HUGHES IS SILENT UPON POLITICS

Will Not Indicate at Present His Choice for Chairman of National Committee.

New York, June 14.—Chas. D. Hill's successor as chairman of the Republican National Committee will be selected, in all likelihood, at a conference here next Monday afternoon between Charles E. Hughes, the presidential nominee, W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts, chairman of the National sub-committee on organization, and as many of the other seven members of the sub-committee as can be present.

Arrangements for the conference were made late today by Mr. Crane. It also was announced that the manager of the Hughes campaign probably will be selected then, and that the personnel of the legislative committee will be discussed. The sub-committee is empowered to name the chairman and the legislative committee.

No announcement concerning the nominee's choice for national chairman or campaign manager has been made, and indications are that he will continue to consider names of available candidates at this meeting with the sub-committee.

In pursuance of his policy of refraining from discussion of political affairs for the present, Mr. Hughes declined tonight to say whether he had made a tentative choice. Mr. Crane also declined to comment on the situation.

The longest conference which Mr. Hughes held today was with George W. Wickersham, Attorney General in President Taft's cabinet, who will take an active part in the campaign management. Mr. Wickersham expects to keep in close touch with the nominee from now until election day, and probably will be among Mr. Hughes' close advisers.

A report that Mr. Wickersham might be chosen campaign manager was denied at headquarters.

The nominee went to the theatre tonight. It was the first evening since his arrival here, that he had not devoted to work. His present plans provide for departure from the city over Sunday, return here Monday to confer with the National sub-committee, and depart Monday night for Providence.

EAT MORE CANADIAN FRUIT

Ottawa, June 12.—Owing to certain trade restrictions, the export trade of Canada in 1916 is expected to be limited. This will mean that there will have to be an increased consumption of fruit in Canada, and the Canadian government, through the Fruit Commissioner's office of the Department of Agriculture, are endeavoring to interest all Canadians to aid one of our most important national industries.

The Grand Trunk system, through the medium of their dining cars and hotels, are co-operating with the government to this end, and on June 24th will be started a campaign to educate Canadians to follow the slogan "Eat more Canadian Fruit," this slogan being shown on all menu cards used by the Grand Trunk on their cars and in their hotels, and by calling attention to the Canadian fruits on these menus.

There is a capital of approximately $140,000,000 invested in the Canadian fruit industry, the Niagara peninsula, the greatest fruit district in Canada, producing 95 per cent. of the Canadian grapes and 95 per cent. of our home-grown peaches.

Pears, plums, cherries and small fruits are also grown extensively. Approximately 3,750 carloads of Ontario apples were marketed during the past season. Of this shipment 65 per cent. were carried over the Grand Trunk lines.

SPIRITED DEBATE ON SUBJECT OF CHURCH UNION

Eloquent Speakers Took Part in Important Debate at the Presbyterian General Assembly--Rev. Dr. Falconer Wanted Action Delayed Until After the War--A Strong Expression of Opinion From Other Speakers.

Winnipeg, June 14.—In the debate on church union at the Presbyterian General Assembly, being held in this city, a number of the denomination's most eloquent speakers took part yesterday.

It was a day replete with vigorous thought and language, largely devoid of personalities, but not wholly so. Westminster Church was crowded. In the various phases of the question analyzed by the speakers a note was struck repeatedly that suggests possible delay in reference to a very large minority in the actual effectiveness of union, but there is no suggestion of compromise with reference to the actual declaration of policy.

Urges a Delay.

This idea was emphasized by President Falconer, of Toronto, when he introduced an amendment to the formal resolution on union, which states that it is the irrevocable policy of the Presbyterian Church to unite with the Methodists and Congregationalists, but that the Assembly believes it inexpedient in this period of unrest to put union into effect, and that the Assembly will delay actual administration until after the war.

Dr. Robert Campbell, of Montreal, the leader of the minority, insisted in his address that the majority is trying to hurry the vote on union now, at this assembly, because the Methodists will not wait and that the minority in the Presbyterian Church is being coerced at the bidding of these alien forces. This note struck a responsive chord among the minority element, and was cheered.

Some sensational developments are hinted at as liable to develop before the actual voting begins, in the form of possible legal notice served on the Moderator to protect their rights as against the time when a law suit is expected to come up for trial looking to the division of the church property.

President Falconer Speaks.

Prof. Falconer defended his views very skillfully. Complimenting Dr. Scott for his able presentation of the minority's case, the speaker said he would have been better as an advocate of the Free Church of Scotland. His arguments were similar. For his part, he had always believed the church an organism adapting itself to circumstances. The minority is at best 20 per cent. of this Church.

Surely the vote of the majority of this Assembly constitutes the mind of the Church. That is where the Presbyterian Church is to be found, he continued, subject to the majority. The Assembly's vote is the supreme decision of the Church in Canada, although the minority is a very large minority.

Still, the assumption that all this minority will still be hostile, when union is adopted, the speaker thought an unfair assumption.

"Will that minority resist the regular constituted authority of the church, organized in an orderly way? I don't think so, in spite of the implied threats. There are no broken pledges in spite of the charge of the minority speakers. When this thing first came up it was merely a pious wish. It spread all over Canada. We met for conference. The steady progress of what union means is responsible for the feeling in favor of union today. There was no pledge at Edmonton that it would not be consummated until the desire was unanimous.

Klondyke Veteran Speaks.

Major John Pringle, like one of the prophets of old, the veteran of Klondyke days, stood up and looked over the Assembly, his grey hair bristling and his blue eyes flashing as if scenting the battle from afar. He wore the insignia of rank and his khaki was somewhat soiled as if but recently from the trenches.

"The people, I say, have been waiting for a leader. That is why so many have gone with the minority leaders. I attribute that largely to misrepresentations, intentional or otherwise, in the Presbyterian Record, and I think the editor has used his position to further his personal views."

The speaker was called to order by Walter Paul of Montreal, but continued. "I have heard a good deal about how the boys at the front feel about union, and that we should wait until they return. I know something of the front for I have been there for ten months. It is said there is sectarianism there, and there is, but it is the scorn of the men and a disgrace of both Catholics and Protestants. The men don't want it, but some ecclesiastics do. When the men come home they will have something different to say. It seems to be that on both sides there has been more or less discussion on the side, and unusual methods."

Dr. Campbell observed that he had been a minister of the Presbyterian Church for 62 years, and was the son of an elder. He gave place to no man in loyalty to Presbyterianism. He then read the preamble of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Grievous Departure.

"We hear phrases," said the speaker, "that we of the minority are not standing by that solemn covenant. I maintain we are, and we maintain that we as a Church must be bound by expressions of previous Assemblies. Are we the offenders because we defend the very basis on which the Presbyterian Church rests? Are the brethren in this hour absolved from their vows of that covenant of 1875? Are we to be regarded as offenders because we adhere to it? It is on those vows that members of this Assembly have their seats here at this moment."

"Is it not a tribute to Presbyterianism that we are being sought by the other churches, or theological training makes Presbyterians desirable for any church. I say this is a serious, a grievous departure from the faith of our fathers. That is the reason the minority vote is being increased—the people are getting some light shed on this thing. The constitution cannot be changed except by Biblical authority, and the advocates of union have shown us no authority in the Bible for this proposed change. Not one word of Scripture is in this basis of proposed union. All the great truths of which Presbyterianism is composed, and which we revere, are thus cast aside and made light of."

LOFTED BALL OUT OF GULLY RIGHT INTO CUP

Cincinnati, O., June 15.—Tom McCormick, professional at Avon field golf links, near Cincinnati, wore the broadest of Scotch smiles—the kind of smile that only a golf professional can wear when several of his players make remarkable scores. John Cassin won the honors for the freak feat of the day—he lofted a ball out of a gully one hundred feet into the cup, the ball dropped right into the hole, giving him three on a hole that is bogey in five. Other scores that reflect the improved condition of the municipal links were those of G. M. Clark and J. Burlingame, each doing the course in bogey.

A man may be able to argue with a woman, but it never does any good.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunates, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Dissolve one Bon-Opto tablet in 1/4 glass of water. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, or nearly so, or who wear glasses might never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given. The Valma Drug Co., of Toronto, will fill the above prescription by mail, if your druggist cannot.

A prominent City Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very valuable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations, I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family."
