WESTCHESTER
TAKES TO GATE
HOUSE HOMES

(New York Sun)
Gate houses have become economically smart in Westchester county, and if you don't know what a gate house is, it's the gatekeeper's lodge or cottage at the entrance of an estate, though the term has now been glorified by the realtors to include chauffeur's quarters above a garage.
Large estates which have been lost by their owners have them for rent, or they are rented anyway to bring in a little more income. For several years a number of apartments in the extensive garages or in the outhouses of the Ward estate, near New Rochelle, have been rented to outsiders, and lately many others have followed suit, so that almost every large garage with an apartment above contains a respectable family, saving on the rent.
Rents range from around twenty-five dollars for a room in a barn to ninety dollars a month for a fancy arrangement in a lodge or gate house. Writers and artists have taken them us, for they are usually quiet places. One man has a four-car garage and a Ford coupe to keep in it. A financial wh presented practically everything to his mortgage company now rents his former chauffeur's quarters and has laid down a carpet which he managed to rescue for his old Rolls Royce, which he couldn't sell for anything much.

BLONDES ARE VANISHING IN UNITED STATES

Chicago, July 5—Such gentlemen as prefer blondes had better get busy, if a commercial survey of 302,000 American girls is not amiss in its implications.
Sponsors of the examination announced today that both blonde and auburn types are approaching extinction. Third and fourth generation Americans, they said, are distinctly darker than their forebears.
The surveyors also found that girls now get gray "four or five years earlier" than their great-grandmothers did.
