PREMIER BORDEN'S APPEAL TO THE MEN OF CANADA

needs the time has come for this appeal.

Notwithstanding the success of the Allied forces in various theatres during the past summer, there is reason to know that the enemy is still strong and determined. A mightier effort than may be imagined is necessary to procure a conclusive victory. This war must have so decisive a result that lasting peace can be secured. We are fighting not for a truce, but for victory.

In all mechanical appliances which have played so great a part in this war, the Allied nations have almost if not quite overtaken the enemy's standard of preparation.

Therefore the result will depend on the organization of the man power of the Allied nations. Canada must be strong and resolute in that great endeavor.

Our strength can be most effectively thrown into this conflict by utilizing, in all our national activities for sustaining the agricultural, industrial and commercial stability of Canada, those who, through age or by reason of physical condition, are not available for service at the front to the end that we may place in the battle line the greatest possible proportion of those fit for military service.

With this in view, the government has asked the director general and the director of national service to undertake duties of the highest importance and urgency. It is imperative that the men and women of Canada, individually and throughout their various organizations, shall serve the nation in those capacities in which their services may be of the most value. Thus it is the earnest duty of the Canadian people to join with the government in organizing the full power of the nation in terms of human energy.

Under responsibilities with which I am invested and in the name of the state which we are all bound to serve, it is my duty to appeal and I do now appeal most earnestly to the people of Canada that they assist and co-operate with the government and the directors of national service in the endeavor for this purpose.

To men of military age I make the appeal that they place themselves at the service of the state for military duty. To all others I make the appeal that they place themselves freely at the disposition of their country for such service as they are deemed best fitted to perform.

And to the women of Canada, whose spirit has been so inspiring in this hour of devotion and sacrifice, I bid God speed in the manifold works of beneficence in which they are now engaged, and I pray them to aid still more in every field of national service for which they may feel themselves fitted.

Let us never forget the solemn truth that the nation is not constituted of the living alone. There are those as well who have passed away and those yet to be born. So this great responsibility to us as heirs of the past and trustees of the future. But with that responsibility there has come something greater still, the opportunity of proving ourselves worthy of it, and I pray that this may not be lost.

TROUBLE OVER BARN- STORMING GAMES

Baseball Players Fraternity Protest
Against Fines Imposed on Members of the Red Sox.

New York, Oct. 24.—The reports from American League headquarters to the effect that the members of the Boston Red Sox, world's champions, and other players enrolled in the league may be fined for participating in so-called barn-storming games after the close of the regular season, has brought forth a vigorous protest from the baseball players fraternity.

President David L. Fultz stated here today that the fraternity cannot recognize the right of organized baseball to fine its members for such an offence, and further pointed out that players were acting well within their legal rights in taking part in such games.

President Toner, of the National League takes issue with the Fultz. Mr. Toner said that in each contract signed by the players there is a clause in which the players agree not to play after the season without the consent of the commission.

This clause was inserted, he said, to protect territorial rights of the different clubs.

POTATO PROSPECTS VERY SMALL

And the Germans Must Eat Them
Skins and All.

London, Oct. 24.—A Reuter despatch from Copenhagen says:

"The Burgomaster of Eckernforde, Schleswig Holstein, publishes an urgent order against the peeling of potatoes. The order says the prospects of obtaining potatoes in the future are exceedingly small, and that despite official control it is probable that only a couple of pounds weekly per head will be obtainable. Anyone discovered peeling potatoes before boiling them, or throwing away peelings, will be punished by three months' imprisonment or a fine of 1500 marks."

$4000 SPECIAL CARRIES GOAT AND PET PONY

Chartered by Summer Colonists to Protect Children and Their Pets
From Paralysis Germs.

(Boston Record.)

With a menagerie aboard which includes several ambassadors, a $500 Angora, a blue-blooded blood hound, a valuable white terrier and Mrs. Joseph Leiter's famous Shetland pony, the $4,000 "Paralysis Special," chartered by North Shore summer colonists, is due in Washington.

The special was chartered by several wealthy vacationists in order that their children and pets might not be subjected to paralysis germs on their trip back home after the season spent up around Beverly Farms. The special was a veritable sanitarium on wheels. Everything on board was strictly hygienic. There were sanitary drinking cups, sanitary towels, sanitary dishes, and only the purest brands of drinking water.

Equal care was taken of the menagerie. In fact the whole thing was carried so far that the only thing which could have imperilled the health of man or beast about this exclusive train was a train wreck.

The attention paid the pony and the bloodhound was enough to make some of the counts and barons back in the Pullmans writhe with envy. It is not for the porters they would probably have been overlooked along with Salem Willows, West Everett and East Somerville on their way back to their own sanitary homes. At any rate, if anyone ever got their goat it never got as much attention as did the $500 beauty in the baggage coach ahead.

London, Oct. 24.—The text of an Admiralty announcement made today is as follows:

KITCHENER

(Charles Twining, in University Magazine, Montreal, for October.)

Him, if not England's wisest, then her best,
Who, when her hour supreme of fate did dawn
Could summon soul of oak, and ash, and thorn,
Framing her human bulwark, that the test
Does find each son at arms—to God the rest!
His shoulder from its Atlas load is torn,
Him now beside the mantling seas we mourn;
Ah, how at last we miss his stern behest!
But Fate, inscrutable, did cry, "Enough!
If hap some human hold out measure his
Ere long our vaunted power but fable is;
We build our Prospero of mortal stuff.
Hearken, ye floods! does the sea have room
To rest the heart of Kitchener of Khartoum?"
