"With malice towards none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and his orphans, to do all which which may achieve and cherish a just and a lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."—Abraham Lincoln.

A TRIBUTE TO LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's great speech on the Government's proposal for the extension of the Parliamentary term, has emphasized once more the noble part which the Liberal leader has played in leading and inspiring the patriotism of the Canadian people, says the Halifax Chronicle. He has shown from the beginning that he realizes that this was a struggle which called for united effort, and that this was a time when the interests of party must be subservient to the interests of country and of civilization. His splendid patriotism has commanded the admiration of his strongest opponents. The Ottawa Journal, a Conservative organ, in a leading article on Tuesday, said:

Sir Wilfrid Laurier contributed to war-talk a phrase as epigrammatic as true when he said on Sunday at the Red Cross meeting in Ottawa that "there has been thus far only one complete victory in the war, namely, that of the British navy." The use of the sea has been made exclusive for Britain and her Allies, save in so far as Britain permits other use. All the other fighting hangs in the balance. On the sea there is no fighting. Murder is done occasionally by skulking submarines, just as burglars may occasionally operate despite an all-powerful police force; but fighting is done with.

The rest of Sir Wilfrid's speech was in keeping. And since the war began, all of the utterances of the Liberal leader have been worthy of the great patriot and statesman he is. The leader of the Opposition, not less than the Prime Minister, has been an inspiration to us all. Canadians of all parties may well, at this great moment of their history, feel proud of their chief spokesmen. Also, it is not matter merely for pride, but for confidence in the justice of our cause, that the heart and mind of Sir Wilfrid Laurier have been from first to last so strongly evident in the Allied behalf, his silver tongue so eloquent.

All Canadians will endorse these generous words of tribute. And so it is in the Old Country as at home. Sir Wilfrid's patriotism is everywhere recognized. A leading English journal, the other day, in commenting upon the election of Sir George Reid, formerly High Commissioner for Australia, to a seat in the British House of Commons, paid this genuine tribute to our Canadian leader when he said that "for years Sir George Reid has been one of the figures—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Joseph Ward are others—through whom the average Englishman has visualized the Empire."

Political friends and opponents alike sincerely sympathize with Premier Clarke in his present illness. The Premier, never a robust man, has gone through enough during the past two years to break down a constitution of iron. When he succeeded Mr. J. K. Fleming as Premier he found matters in a chaotic state, and even though he may have tried hard to do so, he has not been able to bring about any improvement. Those who enjoy the Premier's confidence do not hesitate to say that he is heartily sick of the job, and would welcome a change. The Premier has never been popular with a vicious element in the party which flourished when Fleming was in control of affairs, and they have not done very much to smooth his pathway. This element for some time past has been booming Hon. J. A. Murray, Minister of Agriculture, for the Premiership. While Mr. Murray has many excellent qualities, it must not be forgotten that it was in his department that the patriotic potato steal was pulled off.

The St. John Standard quotes approvingly an article from the Ottawa Journal which states that "no German has any decent claim to liberty at present in this country, let alone treatment which leaves fewer livelihoods for Canadians. It is said that thirty-eight Germans have been killed in the Canadian ranks. If this be true, there have been thirty-eight too many Germans in the Canadian ranks. There should be no such chance for spies in our army." The Standard might do well to question the wisdom of a Canadian cabinet minister employing a German Canadian as his private secretary."

Some important changes in the judiciary of New Brunswick are likely to occur within the next few months. Chief Justice McLeod of the Supreme Court will complete twenty years of service on the bench in May next, and will be entitled to retire on full salary. He is not in the enjoyment of robust health and it is no secret that he intends to retire just as soon as he completes the twenty year term of service. It is also reported on good authority that Chief Justice Landry of the King's Bench, has decided to retire during the present year. The Chief Justice was appointed to the Bench in September, 1893, and is therefore the senior Judge. The names of Hon. J. D. Hazen, Premier Clarke, W. B. Chandler, K. C., and M. G. Teed, K. C., are mentioned in connection with the vacancies soon to occur.

Wednesday of next week (Dollar Day) promises to be one of the greatest shopping days that Fredericton has known in many years. Some forty of the city's retail houses are co-operating in the matter, and there will be some astonishing bargains, genuine eye-openers, offered on that day. Our friends in the country districts should make a special effort to spend next Wednesday in Fredericton. Besides getting unheard of bargains in all lines of goods, they will be able to see the boys in khaki who are to leave soon on overseas service.

ON THE SIDE.

Possibly one reason for that advance in the price of men's shoes is the fur that has to be sewn on women's shoes.

England may be, as stated in London, using too much sugar, but the Germans have not noticed it.

Every time the mercury descends the householder burns coal contentedly because he thinks the price of ice will be lower next summer.

Kansas City's street railway company, which had to pay a young woman $500 because one of its conductors kissed her, must feel a good deal like the indorser who has to pay another man's note.

The ultimate consumer can't complain that he isn't being warned beforehand that in the settlement of the anthracite workers' demands he will get it in the same old place—the neck.

February Number Of Normal Light

The February number of the Normal Light, a monthly publication issued by the students of the Provincial Normal School, was issued yesterday. It is a very interesting number and reflects much credit upon the students. It contains a group half-tone of the football team and also a half-tone of the late Miss Mabel Addy, the student who passed away during the Christmas holidays. There are several good articles on the war and an original poem or two. The work of the societies and athletic teams is reviewed and there is the usual budget of "Personalities" and "Normal Lightness."

The staff of The Normal Light is composed of the following:
Senior Editors—W. T. Ross Fleming, Miss Margaret Baird.
Assistant Editors—Kathleen Lundy, Frances Logan, Annie Lockhart, Miriam Mahoney, Daisy Rogers, Leona Tracy, A. Lee Fraser.
Managing Committee—Christina M. Belyea, Jessie McAllister, Nellie Finnigan, Esther Welsford, H. H. Trimble, Fred M. Crocker.

MRS. MURRAY McLEARN'S INTERESTING TALK

England in War Time Described by Wife of Overseas Medical Officer.

There was a large audience of ladies at the Normal School yesterday afternoon to hear Mrs. Murray McLaren's instructive and most interesting paper on England in War Time. Mrs. McLaren literally took her audience with her on her trip, explaining much that was new of the work in the various hospitals and telling of the specially fine work done in the Canadian hospitals. It was interesting to note that a New Brunswick was the first to occupy a New Brunswick bed.

Lady Ashburnham occupied the chair and supplemented Mrs. McLaren's remarks complimentary to the good work of the Canadians, the fine equipment of their hospitals, etc., from information received from Lord Knutsford, one of the hospital inspectors.

A vote of thanks was moved by Miss Elizabeth Robinson Scovil and seconded by Mrs. Greer and unanimously carried.

DID ROOSTER WALK 88 MILES?

Port Jervis, N. Y., Feb. 12.—Edward and Albert Monroe, who have a large poultry farm near this city, recently exhibited some Plymouth Rock fowl at the poultry show in Madison Square Garden, New York City, where one of the roosters won first prize.

When the birds were crated the prize rooster escaped. This morning the Monroe brothers were amazed to find the missing prize winner in the yard. His feet were swollen and calloused, and he was weak.

Port Jervis is 88 miles from New York.

WEDDING AT PENOBSCUIS.

On Tuesday evening, February 1st, the United Baptist church at Penobscuis was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Helena M. Currie was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert H. Currie of Currietown. The ceremony was performed by her father, Rev. A. W. Currie, assisted by Rev. C. J. Stevens. The bride was given away by her cousin, Corporal Harold S. Parent of the 104th Battalion, Sussex, and was becomingly gowned in white messaline and wore bridal veil and orange blossoms. Miss Dora Seymore, a cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and was powdered in lavender silk messaline with picture hat. The bride's bouquet was of white carnations. Miss Jennie Currie, sister of the bride, played the wedding march and the choir sang, "The Voice that Breathed O'er Eden." The bridal party were conveyed to and from the church in an auto. After the ceremony a bountiful repast was served and sky rockets took the place of the time-honored charivari. The groom's present to the bride was a substantial cheque and to the bridesmaid a pearl ring. The bride and the groom were the recipients of many beautiful presents, including cut glass and silver. The church was beautifully decorated with evergreen, white carnations and potted plants by the Anti-Cants S.S. Class, of which the bride is a member.
