RUM RUNNER SHOT AT MONCTON IN HOSPITAL

Injury Not Considered Serious—Will be Tried at Sussex Soon—Police Officers Jumped Aboard Rum Laden Car While in Motion.

After chasing a rum laden auto about 25 miles outside of the Moncton district on Saturday morning, Provincial police officers, boarded the fleeing machine from their own police car while in motion and succeeded in bringing the daring traders to a stop, only after reaching Cole's Island, a distance of about 25 miles from flight of the transport auto. In the ensuing tussle which occurred in auto between bootleggers and police, one of the men was shot in the leg. This occurrence may have helped to dismay further resistance of the lawbreakers, for they flew into the woods, leaving the liquor-laden auto for the officers.

The truck, which was left by the men, contained 300 gallons of contraband alcohol, in 2½ gallon cans, and it was taken care of by the police officials, together with the wounded man, by name Ovilla Rossignol. Rossignol was brought to this city to gether with the load of liquor, the latter being stored here. Medical aid was given the man at the Victoria Hospital. His injury is not considered serious, according to Captain E. C. P. Salt, head of the New Brunswick Provincial Police, and he will be taken to Sussex for trial soon.

The chase was one of the most exciting and spectacular known in the annals of the police. The Provincial Police Commissioner stated to a Mail reporter at noon today that Rossignol was wounded in the fight which occurred as the police officers clambered aboard the liquor laden truck and was not indiscreetly fired upon.

H. L. Nevers of Moncton is in the city today.

Hartland, Oct. 13—The potato market continues steady with a good demand and heavy shipments going forward to the Canadian west, the United States and Cuba. The steamer Chetis for Cuba, with a cargo of 20,000 bags of 90 lbs each, will sail from Saint John Monday. The entire cargo is government inspected New Brunswick grade one Green Mountains and Irish Cobblers in new branded sacks. Potato digging in Carleton county is 30 per cent finished. Victoria county has still considerable digging to do.

The price paid yesterday by dealers for Green Mountain and Cobbler varieties was from $2.25 to $1.40 per barrel of 165 lbs.

Added strength was given the potato market by the United States September crop report received here Friday, which showed a further increase for 4,000,000 bushels.

FREDERICTON HIGH LOST AT ROTHESAY

St. John, Oct. 14—A never-say-die spirit, a great kick by Reid that resulted in a try, and the convert of this try by Emerson gave Rethesay Collegiate School an 8 to 6 verdict over Fredericton High School in the Interscholastic Football League on the former's grounds Saturday afternoon. The final score was the result of two tries for each team, but Fredericton failed to make either convert. Outplayed for 40 minutes of the encounter, the fighting forwards of the winners never gave the Four Horsemen of the Fredericton three-quarter line many chances to get away on any of their famous runs, and on the two or three occasions where they broke away, they were halted by beautiful sharp tackles by the back division of R. C. S.

LABOR HAS WON THE ELECTIONS IN AUSTRALIA

Will Have 40 or 45 Seats in the New Parliament.

SCULLIN TO BE PREMIER

Succeeds Hon. Stanley Bruce Who Has Held Office 6 Years.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)
Canberra, Australia, Oct. 14—The latest figures in the Australian General Elections indicate that Labor is certain of forty seats and possibly forty five or more out of seventy-five. Eleven seats are doubtful and Premier Bruce's position is still uncertain.

It is evident that Ministers Gibson Howse and Abbott are faced with defeat and possibly Mullet.

Victory Decisive

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 13—The Labor party won a decisive victory in the Australian general elections yesterday. James Henry Scullin, who became leader of the party only 18 months ago, will be the next Prime Minister of Australia. He succeeds Prime Minister Rt. Hon. Stanley Bruce, who has been in office since 1923.

The standing in the new House of Representatives will probably be as follows: Labor party, 44; Nationalists, 16; Country party, 10; Independent Nationalists, 3; Country Progressives, 1; Independents, 1.

The Labor party has been prominent in Australia politics since the Commonwealth was formed 28 years ago, and there have been four previous Labor governments. But the Labor victory yesterday was the most sweeping party triumph ever recorded in this Dominion.

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 14—With the final returns confirming the decisiveness of Labor's victory, it became certain today that James Henry Scullin, a middle aged journalist of Irish descent would become Australia's new Labor Premier before the end of this week.

Huge C. P. R. Liner Grounded as She Was Being Piloted Through a Dangerous Channel—Cool Seamanship on the Part of the Crew Averted a Panic—Passengers All Taken Off.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

VICTORIA, B. C., October 14—While a score of small tugs steamed and chugged about Albert Head attempting to pull the palatial steamer Empress of Canada, C. P. R. liner off the rocks where she grounded early on Sunday a tale of cool seamanship that prevented a panic among its 150 passengers was told here today.

In dense fog in the narrow channel, the huge liner struck the rocks twenty miles west of here. The ship, in command of Capt. E. Griffiths, was being guided through the dangerous channel between William Head and Albert Head by pilot Roberts. A moment after the impact the passengers were on the deck, a few anxiously enquiring as to the cause of the crash. The ships crew managed to keep them in control and relieved them of anxiety. Passengers were removed from the vessel on Sunday night by the steamer Otter and landed here. As they departed from the stricken ship, they cheered Captain Griffith and shouted "Good Luck."

Moncton, N. B., Oct. 13—After reaching Moncton about 10 o'clock tonight, following an all-day apto trip from his home in Portland, Me., Otto L. Steeves, automobile mechanic, died with tragic suddenness at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Amy Hicks, 368 St. George street, a few minutes after arrival in company with his wife and Arthur L. Wentworth of 11 Massachusetts avenue, Portland. Death was due to natural causes and Coroner Dr. H. H. Coleman, who was called, decided, after enquiring into the circumstances, that no inquest was necessary.

According to information given the coroner in the course of his examination, the party left the deceased's home at 214 High Street, Portland, at 4 o'clock Sunday morning and Mr. Steeves drove the car for the first 190 miles, Mr. Wentworth then taking the wheel for the remainder of the journey. Mr. Steeves seemed to be in usual health throughout the entire trip and the party had three meals on the way east, Mr. Steeves never complaining at any time of illness.

From the story that we have heard Boston was willing to license "Strange Interlude" if it was expurgated down to two and a half hours.

which appeared in these columns, no mention was made of family connections on her mother's side. She was a great granddaughter of the late Hon. Jonathan Bliss, a former Chief Justice of the N. B. EARTHWORMS OF LARGE SIZE IN AUSTRALIA

Melbourne, Oct. 14—The gigantic earthworms of Gippsland, in southern Australia, which average four feet long and which grow sometimes to be nine and even eleven feet long, are described in a paper written by Charles Barrett. He has returned from the region where the huge earthworms live and where he has spent weeks in studying their habits.

Because their burrows are long and curve sharply, it was difficult to get out specimens undamaged. Moreover, a gurgling sound is made by the worms whenever they hear diggers approaching their lairs and they are surprisingly quick in getting away.

Their burrows are several feet below the surface during the summer, but in the fall and winter, they approach to within a foot of the surface.

The eggs, two to three inches long, often were found in loose soil. They are tough and horny, green in color and oval shaped.
