

A SUFFERER FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE FOR TWO YEARS.

When the kidneys get ill the back gives out. But the back is not to blame. The ache comes from the kidneys, which lie under the small of the back.

Therefore, dull pain in the back, or sharp, quick twinges, are warnings of sick kidneys—warnings of kidney trouble. Plasters and liniments will not cure the bad back, for they cannot reach the kidneys which cause it.

Doan's Kidney Pills reach the kidneys themselves. They are a special kidney and bladder medicine. They heal the diseased surface of the kidneys and bladder, and help them to act freely and naturally.

Miss Mary A. Northrop, Cole's Island, N.B., writes: "I have been a sufferer from kidney trouble for two years. I tried quite a number of remedies, but they did me no good. My mother got me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills, and they did me so much good that I got the second one, and when I had taken that I was completely cured."

Doan's Kidney Pills, are the original kidney pills. See that our trade mark, "The Maple Leaf," is on every box. Price, 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25; at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

THE GLIMMER GLASS

WATCH FOR IT.

"The Black Box," one of the greatest of all serials, by E. Phillips Oppenheim, has been secured by the Daily Mail. The first instalment will appear next week. Watch out for it.

She did not stir, and he called again.

"Joy! What are you doing there?"

She kept her eyes staring toward the ocean, while Hammond reached the dike. "Are you hurt or anything?" he asked a second time.

"No," said Joy, without looking. He laughed with relief.

"Reach down your hand," he ordered. "Both hands. Come, jump—it isn't far."

With her face twisted aside towards the sea, she did as she was told, but once upon the sands she ran forward, straining to see into the spray. Hammond followed her.

"Come on Joy," he said. "I have bully news for you; it'll make you feel like an evening star."

She pulled away, still intent on the breakers.

"It's getting late," said Hammond. "We have dozens of things to see to before tomorrow."

"You haven't even asked," she said, "how I got to such a place."

"I asked if you were all right, and you said you were."

"But—oh, Will, Mr. Lorton"

"Lorton!" There was a savage note in the laugh he gave.

"Why should I ask about Lorton? Don't remind me of him. Suppose I hadn't followed you. Lorton's out there doing some stunts in the current. Some, Joy."

"Don't," she cried. "You shan't—you shan't say such things to me! He's good! He could have climbed up if he hadn't lifted me first. I could see him in the little boat, moving the oars, then he disappeared. Oh, Will!"

"His voice became softer, as he said, 'Come, Joy. I want to take you home.'"

"He helped me to the dike, and then he fell back."

Hammond, of an optimistic nature, believed that Lorton had reached land somewhere.

"You can't do any good by waiting. The wash of the water is toward the beach across the inlet, and he's there no doubt."

"Alive?" she demanded. "All safe and well?"

"Come to the car," coaxed Hammond. "I'll run around to the Other Beach and see."

She gave in without further protest. He had command of the situation now, and meant to keep it.

"Joy," he said presently, "I have the landiest news. The Major told me at dinner. We sail for Norway tomorrow, to be gone a year. My contract is all drawn up and signed. Tomorrow Joy, tomorrow."

"We're going," he went on, "That's the best of it. You and I, that makes 'we,' doesn't it?"

"He got the oars into his hands again. Oh, can't we go faster?"

Hammond swore silently, but said impatiently, "Listen to me, Joy. This is no joke. This is about the most important thing that has ever come to you and me. We are going to be married right away, and we sail at three. The Major fixed up the salary like a king."

There was no answer. They were making speed, Hammond had kept his gladness pent up, but nothing could prevent him from speaking now.

"The beauty of it all was I brought him to my terms," he laughed. "We needn't have worried so. You might just as well have taken the ring as I wanted you to. Anyway I have your promise."

They had reached the hotel now and he was shutting off his engine when Joy caught his arm.

"Don't," she ordered. "You promised we were going to the Other Beach."

Will's temper was sorely tried. "You don't really want to go," he argued. "Please do as I wish this time. You can be sure Lorton got ashore and is going home by now, or thawing out in some cheerful bar-room."

The girl threw off her wrappings and stepped down to the ground. She was faint and giddy.

"That's right," Will's voice reached her vaguely. "Come, we'll go inside."

Woman's Column:

FASHION JOTTINGS.

Coats are extremely simple this summer.

Nearly all the latest carriages fasten in the back.

Ribbon trimmings adorn the latest sport hats.

Short coats show some very alluring frilly chemisettes.

Single gardenias are seen now and then on hat brims.

Lace flouncings with headings are used on chiffon and silk garments.

Flannel blazer jackets are being made for street wear with serge skirts.

Mushroom, marshmallow and saucer shapes are among the favorite buttons.

A novel addition to the wardrobe is the tailored basque of white satin. It may be worn with a skirt of black tulle.

Hooded coats have linings of striped silk like peppermint candy. The hood turns completely inside out to show its lining.

Many neutral tones, browns and tans, are in evidence this season.

A GOOD FLOOR POLISH.

Here is a recipe which can be easily applied as floor polish, and will clean and renovate a suite of furniture.

The following is a good polish for either floors or furniture. Two ounces beeswax, one ounce white wax or wax candle, half pint turpentine, half pint of boiling water, one-half ounce white Castile soap. Shred the beeswax and white wax and put them into a watertight tin or jar with the turpentine. Leave for several days, stirring at intervals, until the wax is dissolved. Shred the soap and pour the boiling water over it, stirring till dissolved. Add the mixture to the beeswax and turpentine and beat well together until the mixture is white and creamy.

RECIPES WORTH TRYING.

Brown Corn Cakes—Scald one pint fine corn meal till all wet, then add cold water till a little thicker than griddle cakes. Add a pinch of salt. Brown in butter or salt pork fat on both sides, then put them in the oven, on the grate, for 15 minutes to become crisp.

Pineapple Pudding—Cut in small pieces 1 pound of marshmallows and 1 can pineapple, put in a deep dish a layer of marshmallows then a layer of pineapple, until the dish is filled; let stand in a cool place about 3 hours; serve with whipped cream.

Mountain Dew Pudding—One pint sweet milk, 1-2 cup sugar, yolks of 2 eggs, 2 tablespoonfuls grated coconut, 1-2 cup rolled crackers, 1 teaspoon extract lemon. Bake 1-2 hour. Frosting: Take the whites of 2 eggs and 1-2 a cup of sugar, sprinkle over with coconut.

Chocolate Oatmeal Cookies—Two thirds cup lard, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg 1-4 cup milk, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 teaspoon cream tartar mixed in milk, 3 heaping desert spoons cocoa, 1 1-2 cups ground oatmeal, enough flour to make cookies stiff enough to roll; oatmeal may be ground by putting through a food chopper.
