

THE OPPOSITION FORCES CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Lively Campaign in Westmorland Drawing to a Close--Mr. Carvell Given Great Reception at Sackville--Joint Meeting Being Held at Moncton This Afternoon.

Moncton, May 26.—In spite of the bad weather this evening there are plenty of Opposition meetings, well attended, throughout the county, in both the English and French districts. The event of the campaign was the magnificent reception and the grand meeting given last evening to F. B. Carvell and the candidate and P. J. Veniot in that supposed stronghold of the Government party, the town of Sackville. Today the candidate and A. B. Copp, M.P., are touring the Sackville district, meeting the electors, and telephone advices received from them say that they have had a surprisingly cordial reception. That is the story from everywhere, and has been the tale brought in by canvassers and everyone interested in the Opposition success since the campaign was fairly opened.

A Tremendous Sensation.

The disclosures made this morning as to the collection of that huge corruption fund by the former Premier of this Government, apparently with the knowledge of his associates in the ruling ring, has created a tremendous sensation not only here, but wherever the story was circulated—in every corner of Westmorland county.

What was revealed by the royal commission was bad enough; but to have so much additional told so frankly by a man who was his colleague in 1912, and for two years later, has astonished and disgusted many of the honest, straightforward men who thought that Flemming and his Government could do no wrong.

A. B. Copp took occasion to laugh heartily at the Standard's absurd statement that he conceded the election of Mr. Mahoney. He denied absolutely ever having made such a statement, or since he went into the campaign of having a thought that it was possible for Dr. Smith to be defeated. He has met with too many cordial receptions in different parts of the county. His experience assists him to make a careful survey of public opinion, and he has said again and again that never in his experience has there been so much outspoken condemnation of what has been done and so much determination to fight for what is right.

The education of the honest elector of Westmorland on political matters has been rapid in these ten days. Many of them had a pretty fair idea of the misdeeds of this government, but their attention had not been forcibly called to many phases of their discreditable governmental acts until the campaign speakers made their addresses.

A Joint Meeting.

Tomorrow the events of the day will be two meetings by F. B. Carvell, one an open-air gathering in Moncton, to which he invited B. Frank Smith, who has expressed his intention at last of accepting the invitation and taking an hour of the meeting. Mr. Carvell will speak first; Mr. Smith will follow him, and Mr. Carvell will reply. L. A. Dugal will also address the gathering in French after both of these speakers are through.

Mr. Carvell also speaks at Port Elgin, in the easternmost part of the county, and he will be accompanied by Hon. C. W. Robinson and others.

There are several other meetings for the wind-up of the campaign in the matter of public speaking. It is not likely that there will be any public meetings on Monday evening unless there is a special wish from some section for addresses.

There is no boasting on the part of the opposition. They feel that they have tremendous forces to fight, but their confidence is not shaken that the voters will do the right thing in spite of the corrupt influences that are now appearing in all parts of the county. Advices from every section show that liquor has been shipped in large quantities to Government workers and the purpose for which it has been obtained is well known. Several of the Government people have already boasted that they propose to elect P. G. Mahoney, no matter what the cost is, and if they do so, to hold the remaining by-elections in New Brunswick at once.

The Opposition, on the contrary, do not propose to run anything but a clean election. The executive of the Provincial Association has determined that graft shall not be fought with graft, that elections will be lost rather than be won with money and rum; that no attempt will be made to prevail upon the people to sell their franchise which the present Government has taught them means dissipating and squandering the resources of this small province.

Slants Of Humor

TOLD HIM HOW.

A minister who lives in a small town is noted for his sententiousness both in and out of the pulpit. As he was coming down the street one day a man accosted him with:

"Sir, can you tell me how to find the sheriff's office?"

"Yes, sir," was the instant reply. "Every time you earn five dollars, spend ten."

And he walked on, leaving the astonished man gazing after him.

O, fairest May—upon my soul, Put on another hod of coal! How fair you are, and, oh, how sweet We think we've frozen both our feet.

CABBAGE PLANTS NEED PLENTY OF ROOM

(By Prof. A. Spade)

As a general rule the kitchen garden is too small for cabbage, which requires lots of room. But if you want them and have the space, you might as well have early cabbage, which is higher priced than the late cabbage.

Soil must be light, rich and well-drained. Buy a dozen or so plants and set them out as soon as you have spaded your garden, taking care to give each plant plenty of room, for cabbage will not be crowded. Set plants deeply about two feet apart in rows three feet apart.

Cover plants with earth if cold snap comes up, taking off the dirt as soon as warmer weather is assured. Make use of the hoe as soon as the plants commence their growth and repeat every week until the crop is grown; keeping the ground free of weeds and the top soil well mulched, and draw the soil toward the plant.

Use soil after the cabbage is headed for late beans, spinach or celery.

Seed for late cabbage may be sown in May for a September harvest.

LITTLE WORRIES IN THE HOME

It is These That Bring Wrinkles and Make Women Look Prematurely Old.

Almost every woman at the head of a home meets daily many little worries in her household affairs. They may be too small to notice an hour afterwards, but it is these same constant little worries that affect the blood and nerves and make woman look prematurely old. Their effect may be noticed in sick or nervous headaches, fickle appetite, pain in the back or side, sallow complexion and the coming of wrinkles, which every woman dreads. To those thus afflicted Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer a speedy and certain cure; a restoration of color to the cheeks, brightness to the eye, a hearty appetite and a sense of freedom from weariness.

Among the thousands of Canadian women who have found new health through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mrs. N. Worrall, Broughdale, Ont., who says:—"After the birth of my second child I was so weak and run down that I was unable to do anything. The doctor said that I had scarcely any blood in my body. I could not walk half a block without being completely exhausted and all the treatment of the doctor did not seem to help me. I called in another doctor, but with no better result! My feet and legs became frightfully swollen. I suffered with severe pains in my back and sides. I would be all day dragging around at my household work and I was beginning to give up all hope of recovery. I had been urged to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but like many others, thought they could not help me when doctors had failed to do so, but after much urging I decided to try them. To my surprise in a few weeks I found myself getting better. I then gladly continued their use and found myself constantly growing stronger, and eventually able to do my house work without fatigue. I strongly advise every weak woman to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HELP FOR MRS. NEWLYWED.

"I wish you would tell me how to clean the gilt frame of this picture. It is all fly-specked and grimy," complained Mrs. Newlywed.

"Sponge it with oil of turpentine or spirits of wine, leave it to dry, and not wipe it," answered Mrs. Neighbor.

The Printing and Publicity Specialist Talks To His Son

"Say, John, I feel quite sick today," said Mr. Blank. "Please visit the different doctors in town, and find out who will cure me for the least money. Get your quotations tabulated and then let me see them. Of course we will engage the doctor who charges the least."

"Why, I never heard of such a thing," said John. "The idea of getting quotations from a doctor; it's the asylum for you."

"Well now, why not? I am a specialist in printing and publicity. I study my business just as carefully as any doctor can do. If I do say it that shouldn't, I have just as much brains as the average doctor. I strive to give my customers the benefit of my knowledge, my artistic skill and judgement and my ideas on publicity. I give service as the term is understood in the Twentieth Century."

"When some people around here have a little printing to be done, they visit all the printing offices, get quotations from each one, and then give the work to the man who gives the lowest figures."

"The ordinary user of printing knows his own business, but he is no more a judge of the work of printing than he is a judge of what sort of medicine a doctor should give him for the cure of his ailment. If people ask me for quotations and pass me by if my price happens to be a little more than the other fellow, why shouldn't I apply the same method to the doctor, lawyer, dentist and painter? Why not? It's a mighty poor rule that won't work more than one way."
