CONSIDERATION OF THE POST OFFICE ESTIMATES STOOD OVER AT PREMIER'S REQUEST

Ottawa April 19—The greatest part of four days was spent this week by the House of Commons in discussion of the post office estimates and when they appeared late this evening it was no hope of passing them tonight it was decided to shift to other business. Up to that time while much information had been obtained during these extended debates no actual progress had been made in the advancement of the government business since the week began.

The postponement of further consideration tonight of post office estimates followed a suggestion by the Prime Minister. Mr. Mackenzie King drew attention to the motion standing on the order paper that the debate precipitated by the amendment of H. A.
Stewart (Conservative, Leeds), to the motion to go into supply, be revived. Under the rules of the House a motion moved on Wednesday, as this had been, was automatically dropped, if not proceeded with. However, the Postmaster General was willing to have the question revived, but the rules of the House should be adhered to. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, who was leading the Conservatives at the moment did not agree with this interpretation of the rules.

Suggests Change

"I have understood, possibly without foundation," said the Prime Minister, "that until this particular motion is disposed of honorable gentlemen opposite do not intend to permit the passage of any of the estimates of the Postmaster General. In the circumstances I think we are simply taking up the time of Parliament to no advantage in continuing further at this time with these estimates and I suggest to the Postmaster-General that at this stage he move that the committee rise and report progress."

The committee then took up consideration of the construction programme of the Canadian National Railways.

While the cabinet's legislation was thus being held up by the onslaught of the Conservative members of the administration of the department of which Peter Veniot, Postmaster-General, is the head, private bills ran into quite as baffling a jam when an attack was made on the erstwhile practice of the House to give divorce bills second reading en bloc. This fight was led by J. S. Woodsworth (Liberal, Winnipeg North Centre), with Henri Bourassa (Independent, Labelle), as his chief assistant.

Little Progress

As an outcome of this opposition to the divorce bills which blazed forth every time private bills came before the House only five private bills made any advancement during the week.
Two of these divorce bills which were given second reading after the House had divided. The other three were non-contentious bills which had been fortunate enough to find a place on the order paper ahead of the 49 remaining divorce bills already awaiting second reading.

The discussion of the post office estimates today were along the same lines as yesterday. Member after member proceeded to question the Postmaster-General as to the dismissal or appointment of some postmaster or postmistress in that member's particular riding. It covered a great deal of territory.
D. M. Kennedy (U.F.A., Peace River) had complained from his riding. Ontario members took up a number of Ontario cases.

school building here yesterday afternoon. Each boy talked about ten minutes, with Dr. C. D. Jones, Dr.
H. V. B. Bridges, and P. J. Hughes, K. C., as the judges. The boys who took part in the contests were: Robert Bayley, Mac Watson, Walter Smith, and Donald Duffie, and Vincent Hudson. High School is in possession of the lovely silver trophy, emblematic of the oratorical championship of the province. Phillip Ger-

Youthful in its Lines and in its Action

Oakland Six, Olympic Series, is a youthful car. A car for people young in years and spirits!
Investigate it closely. Its Fisher Bodies of new and distinctive style. Its countless touches of individuality. Its big, powerful six-cylinder engine. Every rotating part accurately balanced, for smoothness. Newly designed carburetor with fuel pump.
Noiseless, dirt- and-weather- proof four-wheel brakes. Lovejoy Shock Absorbers. Everything that makes for comfort, smartness and performance is there.

It's easy to see where Oakland gets its youthful charm and vivacity. It's easy to see why it stands alone in its price class—why more and more people are finding new motoring enjoyment in Oakland
Six.
