GERMAN PIRATES APPEAR OFF NEW ENGLAND COAST

Four British and Two Neutral Steamers Sent to the Bottom---Passengers and Crews Were Rescued---Submarine U-53 Made a Brief Call a Newport---German Frightfulness Extended to This Side of The Atlantic.

Boston, Oct. 8.—The submarine arm of the German navy ravaged shipping off the eastern coast of the United States today. Four British, one Dutch and one Norwegian steamer were sent to the bottom, or left crippled derelict off Nantucket Shoals.

Tonight, the destroyer flotilla of the United States Atlantic fleet was picking up passengers and crews of the destroyed vessels and bringing them into Newport R. I. So far as known there was no loss of life.

A submarine held up the American teamer Kansan, bound from New York for Genoa, with steel for the Italian government, but later, on establishing her identity, allowed the American to proceed. The Kansan came into Boston harbor late tonight for her usual call here.

Possibly Two Submarines.

The hostile submarine is believed to be the U-53, which paid a call to Newport yesterday and disappeared at sunset. Some naval men, however, le-clare that at least two submarines are operating close to the American shore, outside the three mile limit. The record of submarine warring as brought to land by wireless, follows:

The steamer Strathdene, a British freighter, torpedoed and sunk off Nantucket. Crew taken aboard Nantucket Shoals Lightship, and later removed to Newport. The vessel left New York yesterday for Bordeaux and was attacked at 6 a. m.

The West Point, a British freighter, torpedoed and sunk off Nantucket.
The crew abandoned the vessel in small boats after a warning shot from the submarine's guns, and officers and men were taken aboard a destroyer.
The vessel was attacked at 10.45 a. m.
She was bound from London for Newport News.

The Stephano, a British passenger liner, plying regularly between New York and St. Johns, Nfld., torpedoed southeast of Nantucket, while bound for New York. Reported still afloat late tonight. Passengers and crew, numbering about 140, were picked up by the destroyer Drayton, and brought to Newport. The attack was at 4.30 p. m.

The Kingston, a British freighter, torpedoed and sunk southeast of Nantucket. Destroyer searching for crew.
This vessel is not accounted for in the maritime registers and may be the Kingsonian. The attack was at 6 p. m.
The Bloomersdijk, a Dutch freighter, torpedoed and sunk south of Nantucket. Crew taken aboard a destroyer.
The steamer was bound from New York for Rotterdam, having sailed last night. Carried grain for Holland only and destruction may lead to international complications.

The Christian Knudsen, a Norwegian freighter, torpedoed and sunk near the Bloomersdijk. Crew picked up by des-troysers. The vessel sailed from New York Saturday for London.

Directly in Steamer Lane.

The sensation created yesterday when the U-53 quietly slipped into Newport harbor and as quietly slipped away, three hours later, was less than the shock in shipping circles when wireless reports of submarine attacks began to come in to the naval radio stations. Within a few minutes the air was literally charged with electricity as wireless messages of warning shot up and down the coast.

The submarine or submarines had taken a position directly in the steamer lanes, where they could hardly miss anything bound in for New York or bound east from that port.

Vessels of allied nations and others carrying contraband of war scurried to get within the three-mile limit of the American shore.

The Stephano, of the Red Cross line, was perhaps the biggest prize of the day. The craft had been sold to the Russian government and would have been used as an ice-breaker after her present trip.

OFF FOR THE WEST.

Rev. A. F. Newcomb Takes His Departure for Brandon, Man.

Rev. A. F. Newcomb, who has been called to Brandon, Man., to assume the pastorate of one of the largest Baptist churches in the West, took his departure by the 5.50 train last evening.

A large number of friends were at the depot to say good-bye, and quite a number accompanied him to the Junction to say farewell to Mrs. Newcomb and their son, Master Frederick New-comb, who were passengers on the C.
P. R. express from Halifax.

Rev. Mr. Newcomb preached his farewell sermons at the Brunswick Street Baptist Church on Sunday to very large congregations. In a few introductory remarks he heartily thanked his friends for many kindnesses extended to him during his three years pastorate. The Rev. Mr. Newcomb and family carry with them to their new home in the west the best wishes of all classes of citizens.

Mrs. McRobie, of Vancouver, and daughter, are visiting Mrs. W. S.
Thomas.
