GERMAN ATTACKS ON BRITISH POSITIONS WERE ALL REPULSED

The U. S. Ambassador is Not on a Peace Mission

President Wilson Says That Mr. Gerrard is Coming Home For a Vacation---Night Passed Quietly on the Battleline In France---Quiet on the Somme.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The French troops on the Macedonian front have joined the offensive with the British and Serbians. The War Office reports the occupation by the French of the town of German, on Lake Presba. The Serbians, continuing their advance north of Kaimakalan Heights, have reached the valley of the Belavoda, a tributary of the Cerna. The British troops which crossed the Struma and occupied Nevolyen, have repulsed a violent counter attack of the Bulgarian forces.

The lull continues on the Somme front. Today's official announcement says the night passed quietly all along the battle line in France.

BERLIN, Oct. 7 (by wireless to Sayville).—Casualties among the Russian armies during this year's offensive on the eastern front, according to cautious calculations, says the Overseas News Agency, have been at least 1,250,000, including officers and men. According to conservative Danish calculations, the news agency adds, Russia during the first two years of the war lost considerably more than 6,000,000. Wounded men who returned to the front are not included in this estimate of losses.

CRESTLINE, Ohio, Oct. 6.—President Wilson was told here tonight of published reports that Ambassador Gerard, now on his way home from his post in Berlin, was bringing suggestions that the United States make a new move for peace. The statement was authorized that the President knew of no such mission. Recently he said himself that Mr. Gerard was coming home to America only for a vacation.

Intense Fighting Going On Along the

Russian Southwestern Battle Front

PETROGRAD, via London, Oct. 7.—General Brusiloff's operations on the Russian southwestern front have developed into efforts to pierce the Austro-German line at two points, namely, before Vladimir Volynski, the northern extremity of the recent advance, and immediately south of the Dniester, where he has gained some ground in the vicinity of Bogorodchan, on the Bystritsa river.

At these points the battle have reached the greatest intensity during the last few days, although at various intermediate points fierce attacks and counter attacks have been reported from time to time.

According to the most recent official advices, the centre of the Russian attacks in the northern sector is along the Lutsk-Vladimir-Volynski road, in the neighborhood of Zaturze, on a front extending from six to eight miles south of that town. Both combatants concentrated enormous forces and the fighting is described as desperate as any hitherto marking the recent offensive.

Huns to Court Martial British Aviators

Because Tracer Bullets Were Found on Them

LONDON, Oct. 7.—According to the Daily Express, the British government, through the American embassy, has made representations to Germany on behalf of two captured British aviators who are to be tried by court martial because of tracer bullets being found in their possession.

The government explained that tracer bullets are used by all belligerents as machine gun ammunition for the purpose of correcting the gunner's aim, and are not contrary to the Hague Convention.

After saying that Great Britain told Germany that tracer bullets were found on board the Zeppelin whose crew surrendered recently in England, the Express adds:

"It is hoped that the government made it clear to Germany that the crew of this Zeppelin will be treated in precisely the same manner as our airmen."

STRUGGLE FOR WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP IS TAKING PLACE AT BOSTON TODAY

Perfect Weather Conditions for the Opening Game---The Red Sox Seem To be the Favorites---Seating Accommodation for 45,000 People.

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Clear skies, light breezes and moderate temperatures combined today to form perfect weather conditions for the first game of the world's series between the Brooklyn Nationals and the Boston Americans.

A crowd of great numbers turned today to the Braves field for the opening game of the world's series of 1916. The Brooklyn, winners of the National League pennant, challenging the American League supremacy, defended by the Boston club, holders of the world's championship of last year, proved an object of wide appeal to baseball enthusiasts.

The teams were favored in the first meeting by weather conditions closely approaching the ideal. The day was almost summerlike, with only a slight tang of autumn in the air, which caused some spectators to bring wraps.

Much Interest Displayed in the Selection

Of the Batteries for the Rival Ball Teams

It was in this atmosphere, surcharged with the current of baseball's greatest event, that the crowd gathered and exchanged gossip of the probabilities of play.

"Who will pitch for Boston?" was the big question before the game. Manager Carrigan had upset all calculations at the eleventh hour by authorizing the statement that his selection would be Ruth, Shore or Mays. Ruth was regarded as his probable choice. Those close to him had indicated 24 hours previously that Leonard would pitch. The reason for the latter's elimination did not develop.

For Brooklyn it was thought that Marquard would serve left-handed, which had proven effective against the Red Sox team in the series of 1912, when he appeared as a member of the New York Nationals.

Managers Rely on Interchangeable

Outfielders to Bring Out Added Strength

The identity of the opposing pitchers was a considerable factor in the composition of the line-up of either team, both Manager Robinson, of Brooklyn, and Carrigan, of Boston, relying on interchangeable outfielders to bring out added strength.

Stengel, a weak batsman against left-handed pitchers, has no chance in a Brooklyn line-up against Ruth or Leonard. His place will be taken by Johnson.

Similarly, Walker, at centre field for Boston, would be thrown out of competition with Marquard in the box for Brooklyn, the recruit Shorten being a more effective batter against pitching from the south side.

Manager Carrigan, it is understood, has decided to have Hoblitzell play at first base throughout the series.

Accommodation Has Been Provided for

No Less Than Thirty-five Thousand People

With these factors in mind, baseball followers drew up the following as the probable batting order:

Brooklyn Nationals—Johnson r. f., Daubert 1b, Myers c. f., Wheat l. f., Cutshaw 2b, Mowrey 3b, Olson s. s., Myers c., and Marquard p.

Boston Americans—Hooper r. f., Javrin 2b, Walker c. f., Hoblitzell 1b, Lewis l. f., Gardiner 3b, Scott s. s., Carrigan c., Ruth p.

The umpires chosen are: Connelly (American League), behind the bat; O'Day (National League) on the bases; Dineen (American League), left field; Quigley (National League), right field.

The great capacity of the field has been extended by 300 feet, providing space for 45,000 persons through the election of a fence across right field.

MURDERER ELECTROCUTED.

Sing Sing, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Thomas Brambrick, of New York city, was electrocuted in the state penitentiary early today for the murder of George Dap-ping, a New York policeman, a year ago.

Brambrick had twice been reprieved by the Governor and unsuccessfully attempted to obtain a third reprieve up to the very hour of his execution.
