But under the circumstances I determined that the Government was right, and I determined to place at its disposal whatever influence I had with my fellow-countrymen. I have loyally supported all the war measures of the Government, have appealed to all classes of my fellow-citizens to rise to the occasion and do their share, not only in contributing money, but in the ranks by doing battle for the great cause. And I am here today for the same purpose and object, to appeal to my fellow-countrymen of all origins to do their duty, and ask all who can go to take their places amongst those who are contending for the cause of civilization on the fields of France and Flanders.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Brome.

THE NEW WAR LOAN.

The Montreal Journal of Commerce, edited by Hon. W. S. Fielding, ex-Finance Minister, thinks that in arranging for the proposed new war loan Finance Minister White should give people of moderate means a chance to participate. On this subject it says:

"In England, to obtain the co-operation of the masses in the providing of war funds, facilities were offered through the post offices for the investment of sums of a few shillings at a time. Probably it is not necessary here to go down to so low a figure. But the minimum of a bond or other obligation might well be placed at a much lower figure than hitherto. There is some inconvenience in such a policy. The work of issuing and the work of keeping accounts are much increased; but the advantages will fully compensate for this trouble. It may be that the money which the Minister will require can readily be obtained from the welto-do classes. But there is need of more than the money. There is need for the cultivation, in a larger degree than hitherto, of the practice of thrift. For both individual advantage and national welfare it is desirable that the people should be encouraged to observe economy. A well directed campaign to obtain the small savings of the people for the war will be in every way beneficial. It will bring the financial side of the war close home to many people who do not realize it now because they are only indirectly contributing to its cost. It will appeal strongly to the patriotism of the masses of the people, who should be proud to feel that in this way, to the extent of their means, they are giving valuable assistance to the good cause. It will stimulate thrift generally, by encouraging men and women to save what might be spent foolishly or extravagantly, in order that they may contribute their portion to the war chest. From one viewpoint, of course, all dollars are the same, no matter how the money is raised. But a loan of fifty million dollars obtained from the thrift and patriotism of the mass of the people would be a much better thing for the country than a similar amount received from the banks and the wealthy classes."

The new war loan will be issued early in September, and no doubt will be over-subscribed, as was the case with the last one. There are hundreds of millions of dollars in the chartered banks of the country drawing three per cent. interest, while the war loan, which will have all the resources of the country behind it, will yield the investor a little better than five per cent.

Winnipeg Tribune: The selection by the Dominion government of Sir Jas. Aikins to fill the important position of Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, in succession to Sir Douglas Cameron, who retires in the enjoyment of the respect and confidence of the province, meets with general, if not universal, approval. Sir James is fitted by nature and high educational and social attainments to admirably discharge the duties of the office. A constitutional lawyer of high order, a man of exceptional natural ability, a ready and witty speaker, a love for public affairs and possessing a hospitality all his own, combined with a genial personality, it is difficult to see how he can fail to make an admirable Governor. In Lady Aikins, whom to know is to respect and love, Sir James has a partner who cannot fail to render great assistance in maintaining and accentuating the popularity which Government House has generally enjoyed.

Samuel Cuddahy, head of the pork-packing establishment at Cuddahy, near Milwaukee, has just retired from business and announces that he will spend his remaining time on earth in seeking recreation on the sunny slopes of the Pacific. He has placed his son Michael, 29 years of age, in charge of the entire business, which is one of the largest packing concerns in the world. In turning over the management of the business to his son, the father made public this statement: "A man can't tango all night, six nights in the week, and expect to compete with the brains of the fellows who hit the feathers from ten to six." The grandfather of the present young head of the concern came from the old country many years ago and the family have been in the packing business ever since.

Our municipal rulers acted in accordance with public sentiment when they met in this city on Friday and pledged themselves to raise by assessment the sum of ten thousand dollars to make up the shortage in the Patriotic Fund. Our gallant boys who have gone to the front are doing their bit for the Empire and it is up to those who remain at home to see to it that their families and dependents are properly provided for. It is the inflexible determination of the Allies to win this war, and those who cannot go out and fight should avail themselves with gladness of the opportunity to help in other ways.

Ottawa Citizen: The Toronto News is authority for the statement that to restore Sir Wilfrid Laurier to office would be to re-establish in power all those who look for separation. This is alarming, when it is considered that in the elections of 1911 the popular majority for the Conservatives in the whole country was only a few thousands. Are we to believe that nearly one-half of the people of Canada favor separation from the Empire?

Only 21 out of 21,000 merchant ships which passed through British navy portol since December, 1915, were lost or seriously damaged. Not a single life has been lost in sea transport to and from the British army in France.

EXCITING EXPERIENCE OF STANDARD DIRECTOR

His Auto Went Through a Bridge Over North and Occupants Had a Close Call

(St. John Telegraph.)

W. B. Tennant, one of the directors of the Standard, had a perilous experience on Saturday night last, while on a motoring expedition on the Miramichi. The rear wheels of his car went through a rotten highway bridge and the machine stood on end in the brook. Fortunately no one was injured, but the party was compelled to remain on the spot all during the night, some sleeping by the roadside, the nearest farm house being twelve miles distant.

Mr. Tennant and E. L. Rising had a party of fourteen in their cars touring the province last week. Late last Saturday night they were passing down the northwest branch of the Miramichi. Mr. Rising's car passed over the highway bridge all right, but as the second car attempted to cross, a cracking of rotten wood was heard and the rear end of the machine crashed through.

A little brook ran under eight feet below. Had it been fifteen feet below the whole party in the car would have been hurled to certain injury. One end of the automobile rested on the rocks while the front part was protruding through the bridge.

The first car came to a halt and the party returned and assisted in rescuing the less fortunate ones. They combined their efforts in an attempt to extricate the machine, but without avail. It was pitch dark and they could hardly find their way about.

They were isolated from civilization. It was twelve miles to the nearest farm house. It was considered unwise to leave the car alone, as it was and members of the party who could have secured a comfortable rest at the farm house, insisted on remaining with their less fortunate friends.

All night long they remained there. Some slept in Mr. Rising's car and others slept by the roadside. Some walked about during the night—and maybe they didn't say some pretty things about highways and highway bridges.

In the morning—Sunday morning, too—two blocks and tackle were secured and with the aid of planks the car was again put on the highway and about noon the party continued on its way, leaving a warning at the bridge for the benefit of other vehicles.

GOT DIARRHOEA
FROM DRINKING
BAD WATER

Had to Give Up Work

Mr. H. M. Ryckman, Port Rowan, Ont., writes: "Last year I was out in Saskatchewan. The water was very bad and I was taken with diarrhoea. In a few days I was in such bad shape I had to stop work. I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and had only taken a few doses when it was stopped, and I was soon able to go back to work again."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past seventy years, and has had such great success in curing all bowel complaints that many firms have undertaken to provide a substitute for it, even going so far as to use a similar name.

Do not be led into taking a substitute for "Dr. Fowler's," but insist on getting what you ask for.

"Dr. Fowler's" is safe and sure, but by taking some of these rank substitutes you may endanger your life.

"Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry" is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 35c.
