THE OPPOSITION CONVENTION WAS LARGELY ATTENDED

Sound coming from all parts of the county the request that I allow my name to be added to the ticket. In view of this I have accepted the nomination and will do the best I can to have the ticket elected. I may say that of all the requests that I have received, perhaps there was none that affected me more than that from the young men of St. Marys. They came in large numbers and asked men to let them put my name on the nomination papers. St. Marys was the place where I was born and brought up. I appreciate fully the interest taken in me by my friends there.

We are going into a campaign which requires grave attention of the people of this province. Mr. Brown and other speakers referred to the fact that this province is liable for $17,000,000. We have been a province for nearly fifty years and up to 1903 the public debt was $5,000,000, while today after eight years of rule of this honest and economic administration, who came into power to raise us up and make our cottages palaces, the debt is $17,000,000. This administration has heaped $12,000,000 on us in eight years. Do you want this to continue? Does this province want to be faced with direct taxation?

We have heard little of the Valley Railway lately. The interest alone on the bonds already issued amounts to between $170,000 and $200,000 a year. It has been in operation two years. We have to pay from some source $350,000 to $400,000. The government has called as witness to prove how much this road has earned in two years the comptroller of the Canadian Government Railways. The gross earnings were proved to be from $25,000 to $30,000 a year. This railway is nothing but a loop on the C. P. R., which it will join at Andover and Westfield, according to Mr. Murray.

We want men who have made good in business of their own, who will be capable of carrying on the business of the Government. Men who succeeded in business and can take with them to the legislature of this province their good sound business principles. The Opposition have been fortunate in getting Mr. Burt. He is a man who comes under this category. We do not want men who know nothing of public affairs and who only hang around and depend on their sessional indemnity for a living.

Flemming's Meteoric Career.

We are fortunate in our leader, Mr. W. E. Foster. He is a man with clean hands, a man who today is responsible for a business almost as large as the province of New Brunswick. Mr. Foster will lead the Opposition and will be leader of the government after the election.

There never was a Premier who came into power in this province possessing such complete confidence of the people as Mr. Fleming. He was entrusted with the greatest power that any man ever had in this province. Instead of endeavoring to give the province the benefit of revenue from the Crown lands, he sent his chief scaler out to find out the worth of the Crown lands from the men who had them leased. The Crown lands were all tied, but $100,000 was collected for a campaign fund when a campaign was just over and no other in sight. One party I know of personally paid for Crown lands $75 an acre and later refused $1,000 an acre. What are we coming to if this sort of thing goes on? The government appointed its own commissions, not the Opposition, mind you, and these commissions found the government guilty. You may ask what has the Opposition to offer; if it going to do any better?

Delegations from all sections of this province met in St. John in 1916 and drew up a platform upon which we are prepared to appeal to the people. In the first place we wish the Crown lands taken out of politics altogether and managed by an independent commission made of non-partizans.

Highways and Prohibition.
The present Minister of Public Works has issued a letter stating what he proposes to do in connection with the highways. He began by stealing half of his policy from the planks of the Opposition platform. Permanent roads was a plank of the Opposition platform in January 1916. Mr. Smith, in January 1917, says he is going to do the same thing.

In regard to the liquor question, the Dominion Alliance when in session in St. John, asked the Opposition Convention what they proposed to do. The Alliance asked that the Opposition agree to a prohibitory law. The Opposition adopted the request, giving the Alliance exactly what it asked for. Afterward the Government passed its Prohibition Law. The act must be what party is in power. It is being whispered through the province that the Opposition is not in favor of the Prohibitory Law. It has also been hinted that some men would vote against me because I have been retained to defend offenders of the Canada Temperance Act. All legal men take cases that come to them and I only did what came to me in connection with my legal business. Let me say right here and now that the statute upon the books will receive from me my best attention and if I have anything to do with the enforcement it will be done faithfully. When it comes to a question of temperance, I have yet to take my first glass of liquor.

A Great Change.

The year 1912 appears to be very different from 1917. Men look at things differently. Since 1912 the whole world has been overshadowed by the great war. It does not seem possible that men and women who have seen their sons go forth to fight for country will stand by and see their country robbed. They will not stand by and see the inheritance wasted by grafters and incompetents. When these men who have grafted and raised the debt of this province go back to the people with their record of the past five years the people will rise up and say, "Away with you!"

Coun. W. P. Lawson.

Coun. W. P. Lawson thanked the convention for nomination. He had nothing to say against any opponent personally with one exception.

"I want," said he, "one man to point out what John Young has ever done for County of York." (Laughter.)

What money had been spent properly on the roads? On nine miles of highway at McAdam $18,000 had been wasted. A man with a can could not get over it without pries and peavies to get him out. (Applause.) For the winter roads nothing had been done.

Returned soldiers had not been properly looked after. Every where disabled men could be found who were not receiving enough to live upon.

What had the Provincial Government done for the farmers of York? When the hay money and potato money was being spent it went to other counties.

Dealing with Prohibition, Coun. Lawson put himself on record as supporting this act, which will come into effect on May 1st.

Continuing, he said: "Boys, I was a Conservative four years ago. I don't look like it, but I was. They made it so hot that I could not stand it. The other day a man with a good job under the government met me on the street and said, 'Lawson, you are not going to allow them to put you on that ticket are you? They will snow you under by 1,500.' I replied, 'I would rather go down to defeat in a good fight than be elected by a corrupt government.' (Applause.)

"I am not a bit anxious about my election," said Coun. Lawson, amid cheers. "I feel quite sure that this ticket is going to be elected."

George F. Burden.

Mr. George F. Burden, of Pokok, followed with a brief speech in which he referred to the enormous increase in the public debt. He particularly complimented the Opposition upon securing Mr. Peter J. Hughes as a candidate. He had known him for some time. He was particularly well pleased to hear Mr. Hughes say that he still had to take his first drink. Although much older than Mr. Hughes, he could say the same.

Clarence Goodspeed.

Clarence Goodspeed of Penniac was called upon. He congratulated the party upon the ticket it had selected. It was composed of men of just the stamp needed in public life. What was needed was hard work. If that was given there should be victory on the 24th.

The national anthem and cheers for the candidates brought the convention to a close.
