C. P. R. Subscribes $10,000,000 if the People of Canada
Subscribe $300,000,000 to Victory Loan.

SINCE this war began," said Lord Shaughnessy at a great Victory Loan Campaign meeting in Montreal, "the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has invested up to the present time in loans and guarantees in one form or another to the Allied nations nearly $70,000,000."

"Nevertheless we would be glad to subscribe to the Victory Loan up to $5,000,000. But I will add a rider to that. If the people of Canada will make it $300,000,000 (exclusive of the amount paid for by surrender of bonds of previous issues) as we have no doubt they will, the company will make their subscription $10,000,000."

This was at the close of an inspiring speech giving the reasons why the people of Canada should give their wholehearted support to the loan. He spoke as follows:

"I know that this large hall is crowded to its capacity with an army of earnest men and women who are filled with the determination that this Victory Loan of 1917 shall be the phenomenal success that it deserves to be, and, above all, they are determined that our great city of Montreal, the premier city of Canada, the financial and commercial metropolis, and the fountain head of broad sentiment and cosmopolitan thought in the Dominion, shall do its full share toward contributing the amount required, not only for the honor and credit of the city itself, but for the example that it will give to other sections of our good old province of Quebec that will always remain a bulwark and principal mainstay of our Canadian confederation, contributing to the strength and prosperity of the Dominion, notwithstanding the irritation and resentment occasionally in evidence when the province is criticized, and, indeed, maligned, by many whose efforts it should be, as common citizens of the country, to understand and conciliate."

"This world's war that has now well entered on the fourth year of its duration, has imposed upon all the nations involved financial obligations of an amount and of a character never experienced in the past, and, indeed, that had never been anticipated, and each day that warfare continues, the obligations become more insistent and burdensome. The strain upon Britain has been particularly great, because, not only was she required to provide the funds necessary for her own purposes, but by reason of her outstanding position in the money world, she was compelled to assist in very large amounts some of the Allied nations less favored."

"The entrance of our great neighbor to the south into the war relieved, in some measure, this financial strain, because it brought to the support of the Allies the financial strength of that great nation, but the people of the United States say, and very naturally, that 'while we are willing, and, indeed, anxious, to lend aid toward providing the money necessary for the conduct of the war, we expect and require that, to the greatest possible extent, the money should be expended in our country.' It is a natural condition and one to which no reasonable objection can be urged."

A LOAN TO OURSELVES.

"Canada naturally wishes to continue to participate in the business of supplying munitions, goods and produce of the soil to the Allied armies, and with all other money markets closed to her, there is only one process by which this can be accomplished. The country must itself provide the requisite means, and, fortunately, the country is amply able to do so. Heretofore the Minister of Finance has placed in Canada three domestic loans aggregating I think, about $350,000,000. In every instance the amount of the issue proposed was over-subscribed, and, yet, fortunately, the people of the country are to-day in a much better position to participate in these loans than they were in any previous time. After all, in taking up this Victory Loan, we are merely loaning money to ourselves. It is handed over to the Government and it is paid out again to the people of the country for the labor, goods or services covered by Government war contracts, excepting such small amounts as it may be necessary to send abroad for raw materials, so that a very large portion of the funds comes back through one channel or another to the original source, and after a short lapse of time the bankers and the people will have this money to loan to the Government again should occasion arise; but meantime, the investor has safely put away his Government bond or bonds representing the amount of his subscription, a security of the highest possible class unquestionable and unquestioned, carrying a rate of interest which applies to Government loans only in such exceptional conditions as the present, and which, after peace has come and normal conditions have been restored, should cause the security itself to advance in the market to a substantial increase on its face value."

"It is desirable beyond all things that a very large percentage of this Victory Loan should be subscribed by the people of the country generally, people of small means, because it will be evidence of the spirit of patriotism that prevails throughout the country, and it will be a good thing for them financially. Corporations and wealthy individuals, familiar with financial affairs, will not be slow to reap the benefit of this opportunity. But they should not have too large a share of the loan. Every wage-earner, man or woman, through the land should be encouraged to

STRONG DEMAND FOR MATERIALS AFTER THE WAR

(Mark Workman in Financial Post.)

In considering the future of Canadian economic conditions, there is one underlying feature which must not be overlooked. I refer to the overwhelming balance of trade in favor of this country. Month by month this balance is accumulating, with the result that Canada's commercial position among the nations of the world is improving daily. An immense sum of money is being disbursed in Canada for munitions and other war supplies, the major portion of which finds its way into the pockets of our own people, and is available for financing of additional orders.

No clearer evidence of our prosperity can be given than the fact that Canada, a country of barely seven million people, has already raised over three hundred millions of dollars for war purposes, and is now planning to float a further large loan, with every expectation of complete success. Practically all branches of industry are in a highly flourishing condition, and the majority of our corporations are being enabled to place themselves in a strong financial position. The result of this condition will become more evident upon the resumption of normal business.

While one feels some reluctance in attempting to forecast conditions which may prevail after the war, it is evident that the depletion of stocks and the neglect of all but absolutely necessary maintenance and renewal expenditures since the outbreak of the war, brought about by the abnormal prices of materials and costs of labor, will eventually culminate in a strong demand for materials of all kinds. While we must expect a period of adjustment of prices upon the termination of the war, we cannot help but feel that this demand will assert itself with very little delay.

$21,000 FOR SISTER MARY

Kingston, Ont., Nov. 18. — Sister Mary Basil, who sued Archbishop Spratt and others for twenty-nine thousand dollars for assault and abduction, was awarded twenty-four thousand dollars by the jury before Mr. Justice Britton in court here Saturday night. Of this amount the archbishop, the Roman Catholic corporation, Mother General Frances Regis and the Sisters of Charity are to pay twenty thousand dollars and Dr. Daniel Phelan, four thousand. The other defendant, Policeman Naylor, was assessed nothing.

After the jury's finding had been announced, Lally McCarthy, K.C., for the defense, asked concerning the application he had made during the trial for a non-suit in the charges against the archbishop, the Roman Catholic corporation and the Sisters of Charity. His lordship announced that he would reserve his decision on the application.

SUFFERED WITH NERVES COULD NOT KEEP QUIET.

Diseases of the nervous system are very common. All the organs of the body may be sound while the nerve centres may be affected.

Many women become run down and worn out by household duties never ending, and sooner or later find themselves with their nerves shattered and the heart action weakened.

On the first sign of an weakness of either the heart or nerves, flagging energy or physical breakdown, do not wait until your case becomes hopeless.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will at once quieten the shaking nerves, strengthen the weak heart and build up the entire system.

Mrs. F. Bailey, 221 Earl St., Kingston, Ont., writes: "I was suffering very much with my nerves, so much so that I could not keep myself quiet at all. I was recommended to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills so I bought three boxes, and I must say I have derived much benefit from them, so much so that my friends have all noticed the change in me." Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price to The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
