PROBLEMS OF GOVERNMENT

Governor Roosevelt, who was one of the speakers at the Economics Congress banquet at New York a few nights ago, gave some interesting statistics showing the enormous sum required to maintain the various public services of the Empire State. He said that fifteen years ago the budget totalled $45,000,000, whereas it now reached a total of $250,000,000. He pointed out that last year the large sum of $80,000,000 was expended on education while this year it would be $90,000,000 and next year $100,000,000. He said that estimated highway expenditures for the present year were $56,000,000 and this sum would not include the cost of upkeep of what are called county roads or roads running through cities or incorporated towns. He declared that the affairs of the state were run economically, and that in most cases the salaries paid to public officials were not as large as those paid by private corporations. Prisons, hospitals and asylums had to be maintained and every year the expenses were increasing and there was no chance for economy. He declared that the cost to the taxpayers could not be cut down and his only hope was that the revenue would keep pace with the growing expenditure. The governor stated that he had on his desk some nine hundred bills awaiting his signature. His advice to members of the Congress was to take a greater interest in public affairs. At present, he said that many worthy citizens only visited Albany when legislation was pending which affected their personal interests, and he thought that it was their duty to seek election to the Legislature in order that they might be in a position to lend a helping hand in the task of government.

The governor's statement makes it quite clear that conditions in the states of the union do not greatly differ from those in the various provinces of Canada. The people demand that the various public services be maintained in a manner in keeping with the spirit of the times, and this being so it is absolutely impossible to keep down expenditures. And as he pointed out many worthy citizens are keen on rushing to the Legislature when matters affecting their personal interests are under consideration, but not so keen on seeking election to that body and lending a hand in grappling with the serious problems and sharing in the responsibility which confronts those who have been elected to carry on the public business.

Here in New Brunswick the only serious complaint that one hears against the Baxter administration is that it took steps to substantially increase the revenue of the province without first submitting its proposals to the people. The government certainly has increased the revenue and it has done so without adding to the burden of taxation. In other words the method it adopted was a painless one. The government can rest assured that having increased the revenue it will not find any evidence of undue modesty on the part of the public in suggesting methods for expending the money.

It is announced that the address in praise of the founders will be eliminated from the U. N. B. program this year. No reason has been given for the change but the conclusion was probably reached that the subject had become exhausted. It is to be hoped that some other way will be found to perpetuate the memory of the noble men who founded the U. N. B. This good old institution has its beginning in the year 1800 when the province was fourteen years old and its principal source of revenue was a small tax on Jamaica rum.

PUBLIC OPINION
CORPORAL PUNISHMENT.

Fredericton, N. B., April 19, 1919
The Editor, The Mail,

Dear Sir,—Has a school teacher any legal or moral right to whip pupils for having three mistakes in spelling in a land such as ours? How long are Fredericton parents going to tolerate such unreasonable conduct on the part of public servants? Seemingly, the average Parent knows little if anything about the treatment given children in the City schools; it is a sad condition. We don't send our children to school to be taught with the aid of a ruler but with the use of common sense, understanding and sympathy. The School Board should see its duty and do it, in the interests of all concerned, teachers, pupils, parents, public. Paid by the public, the teachers should be responsible to somebody.

Yours respectfully,
STERLING BRANNEN.

Out Next Thursday

The Speedy trial case of Jacob Brewer, Zealand man, who was charged with the theft of peavy handles from the firm of McFarlane Manufacturing Company, Nashwaakasis, was before Judge Slipp yesterday in the County Court. The informant company withdrew the former charge of theft, and had it revised to read securing peavies under false pretence on this charge the accused pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 30 days in jail, the term to commence on the day of commitment, March 26th. The prisoner will be released next Thursday.

Burned to Ground.

Commissioner E. C. P. Salt, head of the Provincial Police received word at headquarters here this morning that the Willow Inn, a large hotel at Andover had been burned to the ground last evening. No cause was given for the burning, though incendiarism is suspected. The Willow Inn is one of Andover's beauty marks.

Remove Offices

The International Paper Company, whose officers have been located on George street for the past few several years, is removing to Campbellton during the present week. Headquarters will be maintained in that place from now out.

Bachelors, it is said, are more truthful than married men, but then, they can afford to be.

FEELING TIRED AND DEPRESSED?

Then Try the Treatment With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is good to be tired after hard work or play. Rest and food will banish that kind of a tired feeling. But to be weak all the time, never to feel strong and vigorous, to be breathless at the least exertion, denotes a condition of ill health that must be corrected or worse results will follow. Such conditions the doctors term anaemic, and is caused by thin blood. For relief in this condition nothing else can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which enrich and purify the blood, bringing new health and strength. Among those who have found new health through the use of these pills is Mr. G. E. Hooton, R. R. 4, Elgin, Ont., who says: "For a long time I was greatly disturbed with pains in my back and felt tired and depressed most of the time. My blood seemed to be in a bad condition, so much so, that I slept poorly and scarcely felt like eating. I tried a doctor, but his treatment did not help. Then one day I read an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, describing a case much like my own and I decided to try this remedy. I took the pills for about two months, and the result was wonderful. I gained fifteen pounds in weight and felt like a new man. I know of nothing that will build up the strength like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have since recommended them to many of my friends."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine, or direct from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., at 50 cents a box. Write today for a copy of the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood".

Or perhaps a switch, or some little gadget, and a lot of things happen around home that lighten labor and banish trouble.

A Whirling Fan brings a cooling breeze, and a little copper, dish-like affair throws out a sizzling blast that warms the room in no time.

Another button boils coffee, toasts bread and cooks waffles. Another does a better job than a broom. Another makes a happy laundress out of a dismal washwoman. Another one cools the ice-box. Another—but why go on?

Labor and time saving devices have come and are today within the reach of the humblest home.

And one of the chief reasons why they have come and why they are within the reach of the humblest home is the power of advertising.

Advertising has carried the news of these better ways of doing things to every home. It has created a desire to possess them, and countless thousands have purchased them, and live better because of them.

Reading advertising not only tells you about new, mechanical devices for the home, but it is an unfailing reliable products.

READ ADVERTISING REGULARLY. IT POINTS THE WAY TO BETTER LIVING.
