OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

NUTS—THE EDIBLE KIND.

The season of new nuts is here again and so the cook can turn to a source of much interest for food dishes for any day of the week.

Nut sandwiches are, perhaps, one of the best of all nut dainties. For these, nuts of any sort can be used, and they can be prepared in many ways. Best of all are just chopped nut meats, salted and added to the butter spread on slices of thin white and whole wheat bread.

Nuts are equally useful for salads. They can, as everybody in this wide world must know by this time, be combined with apple and celery in what is known as Waldorf salad. They can also be mixed with orange pulp and served with French dressing. And almond meat can be used to garnish almost any sort of meat or vegetable salad.

In cake nuts are equally good. Chocolate loaf cake can be iced with white icing and decorated with pecan or walnut meats. And any layer cake can be put together with white icing thickly mixed with chopped nut meats.

Nut cookies made in this way are very good with tea: Beat two scant teaspoonfuls of baking soda into a cupful of molasses. Then a cupful of sour milk, a tablespoonful of salt and two teaspoonfuls of ginger, half a cupful of butter, melted, and flour that will make a mixture that will drop from the spoon. Chill thoroughly, roll to a fourth of an inch in thickness, and cut. Place two half pecans on each cookie and bake.

Nuts can be added to plain vanilla ice cream, either of the custard sort or raw milk and cream, to make a more elaborate sort of dessert. Chop pecans fine and add about a cupful of them to a quart.

The millenium will be due when women are paid wages that will enable them to support husbands as they should be supported.

Children Thrive on Grape-Nuts

This delicious food is made from whole wheat and malted barley—scientifically baked many hours to a high degree of digestibility.

It provides, in concentrated form, the elements of nourishment so necessary for building active, growing bodies and brains, and the kiddies really like Grape-Nuts—they need no urging.

Every table should have its daily ration of Grape-Nuts.

Head of firm—"How long do you want to be away on your wedding trip?"
"Hawkins (timidly)—"Well, sir—er—what would you say?"
"How do I know? I haven't seen the bride."

A POOR BORROWER

When I go out to borrow
My credit isn't good.
Quite plainly, to my sorrow,
They make that understood.

If I should borrow trouble
No doubt some heart of stone
Would make me put up double
The value of the loan.

Irish Pat got a job in France as a railway porter. Pat could not remember the French names, but the station master promised to help him. However, when the first express train came dashing into the station Pat became so excited that he even forgot the name of the station he was at and roared out:
"Here ye are for where yer goin', an' ye in, therefore come out."

A negro died without medical attendance and the coroner went to investigate.
"Did Samuel Williams live here?" he asked the weeping woman who answered the door.
"Yessah," she replied between sobs.
"May I see the remains?" asked the coroner.
"I is de remains," she answered proudly.

HELPING THE GAME ALONG.

The midnight stillness of the darkened parlor was punctuated by a crash just overhead.
"Wha-wha-what was that dud-dud-dud-dud?" exclaimed the timid young man.
"Merely father dropping a hint," she replied, as she snuggled a little closer.

Manual—Are you going to work this summer?
Labor—Sure. I'll have to put in eight hours a day.
Manual—Doing what?
Labor—Looking for a job.

COMMITTED

Wife—You believe in being prepared, don't you?
Husband—I certainly do.
Wife—Then I know you'll approve of my getting my complete outfit for summer before the hot weather sets in.

HIS WIFE'S PORTRAIT.

The Husband—It promises well.
Artist—Yes! It will be a speaking likeness.
The Husband—Er—perhaps you'd better tone it down just a little.

THAT GENTLE HINT

The hour was late, but the young man still lingered. Suddenly a stern voice came from the head of the stairs: "Daughter, would you mind bringing me the morning paper?"

MANITOBA MILLIONAIRE GOES TO PENITENTIARY

pare for his trial.
J. B. Coyne, K. C., in moving for sentence, urged the advisability of a substantial fine being imposed, as well as a prison term, to make of the case a proper deterrent for others.

About a Million Dollars Stolen.
Mr. Coyne declared that in the neighborhood of a million dollars had been stolen. He called attention to the widespread nature of the conspiracy, to "the trail of crimes" which marked its progress, to the "corruption of officers of the Government," "perjuries" and "bad workmanship" on the building. He said three years was entirely inadequate for the purpose of deterring others from similar offences. Coyne advised imposing also "a large fine," which would deter others and reimburse the province in part for expenses incurred.

Edward Anderson, K. C., speaking on behalf of Kelly, declared that the contractor was "the victim of a system" of long standing, for which society at large was responsible; a system which had been "tolerated and approved," he said, by a large section of the public, of providing campaign funds for the political parties out of Government contracts. He urged that Kelly be released on suspended sentence, spoke of the "implicability" of the Crown throughout the case, and closed his remarks with an appeal for mercy, speaking of the suffering already borne by Kelly and of the "ignominy and disgrace" which would fall on his family through a prison term.

You may dislike taking medicines—but coughs are best cured without medicine. The modern treatment is "Catarrhazone." It isn't a drug—it's a healing vapor full of pine essences and healing balsams. It dealers sell Catarrhazone, large size which lasts two months price $1.00;

Strength of will never kept a man from falling in love, any more than a strong constitution kept him from catching a fever.
