A NORTH SHORE VIEW

The Newcastle Advocate commenting in its last issue on a statement in the Legislature by Premier Tilley, says editorially:

"We have said before that Premier Tilley was strong, and now we can prove it by his recent declaration in the House of Assembly, when he said that a large amount of Northumberland's indebtedness would be arranged by the government in a bill to be brought down later. The nature of what the government intends to do was not disclosed at the time, but it is current that the sum will relieve this county of about one hundred and eighty thousand dollars. ($180,000.00). Premier took his own strong method of doing this. He met the delegations from the two towns and the county, found out what he could from them, then sent his own auditor to inspect and look over the situation.

"On receiving the latter's report, Mr. Tilley made his stand, and as a result this county will be much benefited.

"Not every one either in or out of the House is favorable, to assisting municipalities by governments, and here is just where Premier Tilley's strength has been shown. He is a man who does not shout his policies from the house-top beforehand, but is rather one who considers what is best to do, and no one can force it till he is ready. After coming to a decision he is strong enough to put his policies into effect.

"Mr. Tilley is growing stronger every day and the people are beginning to see that they have a strong person at the helm of public affairs. It takes a man of strength and ability to govern any section in these troublesome times and ever-shifting times and New Brunswick is beginning to appreciate Mr. Tilley's capabilities for the position."

J. H. A. L. Fairweather, one of the Members for Kings, entertained the Legislature yesterday to a speech on the budget. He spoke well, as he always does, and held the close attention of the Members on both sides of the House. He ejected a lot of pep and humor into the debate, and did not spare Mr. Dysart and the party of which he is supposed to be the chief-tain. Mr. Fairweather expressed a simple truth when he declared, among other things, that the back benches to the Speaker's right were filled with front bench material. Mr. Fairweather himself is one of the outstanding back-benchers, and will some day be called to higher service on the front row. He is beyond a doubt one of the most popular and talented Members of the House, and has a brilliant career before him in public life.

Scott D. Guptill, of Charlotte, who ranks next to his colleague, Hon. Dr. Taylor in length of continuous service in the Legislature, spoke on the budget Wednesday evening and was listened to with much interest. As usual, he spoke frankly and expressed the opinion that the taxation had reached the saturation point, and hoped that the Province would get along without a further increase in the bonded indebtedness. Mr. Guptill gave the House some valuable information regarding the fisheries of his county, and paid tribute to the sturdy men who go down to the sea in boats and do business in great waters.

Mr. Fred Pirie, the genial and junior member for Victoria who is not without a sense of humor, in the course of a speech in the Legislature last evening put a crimp on the report that J. B. McNair of this city, leader ex-officio of the opposition, rather than take a chance in York, will contest his native county of Victoria at the next election. Mr. Pirie stated that if the government had seen fit to fill the vacancy in York Mr. McNair would now be occupying a seat in the House.

This is interpreted to mean that Mr. Pirie will not be a party to any scheme to foist the Fredericton lawyer on the Count of Victoria, Leader Dysart might as well take notice and govern himself accordingly.

E. W. Melville, one of the Members of the noble County of Carleton, was heard from in the budget debate in the House last evening. Mr. Melville is one of the outstanding agriculturists in the Province and fills the important position of chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the House. He understands the problems of the rural districts and has the ability to present his views in language that cannot very well be misunderstood. The noble County of Carleton has in Speaker Squires, Mr. Melville and Mr. Melville a strong triumvirate.

LEGISLATURE OF NOVA SCOTIA NOW IN SESSION

Speech From the Throne Promises Important Legislation — Opposition in Fighting Mood.

Halifax, March 1—A fiscal program of rigid economy, consistent with the "demands of the public service and certain extraordinary commitments" was forecast for the Province of Nova Scotia today in the Speech from the Throne delivered by Lieutenant-Governor Walter H. Covert at the opening of the province's 40th Legislature.

The prediction was linked with the announcement in the Speech that the deficit for the last fiscal year had been "considerably" more than $1,000,000.

A crowded Legislative Chamber heard the Speech. It was the first appearance of Premier Angus L. Macdonald and the Liberal government he had led to victory over Hon. Gordon S. Harrington's Conservative government in last year's general election.

Some Criticism

Opposition criticism of various phases of the Speech was forecast by the former premier. "Buttons are off the fells now," the House was told by Mr. Harrington, who leads eight Conservatives against the government's 22 supporters.

Introduction of government legislation covering a wide field was promised in the Speech from the Throne. Legislation would be sought to increase the tax on gasoline, by way of compensating for reduction in motor vehicle registration fees. Under the aegis of the department of highways also were to be undertaken new construction work, including some hard-surfacing of highways.

Wider markets for fish were to be sought by the government, and other lines of industry would be aided. Further development of the gold industry was anticipated. The government had sent a representative to England to inquire into the possibility of furthering Nova Scotian apple sales.

Following the visit of a trade emissary to England, there was a "decided stimulus" to the lumber industry, the government proposed further to seek repeal of Chapter 18 of the 1930 statutes, termed a "great hindrance" to the development of the industry. The government proposed further to seek repeal of Chapter 18 of the 1930 statutes, termed a "great hindrance" to the development of the industry.

THE HOUSE TODAY

Mr. Niles of Victoria resumes the debate on the budget in the Legislature today and may be the only speaker. The House will adjourn at five o'clock for the week-end. The debate will be resumed on Tuesday and pointed to a conclusion. At least two members of the cabinet and Leader Dysart are expected to take part. It is reported that Leader Dysart may bob up with an amendment provided he is assured of any support for it.

JACK THE HUGGER?

Rumors about the city in recent days that several women have been accosted by a strange man and attempt made to lift their purses seems to be inaccurate according to police circles. At least no complaints have been laid at the local police station, and the police have no evidence that such attempts have been made. The police investigated the rumor.
