

Slants Of Humor

A MOTORING FIZZLE.

His journey through the park
Was no romantic whirl.
The motor wouldn't spark
And neither would the girl.

NO PLACE FOR A MERE BOY

The business man had advertised for a boy. One likely applicant was accompanied by his mother.

"You think your son would make a good messenger?" asked the business man.

"I do," she replied. "Whatever Jim does he does quickly."

"Very well, I will test him," said the gentleman. "Here take this letter to the commercial bank and be back here in 20 minutes."

The mother laid a detaining hand on the boy's shoulder.

"Come along home, Jimmy," she said.

"It ain't a boy they want here, it's an angel."

TO BE SURE

"We are all supposed to take up a language in college. I think I'll take up the Runic."

"I never heard of that language."

"Why, my boy, you surprise me. Poe speaks of a Runic rhyme."

WAR NEWS

"The Kurds seem to have lost their initiative."

"Who captured that?"

MOONING AND SPOONING

A full moon is romantic.
But, sweethearts, be on guard,
Its gentle glow
Is apt to show
The hammock in the yard.

TOO LEAKY

It is difficult to be chatty while eating watermelon.

PISCATORIAL

A New Englander who is a great angler and whose fish stories are listened to most attentively by his 8-year-old son, recently became a father for the fifth time, another boy being brought by the stork.

The 8-year-old was told of the arrival of this new brother, and he was very curious to see him. The father took the first opportunity to gratify the lad's curiosity. The kiddie gazed at the bit of red humanity for quite a while, and then, with great gravity, he looked into his father's face and said:

"Dad, he'd make first-rate bait, wouldn't he?"

SOON DUE

It's gotta come, it's gotta come,
Ere we go very far
I'm sure we shall be hearing from
The $100 car.

A SECRET DIVULGED.

Dr. and Mrs. Bailey were entertaining a few friends.

"Yes, I think I really must get a motor car in the spring," said the host casually, during a lull in the conversation. "I haven't quite decided what make yet, but it's no use getting a cheap one, they're sometimes so unreliable. I suppose I can get a really serviceable little affair for $4500 or so."

While the company were still gasping at this casual mention of wealth, one lady turned to Bailey junior and remarked:

"I say, Tommy, your father's going to buy a motor car for you to ride in."

Eight-year-old Tommy turned gleefully to his parent.

"I say, dad," he asked, "will that funny looking man call every week for the money like he did last year when you bought the bicycle?"

Do all spinsters secretly hate old bachelors?

Flour goes up, sugar goes down—aw, they're just playin' see-saw.

WORLDLY WISDOM.

Conceited women are seldom jealous. Love and hate have good memories; indifference forgets.

Most people are good nurses when it comes to nursing animosity.

Like attracts like; an empty purse usually goes with an empty stomach.

If a girl knew how pretty she doesn't look when she cries, she wouldn't do it.

A pig has as much use for a tail as a man has for two buttons on the back of his frock coat.

If a man ever wishes he had been born a woman it is when he observes the foolish acts of other men.

Nothing is calculated to par a pretty girl like the masculine attentions bestowed upon another girl who is home-ly.

When a man has so much money that it troubles him he can easily find some one who is only too glad to share his troubles.

The average woman swallows flattery just as a baby swallows buttons—regardless of the trouble that may follow.
