CANADA'S PARLIAMENT

The session of the Dominion Parliament opened at Ottawa yesterday by His Excellency the Governor General, gives promise of being one of the most important in recent years, so far as useful legislation is concerned. Among the matters forecast in His Excellency's speech that will give general satisfaction was the announcement of a Dominion wide program of public works. This matter was discussed at the recent inter-provincial conference and was cordially endorsed. Details are lacking but the chances are that it will be carried out by the Federal government as a substitute for its share of direct relief expenditure. It has been intimated that upwards of two million dollars will be expended in New Brunswick.

It was also indicated in the speech that legislation will be introduced to facilitate the efficient and profitable marketing of live stock and other products of the farm. Agriculture has been hard hit by the depression and any measure in the way of relief will not only be welcomed by the farmers, but by all other classes of people. Enhanced farm prices will mean greater purchasing power and that is what the country needs today.

The announcement that legislation will be introduced to provide for the establishment of a Central Bank will not come as a surprise, as the matter has been fully discussed ever since the report of the McMillan Commission on banking was made public some time ago. The revision of the act under which the chartered banks operate, which was postponed from last year, will be tackled by Parliament during the present session.

It is announced that the amendment to the Judges' Act, passed by the Commons last year and defeated in the Senate, will be reintroduced. It provides for an automatic reduction in the salaries of supreme court judges, after they have reached the age of 75 years, and should it pass both Houses, as it is likely to do, will mean the retirement of quite a number who have passed the age limit.

The government meets the House with the relative standing of parties unchanged from last session, except that the Liberals have one seat that was formerly held by a Progressive. One cabinet minister, Hon. E. B. Ryckman, resigned as Minister of National Revenue in the autumn and died shortly afterwards. The vacancy was filled by the appointment of Hon. R. C. Matthews of Toronto. The session gives promise of being an important one, and the program of practical legislation outlined in His Excellency's speech, when carried out, will be certain to hasten the return of prosperity to all parts of the Dominion.

A LOOSENING UP

The new Liberal government of British Columbia has decided, in the interests of law enforcement, so it is claimed that John Barleycorn from now on shall work overtime in the city of Vancouver. Under the former administration government stores for the sale of liquor with exception of one that opened at four o'clock P. M., and closed at midnight, on all days except Saturdays were kept in operation only in the day time. Starting this week the people of Vancouver will be able to buy stimulants at every hour of the day or night, except on Sundays and two hours in the morning. The new store that has been established, will open at one minute past twelve on Tuesday morning and will do business regularly from that time every morning until 8 A. M. Then, we are told, there will be a hiatus in the supply of legal liquor until ten o'clock, A. M..

The new plan, according to the chairman of the Liquor Control Board at the Queen hotel this afternoon, was being undertaken solely in the interests of law enforcement, at the request of the Vancouver police. The cabinet approved the opening of a special night store so as to offer more successful competition to bootleggers who thrive on the trade offering when no legal liquor supply is available. It is claimed that it will cost the government practically nothing to operate the new store.

"World War" is a proper, not a common noun. It is the name of a war. Therefore, it is entitled to be capitalized. For some reason, the christening of that conflict. "The Great War", did not stick. Perhaps it wasn't definite enough.

A weakness in the annual four day Quadrantid meteor shower is contained in the fact that it cannot be postponed when the skies are cloudy. Like the good old trooper that it is, the shower rules that the show must go on.

CUBS CLAW MARYSVILLE

In a thrilling game of the York Intermediate League played at the Arctic Rink between the Fredericton Cubs and Marysville, the former won by the tally of 9 to 3. McPherson's inability to clear accounted for most of the Cub goals. The game was fast and slow by turns with the Cubs displaying their best band of hockey this season. Larry McLean refereed and there was a good crowd in attendance.
