The President's Acts To Put a Stop to Race in Armaments

Urges Senate Action on a Nine-Year-Old Geneva Treaty to Limit the International Shipment of War Implements—Would Also Limit Sale of Arms to Chaco Belligerents.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21—A triple play against war, through curbing of sale and shipment of munitions, begun at the United States capitol over the week-end, with President Roosevelt on the coaching line.

The President urged speedy action on:

1.—A nine-year-old Geneva treaty to limit international shipment of war implements.

2.—A special resolution to prohibit the sale of arms in the United States to the Gran Chaco belligerents.

3.—A resolution authorizing $50,000 to fund the special Senate investigation looking toward new legislation to curb "abuses" in the munitions traffic.

Chairman Key Pittman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee reported he would press steadily for early Senate ratification of the 1925 Geneva arms treaty. The President called for this action to halt the "mad race in armaments which, if permitted to continue, may well result in war."

Early Senate approval was predicted to prevent the sale of arms in this country to either Bolivia or Paraguay for use in their 50-year-old war over the Gran Chaco.

LUMBERMEN WILL MEET AT SAINT JOHN

Montreal, May 20—New Brunswick lumbermen are to be called into conference at Saint John on May 29 to meet several English timber importers now en route to that province.

Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, premier of New Brunswick, announced on his arrival here today after spending several weeks in Great Britain interviewing government officials, timber importers and business men in the Old Country.

Premier Tilley said he would ask the New Brunswick Lumbermen's Association to hold a meeting in Saint John and has invited G. E. Robinson, and E. E. House, of Manchester, and Arthur Kearsley, of London, and Liverpool, to attend the gathering. These British buyers will confer with New Brunswick Lumbermen as to the best of means to be taken to increase lumber exports to the United Kingdom in 1934. Premier Tilley will also ask representatives of the boards of trade in New Brunswick to attend this conference.

FOX TERRIER HERO BURIED WITH HONORS

Cedar Vale, Kan., May 21—Billy, a fox terrier, was buried with honors yesterday.

Billy's timely barking in 1931 aroused the town in time to prevent a fire from spreading through the business district. For this the Town Council made him exempt from dog tax for life. Billy later added to his laurels when he gave the alarm to the sleeping town when robbers were looting the bank.

He died on Saturday under the wheels of an automobile.

PREMIER TILLEY OPTIMISTIC OVER THE OUTLOOK IN ENGLAND FOR NEW BRUNSWICK LUMBER

Tells of Various Housing and Construction Programs To Be Undertaken—Has Secured a Wealth of Information—Finds Russian Competition a Negligible Quantity.

Montreal, Que., May 20—A profitable market for Canadian timber during the next ten years and found in various housing and construction programs being undertaken in Great Britain, Premier L. P. D. Tilley, K. C., of New Brunswick stated here today on his arrival from England on the liner Duchess of York.

Enthusiastic as to the results of his trip abroad the premier believed that annual parleys would undoubtedly prove beneficial to all sections of the British Commonwealth of Nations. "Consider my own visit to Great Britain," he said. "I have discussed ways and means of developing a market for the products of New Brunswick, obtaining a wealth of information that will prove invaluable."

Eastern Canada, he thought, should follow the example of British Columbia in appointing a permanent advertising representative to boost lumber sales. It was necessary, he said, for some individual familiar with the trade in this country to maintain constant connections with architects and engineers responsible for the housing and building schemes in the Old Country.

In North of England

Premier Tilley was particularly impressed with the market for Canadian timber in the north of England. "The north," he continued, "buys 'white' lumber and Canadian woods come within that category. London dealers buy red' lumber and in the past we have concentrated too much on the London market". A potential market of 25,000,000 people, all living within a radius of 100 miles in the north of England had been overlooked by Canada, he said.

Russian competition, Premier Tilley declared, was a negligible quantity. Canadian spruce was mentioned in the specifications of many British municipalities, he remarked. While in London he sat in at a session of the London County Council, and found it "most sympathetic to Canadian lumber".

The Requirements

Principles of Confederation Are Not Being Implemented

Toronto, Ont., May 21—Sir Henry Drayton declared that the basic principles of Confederation had not been implemented, when he addressed the 22nd annual meeting of the Canadian Credit Men's Trust Association here last week.

"Why should not the Prime Minister, Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, be in a position to cut down the membership in the Dominion House?" Sir Henry asked. He said that it had been done in provincial legislatures.

"If we believe in a united country; if we believe in the uniting principles of Confederation as laid down by MacDonald and Brown, we should see to it that at the earliest moment we implement the work and dreams (Continued on Page Four.)

U. S. Press Pleased Over Return of a Mace to Canada

Was Looted From the Town of York During a Battle 121 Years Ago, Will Be Used as a Memorial to America's War Dead, in Toronto—The Suggestion Came From U. S. President.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 21—The press of the United States is unanimous in praising President Roosevelt's suggestion to Congress that the historic mace of the Parliament of Ontario, looted from the Town of York, now Toronto, 121 years ago, be returned to Canada as a memorial to U.S. war-fallen dead.

The Washington Star, largest and most influential newspaper in the national capital, has made a collection of editorials from more than a dozen papers in widely scattered parts of the country, and published them as showing "hearty approval" accorded the idea generally.

The Star notes also that the plan for a study of the foundations of the long peace between this country and Canada sponsored by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, is hailed widely as hastening the time when "settlement of all international disputes through arbitration and neighborly understanding" will become an accomplished fact."

DELIVERED A MESSAGE TO THE STUDENTS

Commencement was the Timely Theme of Pastor Mason at George Street Baptist Church.

At the morning service yesterday in the George Street Church, the subject of the sermon was: "Commencement". Spoken with special regard to students, the message centered about the idea that the ending of a college or school term was only a commencement, in reality. It was pointed out, however, that often the commencement was thought of in terms only of commencement of life's work, while in reality it should be thought of in terms of the beginning of new and worthier attitudes to life and its problems. The completion of an education may or may not be a commencement in this sense, but the employment of this word to mark the end of one's schooling is most suggestive as to what ought to be. The great concern of people about education ought not to be merely the desire to impart knowledge but with knowledge to create desirable attitudes towards life. A description was given of some of the ways in which this aim was being achieved, through teachers who recognized their responsibilities along this line and exercised the force of a Christian character in moulding the lives of students, through religiously controlled schools and programs, and finally, through Christian homes which are the final source of control for making education an opportunity for developing a spirit for service as well as a skill for work.

In the evening, the subject was:—"The Divine Touch". The text was: "He (Jesus) touched him (the leper)". It was pointed out that much of our stress in life is ordinarily upon the more vigorous virtues, but the art of gentle touch is essential to the finest development of human character. A description was given of the elements entering into the "touch" of Jesus, his love of the human soul, his sensitiveness to injustice and suffering, his ideals if made a reality in conduct. An appeal was made for the Rollins & Sons, Inc., Hemphill, Noyes & Co., Washburn, Frost & Co., Inc., and Darby & Co., the lowest bidders, who quoted the 1.15 rate with a premium of $10 to the city.

A group headed by the First Boston Corporation, put in a bid of 1.73, plus a $16 premium, and the Day Trust Company offered to supply the money for 1.386 per cent. RADIO TO AID IN DOG CATCHING

Topeka, Kan., May 21—Finding radio a valuable device in tracking down criminals, the Topeka city fathers, have decided to go a step further and install a short wave set on the city dog catcher's truck.

Having a little difficulty in locating his dog catcher as calls piled up, Dr. F. P. Helm, city health officer, arranged for police to broadcast them while the field worker picked up stray dogs to the accompaniment of radio instructions.

preservation of an attitude that would sense the feelings of others, and for the exercise of the gentle touch in all the realms of conduct. In the absence of Mrs. McKeen, organist, Miss Hilda Shorten presided at the organ.
