HAS NO MESSAGE FOR THE PRESIDENT

U. S. Government Asked to Assure
Itself of German Submarine's
Character.

Washington, July 10.—The British and French embassies today officially called the State Department's attention to the arrival of the German submarine Deutschland, and asked that the United States Government assure itself of the boat's character.

This will be done, it was announced, by the assignment of naval experts to assist the Treasury Department.

Submarine Entirely Unarmed.

The fact that boarding officers found the German merchant submarine, the Deutschland, wholly unarmed, goes far towards simplifying any question as to her status as a merchant ship in American waters.

Officials realize, however, that the British and French embassies, while interested little in what the Deutschland has brought over, are concerned over the cargo of rubber and nickel she proposes to carry back to Germany, and expect that nothing will be left undone by Germany's enemies to prevent or hinder her clearance.

Brought No Official Message.

Baltimore, Md., July 10.—Upon delivering his ship's papers to the office of the North German Lloyd line today, Capt. Paul Koenig, of the submarine merchantman Deutschland, disposed finally of the report that he carried a message from Emperor William to President Wilson, there was no foundation for the story.

He also issued a formal statement in which he announced that the Deutschland was the first of several submarines built for the trans-Atlantic trade and that she would be followed by the "Bremen."

PROHIBITION A SUCCESS IN THE STATE OF KANSAS

Extract From an Address Delivered in Chicago by the Secretary of the Kansas
Department of Agriculture--Kansas Has More Sobriety Than Any State in the Union--The Saloon and all That Goes
With it as Dead as Pharaoh's Army.

Probably no answer is needed to numerous presentations which some provincial papers have been willing to publish as advertisements, the purpose of which was to show that Prohibition is a failure.

We herewith give place to an able discussion of the situation in Kansas which makes it entirely clear how utterly unfounded is the vicious attack on prohibition to which some papers are willing to become a party, and how successful have been the results of prohibition in Kansas State.

The following is taken from an address by Mr. F. D. Coburn, secretary of the Kansas Department of Agriculture, and president of the State Temperance Union, delivered before the Kansas Day Club at Chicago:

In consideration of its beneficence, and of the shameless slanders, product of both malice and ignorance, constantly circulated by interests inimical to temperance and sobriety, your speaker would scarcely be a loyal Kansan if away from home he addressed an audience without referring to the practical workings and results of constitutional prohibition of the liquor traffic, in which Kansas is the successful leader, as observed at close range during and after a thorough time test by those officially and otherwise concerned with the State's caretaking.

The Governor of the State says, for this occasion: "I believe that Kansas with prohibition has more sobriety and less intemperance and its evil results than any other State has ever had. Everywhere prohibition is proving a most potent factor in the improvement and exaltation of our citizenship, and the best friend of our men and women. I know of no one who is injured by it but the barkeeper, and in the end even he will be benefited."

The Attorney General writes: "There are now no saloons in Kansas, and the laws prohibiting traffic in liquor are as well enforced as any others. Ministers and those engaged in charitable work report a great decrease in the number of dependents in the cities since the enforcement of the law."

Kansas has made a remarkable record in later years in the small number of persons needing the benefit of the poor laws, and in the low percentage of criminals. In bringing about such a generally improved and desirable condition, constitutional prohibition has had a tremendously important part."

The Warden of the State penitentiary writes: "Under enforced prohibition the drunkard-making business is stopped; illiteracy and crime are decreasing, poor houses are empty in many counties and families of laboring men are better clothed, better fed, better housed and have more advantages than in any other state in the Union, and the saloon vote no longer counts in elections. We have more homeowners and fewer renters than any saloon commonwealth in the world, and the church is stronger because its worst enemy, the saloon, has been dethroned."

The State superintendent of schools says: "The beneficent results of more than a quarter of a century of prohibition are nowhere more manifest than in their influence upon those grown to manhood and womanhood under its provisions. Children are reared without the temptations of intemperance and arrive at the point of fixed habits with no experiences and no inclinations relative to liquor such as present themselves to young people elsewhere. Thrice blessed are the State's children, because they have as their rightful heritage sober and industrious parents; because they have always before them the example of sobriety, and because in the most impressionable period of their lives they are free from the insidious influence and example of intemperance."

The Mayor of the capital city, Topeka, reports: "The effect of prohibition as to Topeka is gratifying beyond expression, and its benefits cannot be measured. To realize this one needs to compare conditions here with those in the average town of our size elsewhere with saloons, dives and brothels and what these mean to the town in waste of money, debasing influence on the youth of the city, the misery brought to the wives and children of the men who support such resorts, and all the degradation, crime, destitution and heartaches that always follow in their wake. The beneficial effect of prohibition in Topeka from the standpoint of improved citizenship is too clearly apparent to admit of question."

The Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, world-famous clergyman and author, writes: "Constitutional prohibition has done more than any other one thing to make Kansas the garden spot, morally, of the universe. It has educated thousands of the finest young men and women to abhor intoxicating liquor as they would abhor any kind of sin and crime. It has raised the entire moral tone of the State to the highest level of citizenship. Prohibition in Kansas is not a question mark, but a permanent fact. The saloon and all that goes with it in Kansas is deader than Pharaoh's army."

Prohibition was never before so popular in Kansas as now, after a thirty years' trial. Its effects upon all phases of society's welfare have been helpfully wholesome, and the aforetime noisy threats of resubmission are no longer heard, even in whispers. Something of its beneficent influence upon society may be discerned in the official statistics disclosing that at the end of the last fiscal year 28 county poor farms were without tenants; 87 had no insane inmates, and 54 had no feeble minded inmates. Twenty-one counties had no convicts in the penitentiary; 36 had no prisoners in the reformatory, 52 had no prisoners serving sentence in their county jails and 16 counties were without a prisoner serving sentence in any institution.

Statistics show further that Kansas, with practically a fifth of New York's population, has less than one-tenth the number of insane, and that Cook county, Illinois, furnishes more insane to the State hospitals and the institution for the insane at Dunning than the total population of all the Kansas charitable, correctional and penal institutions combined.

Unlike a sister state, Kansas has no boast that hers "is the largest penitentiary in the world."

What the Doctor Asked

One of the questions the examining physician for life insurance is apt to ask the applicant whose heart is skipping beats or is fluttery is—

"Do you use tea or coffee?"

The reason tea and coffee are suspected is because the physician knows that the drug, caffeine, in tea and coffee, disturbs the nervous system, races the heart, and is responsible besides for conditions which often become serious.

It is a good thing to stop when one reaches the danger zone. It is better still to safeguard health and avoid trouble by quitting both tea and coffee and using the famous pure food-drink

POSTUM

This delightful beverage is made of finest wheat, roasted with a little wholesome molasses, and while it has a delightful snappy taste, it contains only the nourishing goodness of the grain—no drug—no harmful ingredient whatever.

There are two forms of Postum. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled. Instant Postum—a soluble powder—is made in the cup with hot water—instantly! Both forms are equal in flavor, and cost about the same per cup.

Thousands of people have found the way to renewed health by a change from tea or coffee to Postum. There are no tea or coffee "questions" in Postum.
