WILLARD NOT ONLY GIANT IN HEAVY-WEIGHT CLASS

Moran, Fulton and Cowler Are Not Pygmies by Any Means—Smith is Smallest of Group.

New York, Jan. 8—While some uncertainty exists as to just when and where Jess Willard will defend his heavyweight title during 1916, there appears to be little doubt that the champion will be seen in one or more battles during the coming twelve months. There is also some question as to which of the challengers for the title will be accorded first chance to meet Willard in the ring.

If height, strength and youth were the only qualifications necessary to insure their possessor the right to meet the champion in the squared circle, Willard's prospects for a busy season would be extremely bright. Notwithstanding the enormous proportions of the present champion, he is not the only giant in his class for the heavyweight field today consists of bigger men than ever before in the history of the ring. Willard stands six feet six inches and weighs close to 240 pounds, when in condition.

In the older days of pugilism he would have towered above the average heavyweights like a Goliath among pygmies. Such is not the case at present, however, for there are several candidates for the title who, physically at least, class with Willard in many respects. Lee Bodin one of the latest aspirants for ring honors, stands six feet, six and a half inches; Fred Fulton is six feet, four and a half inches tall; Cowler six feet, three and a half inches; Weinert six feet, two and a half inches; Cifley six feet, one and a half inches; Moran six feet, one inch; Harry Wills, the negro heavy, six feet, two inches; Georges Carpentier, now serving in the French army, five feet, eleven and a half inches, while Gunboat Smith is the smallest of the group, being five feet, eleven inches.

Among the older school of heavyweights Jeffries and Corbett alone approached in height the big men who today are fighting in the same class. Jeffries stood six feet, one and a half inches when at the top of his ring career. Corbett measured six feet one inch when he defeated Sullivan, who was but five feet ten and a half inches. Jack Johnson was half an inch over six feet; Fitzsimmons a quarter of an inch under six feet while

GRAND CIRCUIT WILL HAVE CONTINUOUS RACING

Important Recommendations Made—Jas. Trainter Offers to Fill Any Vacant Time.

Cleveland, Jan. 10—The Grand Circuit season of 1916 will be one of continuous racing as a result of an offer received by the stewards here tonight from James Trainter, horse enthusiast, who agreed to fill in any weeks for which no application is made. The stewards are here for the annual meeting, which will be held tomorrow. Only one week, that of August 1, is in doubt so far as the schedule is concerned and New York interests will fill that if a track can be obtained. Otherwise, Trainter has agreed to take the week, staging the meeting at either Poughkeepsie or Goshen.

The Rules Committee tonight framed a number of recommendations which will be acted upon by the stewards tomorrow. It was decided to recommend a $5000 stake race for trotters that have not won $2000 gross nor have a time or race record faster than 2:14. If the recommendation is adopted each meeting will be required to offer this stake. A number of allowance changes were also recommended.

GAFFNEY AND SINCLAIR AFTER NEW YORK GIANTS

New York, Jan. 9—Reports current both here and in Cincinnati—the latter from a source close to Chairman Herrmann of the National Commission—had it last night that only a few days will pass before James F. Gaffney and Harry F. Sinclair, former Federal League backer, will purchase the New York Giants from Henry R. Hempstead and associates. The selling of the Boston Braves by Gaffney yesterday is believed to have cleared away the last matter that has been delaying the deal for the local National League Club. Gaffney and Sinclair have been closely acquainted ever since the former ushered a party of Federal League officials around Braves' Field last summer, when they requested the privilege of inspecting the new baseball plant.

Sharkey, Choynski and Tommy Burns were all under five feet ten inches.

Was Troubled With BOILS ALL OVER HIS BODY.

When the blood becomes impure the first symptoms manifesting themselves are a breaking out on some part of the body of various sorts of bad blood troubles, such as boils, pimples, abscesses, ulcers, etc.

How many times have you met a friend with a handkerchief tied around his neck, and have asked him, "What is the matter with you?" "Oh! I have a boil on the back of my neck; I guess I will have to take something for my blood."

The best blood cleansing remedy on the market to-day is Burdock Blood Bitters, and the speediest and most thorough method of expelling all the useless and corrupt matter from the blood is to use this old and well tried remedy that has been on the market for the past forty years.

Mr. W. E. Cockerill, Golden, B.C. writes: "I was troubled with boils all over my body, and my blood was very bad. I tried all kinds of medicines and salves, but got no relief. I had to quit work, as I could not stoop to do anything. My boss told me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, after I had told him I had tried nearly everything else. I got one bottle of B.B.B., and before I had finished it the boils were all gone. It is the best blood cleanser I have ever taken. I have told several others who were suffering with boils, and they all say it is great medicine. I am forty-seven years of age, but I feel like sixteen since I got rid of the boils."

B.B.B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BATTERY PRACTICED HOCKEY LAST EVENING

The 36th Battery hockey team worked out at the Arctic Rink yesterday afternoon in preparation for the match with the 104th Battalion next Tuesday night. The practise was a good one, the artillerymen showing lots of speed. The 104th squad was out Monday evening. The infantry have a large amount of material.

PIN TICKLERS WON

The Pin Picklers and the Arctic Club met at the Arctic Bowling Alley last night. The Pin Ticklers won by twenty-nine points, the score being 1294 to 1265.

The Printing and Publicity Specialist Talks To His Son

"Say, John, I feel quite sick today," said Mr. Blank. "Please visit the different doctors in town, and find out who will cure me for the least money. Get your quotations tabulated and then let me see them. Of course we will engage the doctor who charges the least."

"Why, I never heard of such a thing," said John. "The idea of getting quotations from a doctor; it's the asylum for you."

"Well now, why not? I am a specialist in printing and publicity. I study my business just as carefully as any doctor can do. If I do say it that shouldn't, I have just as much brains as the average doctor. I strive to give my customers the benefit of my knowledge, my artistic skill and judgement and my ideas on publicity. I give service as the term is understood in the Twentieth Century.

"When some people around here have a little printing to be done, they visit all the printing offices, get quotations from each one, and then give the work to the man who gives the lowest figures.

"The ordinary user of printing knows his own business, but he is no more a judge of the work of printing than he is a judge of what sort of medicine a doctor should give him for the cure of his ailment. If people ask me for quotations and pass me by if my price happens to be a little more than the other fellow, why shouldn't I apply the same method to the doctor, lawyer, dentist and painter? Why not? It's a mighty poor rule that won't work more than one way."
