

BIG GAME IN NEW BRUNSWICK

In the summer season the Province of New Brunswick is a happy land, where the sunny hours speed away on the feet of delightful dreams. In the fall she is lovely in her rich dress of brown; and in the winter, when she is arrayed in her robe of virgin whiteness, she is fair and charming; and if she is then cold, her admirers do not feel that her chillness is a chillness of heart.

This favorite Canadian haunt is preeminently a land of the holiday-maker and sportsman. St. Andrews, where is situated the popular Canadian Pacific Algonquin Hotel, and many other seaside places are loved haunts of the bather and outdoor game player during the holiday season of June, July, August and September. No sooner have the summer holiday folks and fishermen left the province than the hunters of the big game take their places, for at the opening of the big game season large numbers of hunters of both sexes appear with their guns amidst the thick forests of the land. New Brunswick is one of the most popular of the Canadian provinces for big game hunting. Moose, caribou and deer are plentiful in this region.

A magnificent specimen of big game is the moose. When fully grown he weighs over 1,000 lbs. His massive antlers are long and generally average six feet in width. He may be found in twelve of the fifteen counties of the province. It is only the hunting folks and the wary guides who know how to hunt the moose. There is the "calling" done early in the season, and the "still hunting" done later on—in the cold weather. In September and October the moose is often surprised and shot wading in the lakes and rivers, feasting on the roots of water plants. While pursuing the moose, the hunter can distinguish between the tracks of the male and the female, for the male leaves round tracks and those of the female are somewhat pointed. Fredericton, Havelock, Newcastle, Bathurst, Campbellton and Perth are good starting points.

A graceful antlered monarch of New Brunswick is the caribou. He weighs about 600 lbs. on an average. It is a delightful sight to watch him stride at a walking rate, or trot, or gallop over the country. A full grown caribou stands from four and a half to five feet in height. Of this animal there are two varieties, the woodland and the barren ground species. The woodland is somewhat taller than the other and its color is darker about the body, but the horns are lighter. It is generally found in herds of about half a dozen. The barren ground caribou travels in large herds, and its coat is light. This kind is noted for its migratory habits. In New Brunswick the places where the hunters are likely to achieve the best results are North West Miramichi, Restigouche, Upsalquitch, Nepisiguit, and Tobique Rivers. The starting points for these areas are Newcastle, Campbellton, Bathurst, Chatham and Perth, all of which are reached by the Edmundston Branch of the Canadian Pacific.

There are few localities in New Brunswick where a deer may not be located. Like the moose and the caribou he gives those who follow him an interesting and pleasant sport.

Sportsmen desirous of hunting the big game of New Brunswick may secure good accommodation at the homes of their guides. Good hotels and boarding houses are also available.

The season for the hunting of the moose, caribou, and deer opens on September 15th and continues to November 30th. Shooting on Sunday is prohibited by law. Non-resident hunters must be accompanied by a licensed guide. The license to kill one bull moose, one bull caribou, and two deer costs a bona fide resident of the province $3 and a non-resident $50. Hunting with hounds is forbidden.

This year the opening of the big game season was marked by the exhibition for sale on the St. John market of moose and deer meat. In recent times there has been a considerable reduction in the number of males amongst the larger New Brunswick game, and the people are becoming alive to the necessity for being more careful. Indiscriminate shooting is being checked to some extent at all events, and it has been suggested that the sale of the meat of big game on the markets should be stopped to discourage the hunter who hunts for the purpose of making money.

true, although the amount of the increase claimed by the manufacturers was questioned, there being testimony to the effect that in some sections of the pulp country, at least, farmers were having difficulty in disposing of their pulp wood, even at as good prices as prevailed a few years ago.

It was recognized that the really dangerous elements in the situation are the shortage in the United States and the apparent unity of purpose of the paper manufacturers and determination to insist upon radically higher prices.

SOME GREAT FOREST FIRES OF HISTORY

The Northern Ontario forest fire of July 29th last takes rank as the third most serious fire catastrophe in the history of this continent. The Hinckley fire in Minnesota, 1894, was responsible for 418 lives and the burning over of 160,000 acres. The famous Peshtigo fire in Wisconsin in 1871 killed 1,500, and devastated 1,200,000 acres of timber.

In 1825 occurred the Miramichi fire of New Brunswick and Maine, with a loss of 160 lives, six towns, 1,000 head of cattle and damage of 3,000,000 acres of forest.

The Clay Belt fire in Ontario, with 262 lives lost and 800,000 acres swept, takes its place with the great disasters of history. The Porcupine fire in 1911 killed 84 persons.

It is noteworthy that Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maine and New Brunswick have taken comprehensive measures to prevent further disasters by organizing their forest patrol systems on modern lines, building trails, lookout towers, telephones, etc., as well as carefully supervising settlers' clearing fires—one of the worst sources of danger.

Ontario, which has given the continent its two most recent fire catastrophes, has made no such move to modernize her forest guarding system.
