"With malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphans, to do all which which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."—Abraham Lincoln.

A CHEEKY BOODLER.

The Conservative machine of Peel County, Ont., has whitewashed Mr. J. R. Fallis, who was recently forced by public opinion to resign his seat in the Legislature because of crooked work in connection with the sale of horses to the Federal government. Mr. Fallis, it seems, after resigning his seat, turned over his ill-gotten gains, amounting to several thousand dollars, to the regimental fund of an overseas battalion and announced that he would be a candidate for re-nomination. The party convention was held at Brampton, Ont., and Fallis was right on hand for the whitewashing process. There was some grumbling, mostly sotto voice, on the part of Conservatives who did not approve of his conduct, and several other names were proposed for nomination. The party machine, however, was well oiled for the occasion and the boodling M. P. landed the nomination in the first ballot, securing 84 votes out of a total of 133. A proposal from the Liberal executive offering to allow any other candidate except Fallis an election by acclamation was read to the convention, but it did not appear to carry much weight with the delegates. Fallis, in a speech to the convention, admitted that he had been indiscreet, but appealed to those present to give him an opportunity to vindicate himself. Fallis seems to be a typical Tory patriot and feels that the party has a right to stand by him, no matter what he may do. By accepting Fallis as its candidate the Conservatives of Peel assure responsibility for his boodling operations in connection with the sale of horses to the Government for the use of our troops on the battlefield. It is simply a case of blind partisanship coupled with machine politics.

On the day of the convention the Toronto World, a Conservative journal, published the following:

"Mr. Fallis, late member for Peel in the Ontario Legislature, will do a most patriotic thing if he declines the Conservative nomination, if offered to him today. Should he be re-elected, that will be the end of any attempt to better political life in Canada. IF HE COMES BACK, DEWITT FOSTER WILL COME BACK TO THE COMMONS FROM NOVA SCOTIA, AND MR. GARLAND FROM CARLETON; AND SIR ROBERT BORDEN AND THE WHOLE CONSERVATIVE PARTY WILL BE THAT MUCH DISCREDITED. And the World trusts that Richard Blain, M.P., will also see the situation in this light, and that he, especially, will be held responsible for the example of Peel on the fortunes of the Conservative party. Mr. Blain cannot counsel Mr. Fallis to stand if he has the Prime Minister's welfare at heart. If an Ontario constituency stands for whitewash, will Ontario and Canada have to stand for many another thing while this war lasts; if Peel and Mr. Fallis do the right thing the country will benefit immeasurably therefrom, and a certain disloyal element in the community will think again before defying public opinion and the public welfare in this day of extreme peril."

Despite the World's warning, Fallis got the nomination, and will be the accredited party candidate at the bye-election which is to be held on February 24th.

It is pleasing to note that the Liberals of the county have accepted the challenge and will meet in convention today to name a candidate to oppose the return of Fallis to public life. The issue is one of great importance to the whole of Canada, and should be fought out to a finish. There should be enough honest, independent men in the county of Peel to relegate a boodler such as Fallis has proved himself to be, to the political bone-heap.

Securing a divorce on Monday at Philadelphia, from Charles N. Bell, a

New York wine merchant whom she married in June, 1913; Adele Ritchie caught the first train for Toronto, where Guy Bates Post was playing last week. Wednesday morning Miss Ritchie arrived, and, adding a huge bunch of violets to her travelling costume, motored with Mr. Post to Cooke's Presbyterian Church, where Rev. Dr. William Patterson married them within half an hour of the train's arrival. The only guest was Lawrence Colman, manager of the Royal Alexander Theatre, at which the bridegroom was starting. After a hurried luncheon the bridal party went to the matinee.

Parliament yesterday by unanimous vote adopted Premier Borden's resolution asking the Imperial Government to amend the B. N. A. Act extending the life of Parliament for one year. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking for the Liberal party, supported the resolution in one of the greatest speeches of his notable career. The adoption of the resolution should put an end to election talk for the next eighteen months.

BARRISTER'S SOCIETY HELD ANNUAL MEETING

A. R. Slipp, M. P. P., Re-elected President—Considerable Business Transacted.

The annual meeting of the Barristers' Society of New Brunswick was held at the Supreme Court Chambers here last night, President A. R. Slipp, K.C., presiding. Dr. T. Carleton Allen, K.C., secretary-treasurer, presented his report. It was voted to increase the insurance on the library from $8,000 to $10,000.

On motion of Attorney General Baxter, the council of the society was authorized to expend a sum not exceeding $300 in duplicating text books for the law library of the St. John society.

The fees annually collected from the members of the provincial society totalled about $1,500, besides which there was quite a sum contributed by candidates for attorneys.

Attorney General Baxter brought up the matter of securing a portrait of Chief Justice McLeod for the Supreme Court Chamber. It was voted to appoint a committee to first wait on Chief Justice McLeod to ascertain if such an act would be agreeable. The attorney general, President Slipp and Secretary Allen were named as the committee.

President Slipp, Vice-President Ewing and Secretary-Treasurer Allen were re-elected.

The members of the council chosen are: M. G. Teed, K.C.; Fred Taylor K.C.; W. B. Chandler, K.C.; G. J. Hughes, A. J. Gregory, K.C.; W. P. Jones, K.C., and Dr. W. B. Wallace, K.C.

Mr. Teed read a communication from Sir James Aiken, president of the Canadian Bar Association, stating that the council of that association was desirous of having representatives from the provincial barristers societies associated with them in their official position and he requested consideration of the matter by the New Brunswick society.

After a general discussion, during which Mr. M. G. Teed, Mr. A. J. Gregory and the attorney general, who attended the last meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in Montreal, related their experiences in interesting addresses, a resolution was passed favoring that a general rule be adopted by the bar societies of the various provinces to have at least two members appointed to represent them at these annual national meetings.

LONDON IS STILL THE WORLD'S BANKER

(Canadian Press.)

London, Feb. 9.—"Will London cease to be the banker of the world?" was the question asked by Lord Ritchie at the meeting of the London and Liverpool Bank of Commerce and he discussed the point at some length.

Referring to the growth of the international banking business of New York, he expressed the opinion that whether England is to lose its proper position from the financial point of view, will depend among other things on the duration of the war.

The Daily Mail, commenting on Lord Ritchie's speech, says:

"London became the banker of the world because of its magic wealth and its financial facilities and because it is the capital of a country which is so rich that it in a position to lend."

"This is being altered by the war and the United States seems to be assuming the premier situation, but, although bankers are discussing the possibility of the loss of our position it is not yet lost by any means."

Baron Ritchie is a lieutenant for the City of London and is vice-chairman of the Port of London authority. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the London and Liverpool Bank of Commerce Limited.

YOUNG SNOBS TO BE ELIMINATED

Ottawa, Feb. 9.—The Minister of Militia today made an emphatic deliverance on the question of salutes.

"A private is as much entitled to a salute from an officer as is an officer entitled to one from a private. Why, I salute scores of them every day. Complaints come from different parts of the country about a few young snobs who persist in calling down men for not saluting them when they themselves have not saluted. We are eliminating a few of those young gents from the service."
