WOMAN'S COLUMN

THE JELLY SEASON.

Jelly Tests.

To determine whether the boiled fruit juice and sugar have reached the jelling point, take up a spoonful of the juice on a chilled spoon. If it hardens quickly, the juice is ready to turn into the sterilized molds.

Or drop a spoonful of the hot juice onto a cold plate. It is ready to "jell" if it forms a small sheet.

Or let the juice drip from the spoon; if it has reached the perfect stage it will break off in delicate threads.

Mixed Jellies.

Combinations of fruits are made for the purpose of mixing pectin and fruit acids in jelly making proportions. Among those which have been tested and proved are equal parts of raspberries and currants, plums and crab-apples, raspberry juice and apple juice; apple and cranberry juice, and pineapple and grape juice.

Grape Jelly.

Take the grapes from stems and put into porcelain preserving kettle. Do not add water. Simmer until soft. Drain through jelly bag without pressure.

Allow one cup of sugar to each cup of juice. Heat the sugar in oven.

Bring strained grape juice to boiling point and boil five minutes skimming as required. Add the sugar and boil five minutes more or until test proves that the juice will jelly. Turn into glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

Tomato Jelly

Select tomatoes which are not over ripe. Cut in thick slices, and stew without water, in double boiler, until tender. Drain through jelly bag without squeezing. The pulp will spoil the color of the jelly.

To each quart of juice add juice and grated rind of one lemon. Boil 20 minutes, skim and strain, and mix the juice with equal measure of sugar or honey. Cook until the juice reaches the jelly stage, not more than five minutes, and turn into jelly glasses. If the tomatoes are quite ripe, boil them first time with peelings of tart apples.

Jelly Bags.

Some cooks use three bags for jelly straining, one made of a double fold of mosquito netting, another of cheese cloth and another of felt or flannel.

IRONING DAY.

Never put a hot iron on the back of the range unless you stand it on end or lay on its side, or it will otherwise collect any tiny particles of grease or stove black that it comes in contact with. Rub your iron vigorously before you put them on to heat with a piece of ordinary pumice slightly dampened. This not only removes all particles of dirt and rust, but polishes them and makes them iron smoothly.

PICKED UP EXPLOSIVE IN NEW YORK SUBWAY

New York, Sept. 13.—Brooklyn detectives, it was disclosed today, are investigating a reported plot to damage the property of the Interborough street railway with an explosive. A cylindrical package four inches by three inches in dimension, was found by one of the company's track walkers lying near the subway rails near the Borough Hall station in Brooklyn late last night. It contained, according to the Bureau of Combustibles, dynamite of the most powerful kind, generally used in undersea operations.

Officials regarded the explosive as so dangerous that they threw it into the East River.

FOREST CITY.

Harvesting Rather Slow—Schools Re-open—Sunday School Rally.

Forest City, Sept. 8.—Harvesting is not getting on very fast in this section, owing to so much wet weather.

Quite a number from this place attended the fair at Houlton, Me., last week.

School began here on August 28th under the management of Mr. Rae Gilpatrick, of Florenceville.

Miss Laura Mersereau, of Hoyt Station, who taught the Pemberton Ridge school last term, came back to re-open the school there on Aug. 28, but was taken ill with measles that day and forced to take a longer vacation. She began school on Wednesday of this week.

Basil Boone is digging the cellar for his new home a little distance north of the school house, on the same side of the road.

A baby boy arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Pray, on Sept. 1st.

A party from Howland, Me., spent Sunday with relatives in this place. They came by auto.

John Higgs is putting up a new barn on his premises.

A large number from this place attended the Sunday School rally at Fosterville on Tuesday of this week. A large number were present from other places also. Fosterville furnished free dinner and supper to the visiting Sunday schools. The services were good and the rally was reported to be a great success.

Nature paints things red in the fall and many a man is able to trace his own fall back to the time when he painted things red.

Hypocrites are men who think one way and lead you to believe they think another.

If a man is inclined to lead a fast life he should lead it to a hitching post and tie it.
