AN ADMIRER OF CANADA

George Matthew Adams, New York feature writer, who is now sojourning at his summer camp on Grand Lake, Halifax County, Nova Scotia, having arrived recently by auto via Yarmouth says:

"There is something romantic and invigorating about the freshness and coolness of Canadian climate in the summer time. I shall never forget my trips through the Canadian Rockies and my visits to Vancouver, Calgary, Lake Louise and Banff. And such grand cities are Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, just to name a few. The latter is steeped in lore and historic interest. And if one wishes scenery and quaintness, as well as magnificence in nature, that trip around the Gaspé from Quebec will furnish thrills aplenty. And Cape Breton Island is a miniature "Garden of Eden!"

"I believe that when we take a vacation, or tour, that we should do so in our own country and in the country of our friends—and we have no better friends in the world than those just across the border in Canada. I know that I am not alone in this belief."

In a statement issued just before leaving New York, after referring to his travels throughout the United States he went on to say:

"But for those who have never visited our next door neighbor, I would like to suggest that they do it this year. Here are people right next to us who are of our own blood and understanding. No more hospitable people live upon the face of the earth. Not a gun or a fort between us, though no other nations of the world have such an extent of boundary line between them. Citizens of the United States and Canada will never fight each other, no matter how much they may disagree at times."

No doubt Mr. Adams correctly voices the sentiments of thousands of the best type of Americans.

GREATER PROTECTION NEEDED

An article reproduced from the Halifax Herald dealing with the salmon fisheries of that province will be found on another page of this issue. According to the Herald virtual extinction of this valuable asset and star attraction for tourists is feared, unless more is done in the way of conservation. Control of the fisheries by a non-political body, representative of commercial fishermen, sportsmen and others is advocated in conserving a natural resource capable of producing through the tourist business many millions of dollars and the proposal is well worthy of careful consideration. What is true of Nova Scotia is also applicable to New Brunswick. With the exception of the Restigouche salmon fishing on the rivers of the provinces this season has not been up to the usual standard. Because of this the province is losing revenue and the merchants, hotel and camp proprietors and garage men are losing business.

London Free Press:—There are two arguments that Canada is making greater progress today recovery and is in a sounder position than perhaps any country except Great Britain. By every index by which business can be measured Canada shows steady advancement. There is no question that Canada is in a much stronger situation than the United States with all their alphabetical experiments. It was a fortunate thing for Canada that there was a man like Right Hon. R. B. Bennett at the helm of state who was not stampeded into following the Roosevelt schemes.

Lloyd George is to have a movie made of her life, which is feasible now that the talkies have come. In a silent picture he would have been a washout.

A COUNTER ATTRACTION

An opposition political meeting and a moving picture show depicting the wild life of the province were rival attraction at the border village of Fosterville, Parish of North Lake, on Saturday evening. It seems that both shows were hooked for the same hall, and an effort to combine them proved unsuccessful, although it might not have been amiss. The political stormers finally decided to remain in the hall, while the wild life exhibit, adjourned to the school house, the major portion of the audience going along with it. No admission fee was charged at either performance.

STREAMLINE CORNCOB PIPES

Boonville, Mo., July 18—Even the corncob pipe, the "Missouri meerschaum" of hallowed memory, has gone modern. One of the featured 1934 models of the plant which proclaims itself the "largest corncob factory in the world" is a slick streamlined affair not recognizable as a cob pipe at all.

DADDY-TO-BE DEMPSEY GETS A BABY SHOWER

New York, July 18—Jack Dempsey was counting baby blankets and rattles today—presents his friends bestowed at a baby shower.

The shower was at the Stork Club, and it lasted several hours. When it was all over, the former heavyweight champion of the world clambered into a taxi with 14 rattles, 16 pink and blue blankets and seven boxes of infants' diapers.

Dempsey's friends stood around with rattles in one hand and drinks in the other. Someone pulled a big wooden stork up to the second floor and set it up at the bar. Then Max Baer, heavyweight champion and vaudeville actor, suspended a celluloid baby doll from the stork's beak. "It's this way," explained Marc Lachmann, Dempsey's public relations counsel, to a puzzled bystander. "In about a month Jack is going to become a father."

"He has never been a father before, and they are giving him a shower—like a bride has a shower."

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis J. Allen, and little son, of Dalhousie, who have been visiting relatives here, left for home by auto this morning.

Mrs. Jack Bond and children of Pittsburgh are visiting Mrs. Bond's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Phillips, Smythe St.
