STEAMER ANTILLES SUNK AND SEVENTY MEN LOST

American Transport Caught by German
Pirates While Returning From Europe—
The List of Victims Included American Soldiers.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The American transport Antilles, homeward bound, was torpedoed in the war zone Oct. 17, and went down with a loss of about seventy lives. The ship, a former Ward liner, was under convoy by a naval patrol when attacked. The submarine was not seen, nor was the torpedo.

All naval and army officers aboard were saved, and all but three of the ship's officers, but sixteen soldiers out of thirty-three aboard were lost.

Such officers and men of the army as were aboard were being sent home on special assignments, invalided home or those to be discharged for some reason or other. The list of these will not be available until it can be obtained from General Pershing in France.

Official Announcement.

Secretary Daniel authorized the following announcement: "The department is in receipt of a despatch from Vice-Admiral Sims, which states that the steamship Antilles, an army transport, was torpedoed on Oct. 17, while returning to this country from foreign service. This vessel was under convoy of American patrol vessels at the time.

"The Torpedo which struck the Antilles was not seen nor was the submarine which fired it. The torpedo hit abreast of the engine room bulkhead and the ship sank within five minutes. One hundred and seven persons out of about 237 on board the Antilles were saved. About seventy men are missing.

"All the naval officers and officers of the army who were on board at the time were saved, as were the officers of the ship, with the exception of the third engineer and two junior engineers.

"There were about 33 of the army enlisted personnel on board, of whom 17 were saved."

Three Schooners Sunk.

An Atlantic Port, Oct. 19.—The Associated Press despatch this afternoon carries the following:

"Attacks on three American sailing ships by German submarines were reported by their crews who reached here today on a French liner. Capt. Mortensen, of the three-masted American bark Paolina, said that Sept. 25, his vessel was fired on by a U-boat, but not hit. The Germans then came on board, looted her and sank her with bombs.

With the Fingers!
Says Corns Lift Out
Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of freezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callous without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound and while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman.
