MAUGERVILLE FARMERS ARE SOME MARKET GARDENERS

They Lead all New Brunswick in This Branch of Agriculture---Tons of Ripe
Tomatoes, Cabbage and Cucumbers
Shipped to St. John and Fredericton
Markets---A and C. A. Harrison and D.
M. Seely Largest Growers of Vegetables.

The best land for growing vegetables and the largest and most successful market gardeners in New Brunswick are to be found in the parish of Maugerville, Sunbury county. A. and C. A. Harrison, of that place have the distinction of being the largest growers of vegetables and garden truck, with Mr. David M. Seely a close second. Messrs. Percy Barker, John Jewett and J. W. Clarke are among others who are considered some class as vegetable producers.

Messrs. A. and C. A. Harrison grew and marketed early this season no less than twenty thousand head of cabbage. These were shipped to St. John and to Fredericton by boat and brought an average price of 50c. per dozen. Mr. Seely produced ten thousand cabbages, which he also disposed of in St. John and Fredericton.

Something About Tomatoes.

Mr. Seely, who formerly resided at Blissville, occupies the farm formerly owned by Mr. W. M. Thurrott, of this city. He gives special attention to the growing of vegetables, and modestly claims that he can produce the goods. From one half acre of land this season Mr. Seely produced 300 20-lb. boxes of ripe tomatoes (a total of three tons) and seventy barrels of green toatoes. He started in marketing his ripe tomatoes in the early part of August and kept at it until the price got so low that it no longer paid him to pack and ship them. He then marketed the green tomatoes at an average price of $1.75 per barrel.

One unfamiliar with the game visiting his tomato patch after he had finished shipping would be inclined to think that no effort had been made to gather the crop. Hundreds of pounds are allowed to remain upon the vines and rot, as it does not pay to ship them at the price which prevails towards the end of the season. The Messrs. Harrison and other large producers are compelled to adopt the same course.

How it is Done.

Many people have wondered how the market gardeners of Maugerville are enabled to produce ripe tomatoes so early in the season, when the price is high. It is really not much of a secret. They all own large greenhouses and start thousands of plants as early as the month of March. They are carefully nursed along and as soon as the danger of frost is past in June, they are transplanted in a field, the soil of which has been carefully prepared.

Amateur gardeners use sticks and hoops to support tomato plants, but the professionals of Maugerville do nothing of the kind. To tie up the thousands of tomato plants would consume a lot of time, and they say it would be labor lost. When the vines become weighted with fruit they fall to the ground, but no damage results.

The Maugerville growers claim that their tomatoes are superior in flavor and quality to those brought here in the early summer from the United States, and few will dispute the claim.

Some Cucumbers.

They know how to grow cucumbers in Maugerville as well as tomatoes and cabbages. Some of the farmers also go in heavily for corn, asparagus and other vegetables. Cucumbers are produced by the ton and are marketed as long as there is any market for them. Then the remainder are piled up in the fields and allowed to rot. Barrels and barrels of them—and then some—are shipped away during the month of August, and more could be shipped if there was any demand for them.

Cucumbers a foot long and weighing from five to ten pounds, are not an uncommon sight in a Maugerville garden. The big fellows, however, are not sent to market, but are either thrown away or allowed to ripen and made into pickles and chow-chow.

One Maugerville farmer is said to have realized $2,000 from the sale of cucumbers this season.

SEVEN YEARS TORTURE

Nothing Helped Him Until He Took
"FRUIT-A-TIVES"

ALBERT VARNER

Buckingham, Que., May 3rd, 1915.

For seven years, I suffered terribly from Severe Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas from the stomach, bitter stuff would come up into my mouth after eating, while at times I had nausea and vomiting, and had chronic Constipation. I went to several doctors and wrote to a specialist in Boston but without benefit. I tried many remedies but nothing did me good. Finally, a friend advised "Fruit-a-tives". I took this grand fruit medicine and it made me well. I am grateful to "Fruit-a-tives", and to everyone who has miserable health with Constipation and Indigestion and Bad Stomach, I say take "Fruit-a-tives", and you will get well!

SCIENTISTS TALKS ON INFANTILE PARALYSIS

New York, Oct. 6.—A peculiar germ found in small abscesses in the tonsils and adenoids of victims of infantile paralysis has produced an affliction similar to infantile paralysis when injected into lower animals, according to Dr. E. C. Rosenow, of the Mayo Foundation at Rochester, Minn., who addressed a meeting of the New York Academy of Medicine last night. Dr. Rosenow said that experiments had been conducted by himself and other physicians of the Mayo Foundation on rabbits, guinea pigs, monkeys, cats and dogs. He declared marked improvement was shown in cases of infantile paralysis following the removal of the tonsils and adenoids.

He did not, however, advocate the removal of tonsils in persons afflicted with infantile paralysis as a means of recovery. The number of experiments had been too small to prove anything of value to medical science in this particular connection, he added, but what he considered of importance was the fact that now, for the first time, the disease could be treated pathologically on a much wider plan than has heretofore been possible.

6 MONTHS OLD BABY Cured of DIARRHOEA

During the hot weather young children are very much subject to diarrhoea, in fact more so than adults, on account of the more delicate construction of their constitution. It behoves every mother to look after her children on the first sign of any looseness of the bowels, for if they do not some serious bowel trouble such as diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera infantum, cholera morbus, summer complaint, etc., is liable to follow, and they will, perhaps, lose their little one by not taking the precautions to check this looseness of the bowels by using Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Chas. Monck, Marlbank, Ont., writes: "When my little girl was about six months old she took a severe attack of diarrhoea. I tried castor oil, laudanum and other treatments, but they were of no use. A neighbor told me about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I tried it, and after giving my baby two doses I could see a great change for the better. I have always praised 'Dr. Fowler's' since then."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the original. See you get it when you ask for it.

Mrs. G. W. Hodge returned last evening from a visit to Weymouth, N. S.

The parish of Maugerville is undoubtedly the greatest vegetable growing district in New Brunswick, if not in eastern Canada. The surplus stock which the farmers of Maugerville and Sheffield could produce if conditions warranted it, would supply raw material for a good sized cannery.

Latest Style Creations

Including every new mode for critical trade, are now on display. The large hat, in a new variety of shapes, is very popular. Many of them trimmed in ostrich, which is a salient feature of the coming season.

Small hats greatly in evidence in new color blends, are shown in attractive array for the tailored suit, conspicuous among them being the Beretta and Jockey hat.
