a month before I was able to get home. Three weeks after this I started for a trip to the Pacific Coast, in the hope that my health would further improve. On the way I stopped to visit a sister in Southern Alberta, and on arriving at her home (after a thirty-five mile drive) I was completely done out. I found my sister ill, her baby having been born the week before. As there was no one to help, I had to take care of the child and do the household work, and in the three weeks that passed before my sister again took charge I was completely worn out and again nearly ill. However, I started on my westward trip and decided to stop off at Banff, where I remained a week, but it did not seem to help me, and I resumed my journey. On the train I took sick, and could not eat, and as I was all alone, my condition was pitiable. Finally, the porter wired ahead to North Bend for a doctor to see me. The doctor wanted me to leave the train and go to a hospital, but I determined to continue my journey to Vancouver. The medicine the doctor gave me did not help me, and I was getting worse all the time. And then a young man who had the opposite berth asked me if I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and gave me a box he had. I used these and the porter got me two more boxes and by the time I reached my journey's end I was feeling much better. I stayed two months on the coast and continued taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills all that time. I had gained in weight and appearance and when I started for home I felt better than I had done for years. Now I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house, and both my husband and my young daughter have been benefited by their use. I bless the day that young man on the train gave me his box of pills, otherwise I might never have tried them and would have still been an invalid."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GERMAN LOSSES AT VERDUN ESTIMATED AT 150,000

Paris, Feb. 25.—The German losses during the first four days of the battle around Verdun are authoritatively estimated at 150,000.

The German offensive is recognized now as probably only the beginning of a determined effort to take the fortress, formerly the key to the French front, and compares in violence and losses to the battle of the Yser. The French assume the battle may continue for a fortnight. The German forces are known to be at least 300,000, supported by numerous 15-inch and 17-inch Austrian mortars, with all the heavy artillery used in the Serbian campaign and part of that formerly employed on the Russian front.

Preparations for the battle were observed early in December, when the first troops assigned to the operation were brought up. Eight divisions which returned from Serbia were sent to Belgium for a rest, and then transported to the region of Verdun in January. Five army corps in all were brought up to reinforce two corps previously holding that part of the line.

These were the best troops of the German army, including, as it is learned from prisoners, the famous Third Corps of Brandenburg, supposed to be equal in valor to the Prussian Guards or the Fifteenth Army Corps, and commanded by General Von Deimling, one of the most brilliant of the German generals.

The resoluteness of the Germans to capture the fortress is explained by the fascination that the name Verdun has had on the minds of the German people since 1792 and the consequent moral value of its fall to the Germans. This psychological reason explains the presence of Emperor William behind the troops.

The French compare the ground gained by the Germans in the four days with twice that amount taken by the French in the first two days of their offensive in Champagne, together with eight times the number of prisoners. The confidence of the French is unshaken by the fierce attacks and the slight bending of the French line.

On Feb. 22, during the present battle, an entire German brigade, advancing in close order, was caught by the concentrated fire of the French batteries and annihilated in a few minutes.

Berlin, Feb. 24, via London.—The Cologne Volks Zeitung reports that heavy cannonading has been audible in the Elftel region (a low mountain range in Rhenish Prussia, on the left bank of the Rhine) since Monday. The sound increased on Tuesday and could be heard even with windows closed. The cannonading is comparable with that of last September.

WHAT HE HAD GOT.

Bacon—Has your wife a cook book?

Egbert—Oh, yet.

Bacon—Did you ever get anything out of it.

Egbert—Sure! Indigestion.

DIDN'T BELIEVE IT.

Caller—Marjorie, if you drink so much tea you will be an old maid.

Marjorie—I don't believe that at all. Mamma drinks lots of tea and she's been married twice and isn't an old maid yet.

REASON ENOUGH!

TOO MUCH FIRE.

'Twas a poetess of passion,

In prosaic days like these

Just a trifle out of fashion,

Took to writing recipes.

But in spite of all her wishes

She could not forget her cult,

And a lot of burnt-up dishes

Was the ultimate result.

Life Unbearable from Indigestion
Health Restored by "Fruit-a-tives"

MELLE C. GAUDREAU

Rochon P.Q., Jan. 14th, 1915.

"I suffered for many years with terrible indigestion and constipation. I became thin and miserable. I had frequent dizzy spells and became so run down that I never thought I would get well again.

A neighbor advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. I did so and to the surprise of my doctor, I began to improve and he advised me to go on with 'Fruit-a-tives'. I continued this medicine and all my indigestion and constipation was relieved. I consider that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives' and I want to say to those who suffer from indigestion, constipation or headaches, try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Give this lovely fruit medicine a fair chance and you will get well the same as I did."

THE GIRL BEHIND THE MAN
BEHIND THE GUN.

You have seen the line of khaki swinging grandly down the street, You have heard the band blare out Britanic songs, ou have read a ton of papers, and you've thrown them at your feet; And your brain's a battle field for fighting throngs.

ou have cheered for Tommy Atkins and you've yelled for Jack Canuck;

You have praised the French and Belgians, every one.

ut I'm rhyming here a measure to the valor and the pluck

Of the girl behind the man behind the gun.

There's a harder game than fighting; there's a deeper wound by far,

Then the bayonet or the bullet ever tore.

And a patient little woman wears upon her heart a scar,

Which the lonesome years will keep for evermore.

There are bands and bugles crying, and the horses madly ride;

And in passion are the trenches lost and won.

But SHE battles in the silence, with no comrade at her side,

Does the girl behind the man behind the gun.

They are singing songs in Flanders, and there's laughter on the wind;

They are shouting for their country and their King,

But the hallways yearn for music in the homes they left behind;

For the mother of a soldier does not sing.

In the silence of the night-time, mid a ring of hidden foes,

And without a bugle cry to cheer her on,

She is fighting fiercer battles than a soldier ever knows,

And her triumph is an open grave, at dawn.

You have cheered the line of khaki swinging grandly down the street,

But you quite forgot to cheer another line,

They are plodding sadly homeward, with no music for their feet,

To a far more lonely river than the Rhine.

Ah! the battle field is wider wider than the cannon's sullen roar,

And the women weep o'er battles lost or won;

For the man a cross of honor; but the crepe upon the door

For the girl behind the man behind the gun.

When the heroes are returning and the world with flags is red;

When they show the tattered trophies of the war;

When your cheers are for the living and your tears are for the dead,

Which the foeman in the battle trampled o'er;

When you fling your reddest roses at the horseman in array,

With their helmets flaming proudly in the sun,

I would bid you wear the favor of an apple blossom spray,

For the girl behind the man behind the gun.

PERSONAL AUTOMOBILE TALKS

PREFACE:

I am often asked such questions as:

"Why do you only sell the Ford Automobile, when you can make three to five times as much money on many of the heavier cars?"

"Why is the Ford Car cheaper to operate than others?"

"What is Ford service policy?"

As I cannot make all of the personal calls which I would like, I propose to discuss these and other similar questions in a series of talks in this paper.

Watch for next week's question and answer.

Correspondence solicited.
