

IN FIVE MINUTES! NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR SOUR ACID STOMACH

The Moment "Pape's" Diapiesin
Reaches the Stomach All Distress Goes.

"Really does" put bad stomach in order—really does—overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes—that just makes Pape's Diapiesin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, indigestible food and acid, head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapiesin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin will give you a hundred days' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back. It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach regulator in the world.

ODDFELLOWS AS HOSTS.

A number of soldiers belonging to the 36th Field Battery and 104th Battalion who are members of the I.O.O.F. were pleasantly entertained by the local Oddfellows at their hall last evening. Ex-Mayor Hooper occupied the chair and there was an excellent program of speeches, songs, readings, etc. Those who took part included Mr. C. A. Sampson, Mr. W. A. Walsh, Mr. Barry Allen, Mr. A. E. Carpenter, an employee of the shoe factory, and several members of the Battery. Mr. Carpenter gave an account of his experiences while traveling in a steamship which was held up by the German auxiliary cruiser Karlsruhe in South American waters during the early stages of the war. Refreshments were served and the gathering did not break up until eleven o'clock.

BISHOP RICHARDSON'S CHARGE TO CHURCH OF ENGLAND SYNOD

me remind you of what I said at that time. It was in part as follows:

"We shall not agree, perhaps, as to the precise policy that ought to be pursued. For myself I do not hesitate to say that I do not think that the time is ripe for prohibition, though I believe that to be an ideal towards which we ought to work, and an ideal that will one day be realized. If, therefore, such a measure should be proposed, I should feel compelled to raise my voice against it. But the moment I can see behind such a measure a weight of public sentiment sufficient to enforce it, I shall be ready to give it my heartiest support."

That was six years ago. Today I stand here to tell you that, after watching the growth of public opinion all through the province for more than six years, I am of opinion that the time has come when a prohibition bill may safely be enacted. I have no illusions about a prohibitory law. I have no expectations that such a law will entirely eliminate the sale of liquor, but I have not the slightest doubt that its enactment under proper safeguards will enormously reduce that sale; and I believe, further, that there is a sufficiently strong sentiment in favor of prohibition to make its passing a sane and salutary thing. Those who are determined to get strong drink will, no doubt, still be able to do so. But the number of those who drink will, in the aggregate, be enormously reduced, and multitudes of men will grow up to whom the taste of liquor will be altogether unknown. Make as much as you like of the weaknesses that belong to the prohibitory system, and there will at least be indisputable gains.

Weaknesses Admitted.

I admit, then, the inevitable weaknesses of prohibition, but against them I set the certain gain—a gain that in other directions will more than make up for the loss in this. Less money will be wasted in unproductive labor; more men will be working up to their full capacity; there will be more health and happiness. I do not think that these gains will be disputed. And that is not all. Against the weaknesses of prohibition also, and it is this that concerns us chiefly as a Church, there stands an indisputable moral gain. It removes a terrible stumbling block from the path of many who are weak.

Some of you will hesitate to accept all that I have said on this subject. I am seeking, you will say, to upset principles that have been long rooted in your life, and to tear down practices that have the sanction of long-continued custom in the world. You will tell me, further, that it is impossible to make a people sober by act of parliament. That is no doubt true in the strictest sense, but it does not thereby follow that an act of parliament has no moral value. As a matter of fact, it is probably true to say that an act of parliament never makes men moral, but it is none the less an excellent index to the extent to which men are becoming moral, and, like many another index, it has a very distinct monetary value.

Let me add one more word. You are members of the Church of England and you have inherited from your fathers a love of liberty that leads you to look with suspicion and dislike on any extension of the prohibitory principle to private life. Yet, suffer one word of earnest warning. Beware lest your love of liberty, your instinctive dislike of the prohibitory principle, should lead you to forget your duty—your plain and imperative duty—to make at least some clear contribution to the forces that are fighting this great evil in the world. No man has a right to all his rights. No man can claim all his privileges and continue to call himself a Christian. No man can live to himself alone. The measure of a Christian's freedom is the measure of his brother's need.

Prohibition is Coming.

But I need say no more. Prohibition is coming. If not now—and I think it will be now—at least some time in the not-far-off future. It is coming not in one province only, but throughout the whole Dominion. The day is close at hand when, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, there will be one prohibitory law. I hope with all my heart that when that consummation shall have come to pass it will not be possible to say that the Church of England people had no part in its enactment. I commend to your consideration and support the principles to which both political parties in this province have Widows and Orphans Fund.

The question of the Widows and Orphans Fund has frequently been discussed in the Synod, and I do not intend to say much now. I have received a letter from a gentleman who has for many years taken a great interest in the Fund, the purport of which it is my duty to make known to you. The simplest way, perhaps, will be to quote from the letter itself. "I enclose a cheque in your Lordship's favor for $250," the writer says, "and shall be glad if you can arrange to let it be known that if any clergyman now in stated or permanent charge of a parish or mission in the Diocese, who is not already a member of the fund, becomes a member under the usual conditions before the end of February, his first payment will be provided for. . . . If the cheque now enclosed should be insufficient, I shall be prepared to make up any deficiency."

This is an extremely generous offer and I commend it to the attention of those of the clergy whom it may concern.

Registrar of the Diocese.

The position of Registrar was vacated by the removal from the Diocese of the Very Rev. C. D. Schofield. In pursuance with the provisions of the Canon (29, sec. 1), I appointed the Very Rev. Scovell Neales to the position ad interim. I recommend the Synod to make his appointment permanent.

Revised Prayer Book.

As you are already aware, the General Synod expressed its approval of the report of the committee on the enrichment and adaptation of the Prayer Book. There were, of course, a number of amendments to the report, but it was accepted substantially as it had been presented by the Committee and with an extraordinary degree of unanimity.

The approval by the General Synod of the Draft Book does not mean, however, its adoption by the Church at present. The question will have to be considered by the various Provincial Synods, and the action taken by the General Synod confirmed at its next regular meeting, which will be held in the year 1918.

Religious Education in Public Schools.

I had hoped to be in a position to report to you fully upon the work of the committee appointed to consider this important question, but it is impossible for me to do so yet. As you are aware, a conference between the leading non-Roman Catholic communions was held, of which I had the honor to be appointed chairman, and after prolonged consideration, certain conclusions were unanimously reached. These conclusions were placed before the Board of Education at the beginning of November in the form of a memorial. No answer, however, has yet been received, and I am unable, therefore, to give you a detailed report upon the subject.

I must not close, however, without saying, as I have often said before, how much we owe to the faithful and loyal assistance of the Women's Auxiliary in the Diocese. I thank the officers and members with all my heart for the splendid work they are doing.

And now, my dear brethren, I commend you and the work to which you have been called, to the grace and guidance of the Holy Spirit. May He enable us to do our duty!
