A REAL LIVE JOB

(Chicago News.)
"In all my born days I never put in such an afternoon," grumbled the department manager.
"In all my born days I never put in such an afternoon," repeated the blue eyed typist, who was taking her letters direct on the machine.

"Hold on! Wait a moment, Miss McWillikers! My mind is wandering. That musing remark of mine was not to go in the letter. It was an 'aside' as it were, and was caused by the mental stress I have undergone in the last few hours.

"And, Miss McWillikers, if you are in quest of an occupation that will be new and paying I have found the very thing. You will undoubtedly make more in a day than you can by typing in a month. And I'll give you the first trial at it.

"The thing is taking little tots to the dentist's and sparing their tender hearted parents the hours of mental torture. All you've got to do for the money is to take my Willie, for instance over to Dr. Molar and remain by his side until the learned tooth expert has finished the dental carpentry that is to be done on the child.

"Oh, how simple," beamed the blue eyed typist.

"Simple indeed," replied the department manager.

"And, after that, all you'll have to do is to keep the dentist from flying off the handle and placate little Willie every time he goes on a rampage and threatens to wreck the office equipment.

"When you enter the dental parlor Willie will be very docile. Likewise the dentist will be as amiable as humanly possible. That's because he doesn't know Willie.

"Willie will sit in the chair quietly and the dentist will unsheathe his probes and other weapons without any untoward signs of hostility.

"Then the dentist will ask little Willie to open his face and Willie will get unduly suspicious and close his little map tighter than a clam. The dentist will become jocular and try to hood-wink Willie into saying something so he can insert a block of wood and keep the orifice open. As the dentist attempts this maneuver Willie will give a sudden reflex with his left limb and kick the doctor in the solar plexus.

"By this time the dentist and Willie are sworn enemies. One is determined to master the other. If the dentist were wise he'd put on a baseball catcher's stomach pad and a mask and sail into Willie without fear or favor but, of course, such rough tactics would chill to the marrow the loving papa or mamma who saw their offspring treated so rudely. That's why there's a fine opening for a heartless stranger who will take other folks' kids to the dentist's at so much per."

"Oh, I couldn't see 'em suffer!" exclaimed the blue eyed typist tenderly.

"But—but Willie has another appointment at that blooming dentist's," said the department manager, "and if you'll take the afternoon off and accompany him there you'll save your grateful office assistant from nervous prostration."

HOOF PRINTS.

Combination next week.

Worcester has a record entry.

V. C. B. Wetmore has bought Jess Y., 2.11½.

Readville will again be a popular training track.

This week the Short Ship horses are in Worcester.

Peter the Great, 2.07¼, is the sire of 300 record performers.

Brockton Fair profits this year go to the Red Cross.

Peter Stevens is not the "bear cat" of two years ago.

Frank Walker will do the starting at Cleveland.

The runners lasted about as long as expected at Grand Rapids.

Stephen, 2.10¼, is about the best of the Canadian-bred trotters, says a Boston paper.

Hartford's early closing events were considerable of a failure.

Binworth and May Bird are unbeaten on the Bay State.

Readville could and should have the Grand Circuit stars Labor Day.

FOUND FOSSIL IN MAINE.

While in New Sweden, Me., one day last week, Olof O. Nylander, the geologist, discovered a fossil starfish in a drift boulder of sandstone formation on Capitol Hill. The fossil was perfectly preserved and is one of only three or four starfish ever found in Northeastern North America.

WELL BALANCED.

Edyth — I think his mental balance is somewhat off!

Maude — Perhaps, but his financial balance is absolutely perfect.

"Nature" chose Assam

Scientists tell us that Assam in northern India was the original home of the tea plant. Thousands of years ago "Nature" chose the climate and soil of this favored region as most suitable for growing tea.

It is, therefore, natural that the hillside gardens of Assam (see picture) grow the teas which to-day are famous for their flavor, fragrance and rich strength.

It is of these Assam teas, skilfully blended with choice Ceylons, that Red Rose Tea consists. It is this rich Assam strength that users of Red Rose Tea must thank for its splendid economy—for the greater number of cups it yields to the pound, fully one-third more than ordinary teas.

To make certain that these Assam qualities are fully preserved for you we put Red Rose Tea into dust, odor and air proof sealed packages. Red Rose Tea reaches you pure, fresh and full strength—we guarantee it.
