OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

CONSTANT WORRY IS FATAL.

Worry injures beyond repair certain cells of the brain. The brain being the nutritive centre of the body, the other organs become gradually injured, and when some diseases of these organs or a combination of them arise, death finally ensues. Thus worry kills.

It creeps upon the brain in the form of a single constant idea. As dropping of water over a period of years will wear a groove in the stone, so does worry gradually, imperceptibly, and no less surely destroy the brain cells that lead all the rest of the commanding officers of mental power, health and motion. Worry, to make the theory till stronger, is an irritant at certain points, which produces little harm if it comes at intervals or irregularly.

Occasional worryment the brain can cope with, but the iteration and the reiteration of one idea of a disquieting sort the cells of the brain are not proof against.

It is as if the skull were laid bare and the surface of the brain struck lightly with a hammer every few seconds with mechanical precision, with never a sign of a stop or the failure of a stroke. Just in this way does the annoying idea, the maddening thought strike or fall upon certain nerve cells. Never ceasing it diminishes the vitality of the delicate organisms that are so minute that they can only be seen under the microscope.

STUFFED CABBAGE.

Cut out the stalk end of a head of cabbage, leaving a hollow shell. Chop 2 pounds of uncooked meat (beef), with a slice of bacon and onion; add one cup of breadcrumbs soaked and wrung dry, 1 beaten egg, salt, pepper and mace. Shape into balls, arrange in the cabbage, add strips of sweet pepper and steam until the cabbage is tender. Serve with tomato sauce. Cooked meat may be used by adding more eggs—whole eggs or the whites to hold the meat together.

Slants of Humor

A PEDESTRIAN'S PLAIN

I recollect old wagon days
With reminiscent pride,
The men who drove along the ways
Would ask you in to ride.

But motorists keep on the fly
And do not stop to talk.
In fact, they mostly pass you by
With a disdainful squawk.

WANTED A SOUVENIR

He asked her for a lock of hair,
She said she couldn't part with more,
But anyhow she told him where
It could be purchased in a store.

Stout, Red Faced Lady—"Do you mean to say you won't give me my money back for this book just because I have read it?"
You know you advertise that it is your aim to have only satisfied customers."

"Yes, madam, but what is the matter with the imprint imperfect or anything like that?"
"No."

"Then why are you not satisfied with the novel?"
"Why, I don't like the way it ends."

SERMON OF THE STOVE.

An Alabama darkey was telling a friend of a certain church service he had attended.

"De preacher wasn't feelin' so good last Sunday," he said "an' he made de stove preach de sermon."

"Made de stove preach?"

"Yessuh; made it red-hot from top to bottom, an' den he tells de sinners to take a good look at it, an' go to thinkin'!"

A LIMITED BELIEF

That one of the professors at Princeton has had his domestic trials was recently evidenced when a young woman of rather serious turn endeavored to involve him in a theological discussion.

"Professor," she asked, do you or do you not believe in infant damnation?"

"I believe in it," said the professor, "only at night."

25 CENTS CURES YOUR
DANDRUFF AND STOPS
FALLING HAIR

Save Your Hair! Make It Thick, Wavy and Beautiful—Try
This.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy, and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Even a little pin in a girl's belt may disturb a young man's mental poise.

A powerful new electric lamp for photographers is enclosed in blue glass which lessens its intensity as far as a person facing it is concerned, without affecting the rays that do the work on photographic plates.

Tuberculosis Rapidly Increasing Among Children of Belgium and Northern France.

More Food Urgently Needed to Keep up Their Strength

An interview with Mr. W. L. Honnold, American Director of the Belgian Relief Commission, brings to light a new danger threatening the population of the territory occupied by Germany.

Mr. Honnold reports that about 5,000,000 wholly or partially destitute people, who have been dependent on the Commission, generally show diminished vitality. The effects are most apparent among the older children, particularly those in the adolescent stage. Among these there is an alarming increase of tuberculosis, due to the lower power of resistance consequent on an inadequate diet.

To overcome this serious danger, the Commission appeals for extra contributions so that a special meal can be served every day in the schools. Efforts are also being made to provide as far as possible for children outside the schools.

This can only be done—Belgium's children can only be saved—if every one of us who can possibly do so will give something toward the Fund. Whatever you can afford, send your subscription weekly, monthly or in one lump sum to Local or Provincial Committees, or
