OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

THE OVERBLOUSE.

One of the Most Convenient Waists Ever Introduced.

We have all, at some time or other probably worn a middie blouse. And we know how very convenient it is as a houseworking garment. For it can be changed and washed easily, and it protects the top part of the skirt from soil and wear. But a regulation middie on any but a slim and youthful figure is rather unbecoming.

The smock, too, that has had a de-sultory sort of approval by fashion for a couple of seasons, answered the same purpose admirably, but that, too, is not a very becoming costume for the portly or mature woman.

The new overblouse, however, is so adaptable that it can be made becoming in any figure and suitable to almost any use. Made up in blue, rose, white or tan linen or cotton suiting, it can be worn with white or tan skirts for houseworking.

Its Original Purpose.

Of course its original purpose was not one of a utilitarian sort. No, indeed! It is the high pet of fashion, designed simply for beauty. And this summer it will doubtless be seen in gay colors in crepe and chiffon, silk and linen, worn by young girls at the fashionable resorts with white skirts, much as colored sweaters are worn.

The woman who sees need for economy, too, can wear the overblouse for other than purely utilitarian purposes, and can thereby effect economy, too. For she can have very dainty and colorful blouses of this sort made to wear in the afternoon with white skirts. A clear rose crepe de chine blouse can be worn and carefully washed when necessary. It would be charming with a white skirt in one of the washable sport fabrics—not regulation pique or linen, but something a little silky or crepe-like in effect.

Sweaters for Economy Too.

Sweaters, too, can be worn with a view to economizing in the summer wardrobes. They can be made in the new models, to draw on over the head, or to button down the front and fasten with sashes. The simplest white frock or white blouse and skirt, takes on a look of distinctiveness when a sweater in some becoming and attractive shade is worn over it.

MYSTERIOUS BILLY

SMITH IN BENEFIT

BOUT AT BOSTON

Once Boxed at Curling Rink in This City—Late Sam Jones One of Those Who Went Against Him.

Mysterious Billy Smith, who boxed in Fredericton almost twenty years ago, has appeared in Boston, boxing with Joe Walcott, another boxer of other days, in a benefit bout for himself. Smith appeared at the Curling Rink on his visit to Fredericton. One of his stunts was to meet two local men in the ring at the same time. The late Sam Jones, who was killed in France a few months ago, was one of those who went in the ring against Smith here.

Commenting in advance on the benefit bout, the Boston Globe says:

"Tonight Mysterious Billy Smith, the former wonderful welterweight champion, will be tendered a testimonial in the Grand Opera House by the Armory A. A. Three bouts, besides a six-round exhibition between Smith and his greatest rival, Joe Walcott, is on the programme.

"While Smith and Walcott are not capable of putting up such battles as they have fought in the past, yet the pair should provide an interesting contest. The names of these boxers will always remain in the minds of the fans. Smith is deserving of the testimonial as he did as much as any Boston boxer to bring fame to this city. He has ever been ready also to lend a hand to help in charitable affairs.

"Judging from the applications, the old ring battler and his rival will get a great welcome."

UMPIRE BYRON SAYS

BASEBALL IS IMPROVING

Detroit, April 17.—Baseball is getting better and the public wiser.

Wm. J. Byron, the National League umpire, believes the fans are half so unreasonable today as they were years ago.

"In fact," Byron says, "there would be comparatively little trouble in the big league cities if the players weren't always trying to alibi themselves for poor work by blaming the umpire."

"Until a fan sees a kick on a decision nowadays, he usually is satisfied to take the umpire's verdict without any question. But when one of the home players makes a roar—that's something else. You can't blame the spectators, for they are not always wise to the tricks of the players who try to make themselves look good at the expense of the umpires."

Ball players, Byron believes, never will admit that they even could be wrong.

MICKEY MCINTYRE HAS

EMERGED FROM RETIREMENT

(Sydney Record.)

After an absence from the ring of several years, Mickey McIntyre, at one time recognized as one of the best lightweights in the game, is to do a come-back stunt. Mickey has signed to meet Joe Rivers at Glace Bay some time the latter part of this month.

BAKER'S INJURIES ARE NOT

AS SERIOUS AS FEARED

New York 17.—An X-ray examination has shown that J. Franklin Baker suffered less than had been feared from the pitched ball that struck his left hand on Saturday. The thumb was dislocated and bruised but not broken and Baker might be back at third base within two or three days.

FRED WELSH BEAT NELSON.

St. Louis, April 18.—Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, easily bested Battling Nelson in 12 rounds of boxing here last night. The champion ducked, dodged, side-stepped and back-stepped whenever Nelson strated a blow and was not hit solidly more than half a dozen times. Welsh also showed his punishing power. His left darted to Nelson's face repeatedly and his infighting was far superior to the Battler's.

EDDIE CICOTTE

HOLDS NO-HIT NO-RUN

GAME EARLY RECORD

Leon Ames and Rube Marquard Have Given Notable Performances Along Same Line in Past Years.

New York, April 17.—Eddie Cicotte, of "knuckle ball" fame, holds the record for early season pitching of a no-hit-no-run game.

There have been seven no-hit games pitched in April, but none as early as April 14. Leon Ames pitched for nine innings for New York in the opening game of the season, April 15, 1909, but the game was lost in the 13th inning. Rube Marquard, pitching for New York April 15, 1915, held Brooklyn to no hits and no runs.
