MR. WOODS' DISMISSAL

The Moncton Transcript, the leading Liberal newspaper of New Brunswick has the following terse comment on the dismissal of Mr. H. W. Woods, post office superintendent for New Brunswick:

"The dismissal of Mr. H. W. Woods superintendent of postal services in New Brunswick, comes as a surprise to all who have business with that department. Mr. Woods has been a highly efficient servant and so far as we know has not laid himself open to any charge of neglect of duty or of partizanship in the administration of his office. But, of course, the post office department at Ottawa must be prepared to make public charges against Mr. Woods serious enough to warrant his dismissal, or it would not have ordered his removal.

"Mr. Woods has been particularly active in the work of ridding the post office service in New Brunswick of dishonest officials. Naturally, that sort of thing makes enemies, but it also inspires public confidence in the official who is guarding the people's property. What the people want to know now is: 'What are the charges against Mr. Woods?' And that question must be answered immediately, if those in authority are to satisfy the public mind.

"If there are charges against Mr. Woods of wrong-doing, that ends it. But the people of New Brunswick want to know right away what those charges are. If they exist there is not the slightest reason for concealing them. And they must exist, for no government would make such a stupid political blunder as Mr. Woods' dismissal would be if it should be found that he is not guilty of wrong-doing."

Our Moncton contemporary correctly voices the sentiments of thousands of people of all shades of politics in New Brunswick. It is well known that political sleuths have been on the trail of Mr. Woods for the past few years, but after a fine tooth comb hunt found nothing on which charges against him could be based. It is our candid opinion that his dismissal is nothing more than an act of political stupidity and those responsible are going to have great difficulty in justifying it.

A POSSIBLE LEADER.

The Provincial Liberal party is in need of a leader at the present time and it might not be a bad idea for them to offer the position to G. H. Vroom of St. Stephen, President of the Temperance Alliance. By doing this they might be able to bring about a merger with the temperance forces. It would seem from a perusal of some of the public addresses he has delivered that Mr. Vroom, with an experience of having run one unsuccessful election, apparently knows just how the affairs of the province should be conducted. With Mr. Vroom as head of the government there would be no such thing as broken promises; there would be no liquor problem to deal with and he would make the desert blossom as the rose. We feel sure that if Mr. Vroom were named Liberal leader Hon. W. P. Jones, K. C., would at once step aside for him and accept a seat on the Supreme Court bench.

INSURANCE TO SALESMEN

Says Roger Babson: "Next to preachers, doctors and school teachers, probably no persons do as much real good as honest and competent insurance salesmen. Were I a young man and for any reason could not be in the work I now am in, I would sell life insurance."

Babson is right. Insurance offers a great career of usefulness—growing greater as insurance becomes more flexible and more attractive policies are offered. The only difficulty is that too many people who make a failure in other occupations finally land in the insurance game.

The Fredericton Exhibition which closed on Saturday evening was one of the most successful ever held here. President J. A. Cain and his fellow directors had to contend with unfavorable weather conditions for two days, but they stuck right to the job. They all worked hard and certainly deserve great credit for the success achieved. Fredericton has been firmly established on the map as an exhibition town and we feel sure that the splendid work of the directors carried on for over a score of years is appreciated.

Our esteemed contemporary the Woodstock Sentinel edited by a recent arrival from the law abiding and extremely dry Sydney, N. S. area, pretends to be greatly shocked over some statistics recently made public by the Provincial Bureau of Information dealing with the activities of the Provincial Police. We might tell our worthy friend by way of explanation that the information simply goes to show that under the Baxter administration law enforcement in New Brunswick has ceased to be a farce or a subject for reproach.

The young wife of Billy Sunday, Jr., is seeking a divorce. She charges cruelty, and says the younger Billy "treated her as a possession." Of course, no modern woman would stand for that. She may be a treasure, but she's no one's possession. The sooner the male persuasion of the generation get that idea into their heads the better it will be for them.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

There is no place like home to a homing pigeon.

Keep away from the man with bent tenders. He doesn't care.

Lima Beane thinks the world needs fewer people telling what the world needs.

There can't be much bad in a man who is adopted by a lost dog that is looking for a friend.

Why should anyone try to hide his light under a bushel, when a peck measure would answer the purpose?

Nature has done well, but a pair of eyes that could see around a bus or truck would be of advantage to a motorist.

What's the world coming to? Advancements made by electricity suggest the answer to the age-old question is watts.

EXHIBITION OF 1929 BEST IN CITY'S HISTORY

year. As early as nine o'clock on the final day, crowds were outside the gate and prepared to spend the day in the various art of pleasure hunting. Keen interest was manifest by the patrons in the agricultural exhibits as formerly, and also in the floricultural displays during Saturday, as during the earlier days of the week.

Tearing Down Fate.

It was not until early on Sunday morning that the tearing down process was really begun, but after it was once commenced, short work was made of the glittering fair ground of the night before. Ben Williams and his sideshows and other amusement devices entrained early Sunday morning for Chatham, and following their showing there will go to other places in the province and Maine. Cervone and his band left yesterday for Pittsburgh, Pa., their home town. The same band are engaged to play at the Brockton Fair in Massachusetts, which takes place soon.

The stables of horses, who were here for the Fredericton Exhibition races entrained for Chatham, where further racing is scheduled.

Exhibition officials are very optimistic over the success of the 1929 attraction here. The fact that two of the days, Tuesday and Wednesday, were very poor days due to the heavy downfall of rain, goes to show the tremendous popularity of the fair, as during the remainder of the week, with perfect weather, the attendance figures mounted to unprecedented height and maintained the hitherto glorious record of the Fredericton Exhibition.
