THE BITTER MOON

Despite the well known place of the Moon in romance, in poetry, in love making, we are lucky that we woke up today on the Earth instead of on the Moon. The bright planet that has so long inspired man to all sorts of silly undertakings is not nearly so good as it looks. Temperature in the sun reaches the heat of boiling water. After dark it is 100 degrees below zero. We would have to do our talking there by signs. The rare atmosphere wouldn't transmit sound waves strong enough to be audible. And if you made even a mild little jump off the front porch you would land thirty-five or forty feet away. The lessened force of gravitation on the Moon slows falling to the rate of two and a half feet a second. The old earth isn't so bad—at least we are used to it.

Fredericton is not only getting motor visitors this season but it is also getting tourists who travel by air. Two privately owned hydroplanes from Montreal arrived last night and anchored in the river opposite the A. & B. Club house. They spent the night here, refueled, left this morning for Prince Edward Island. These were the first planes carrying pleasure seekers to visit Fredericton, but more will come. At present Fredericton can take care of all the seaplanes that come along.

Gilbert & Sullivan's Comic Operas seem to have lost none of their old time popularity in the United States. The National Broadcasting Company has arranged to put one of these operas on the air each week. A start was made with H. M. S. Pinafore, two weeks ago. Last week The Mikado was the bill and on Wednesday evening, Princess Ida is to be broadcast. Next week The Yeoman of the Guard will be put on. These operas will be heard over station WEAJ, each Wednesday evening at 10.30 o'clock.

Men sometimes get a reputation for being political strategists because they lay traps. But a politician is a poor strategist who lays a trap that anybody with the most ordinary common sense can recognize as a trap. The real strategist is not the man who is one jump ahead of his opponents but is always at least two jumps ahead.

Tests made by psychologists at Ann Arbor show that quick minds learn best by reading and slow minds best by hearing. Quick minds can learn by hearing too, of course but they don't believe everything they hear.

In order to make a dollar read $115.10, all you have to do is put it out at 6 per cent interest and then wait 200 years. For any one except a man accustomed to waiting for his wife at beauty parlors that might prove tedious.

Let no one marvel at the superb endurance record nailed to the sky by those men in a second hand plane out there near the Pacific coast. You know the explanation. They were sustained by the California climate.

"Cabbages on the Isle of Jersey grow as tall as a man's head." This would no doubt result in a great deal of confusion were it not for the fact that the cabbage heads are stationary.

Another kind of farm relief board that serves its purpose pretty well is the kind that is sold to summer folks from the city at $10 plus per week.

If you think you had a hard life, fancy what the radio announcer has to suffer! He can't tune the darn thing out for himself.

Yesterday was St. Swithen's day and this section of the province was free from rain.

Texas seems to have worked out an ideal system of caring for its mentally infirm, sending them out into other states pushing peanuts.

It is a man with a true understanding of life and philosophy who notes that the putt a golfer never fails to count is the one that sinks.

Spirituality: Pleading for a broader vision when lacking anything else to talk about.

"When a woman finds time for reflection," remarks the Office Cynic, "she looks into a mirror."

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Hi Slocum says that many a Sunday joy ride ends in grief.

Optimism has its days off. Pessimism never takes a vacation.

If we interpret Henry Ford correctly, old age begins when middle age slows up.

All that is asked of a postage stamp is that it stay stick to the end of the journey.

Lima Beane says the man who gives up because he can't find a horseshoe will never have any luck.

Many girls have been named after the rose, the violet and the lily, but parents seem to have overlooked the petunia.

It used to be, "Lindbergh lands." Now the sentence reads, "Lindberghs arrive." That's what matrimony can do to phraseology.

"I am too busy to think of getting married again," says Peggy Joyce. That's the idea, girl—don't do any more marrying without thinking.

Radio announcers are continually telling listeners that they can get a "booklet on the subject" by merely writing for it, but did anybody ever get one?

Commander Byrd has found 20,000 miles of new land. But none of it being within a twenty-minute walk of the city hall, he will not go into the real estate business.

Cleveland man suing for divorce complains his wife kissed him only when she asked for money. And she took a chance at that. Most of them make the gesture only when the touch has been completed.

LATE ERNEST L. KELLEY

Remains Arrived Here This Morning by Train—Funeral Tomorrow Afternoon from Home of Mrs. Dell Hartt, York Street, at Three O'Clock—Was Very Popular Here.

The remains of the late Ernest L. Kelley, who died from injuries received several days ago in St. Catharines, Ontario, when struck by a C. N. R. radial car, arrived in the city this morning and were taken to the home of Mrs. Dell Hartt, in York street. The funeral service will take place tomorrow afternoon from the home of Mrs. Hartt at three o'clock and will be conducted by Rev. F. H. Holmes assisted by Rev. M. H. Mason. Interment will be made in the Rural extension.

Praises the Nashwaak.

Mr. W. L. Heiberg of Washington, D. C., who with Mrs. Heiberg and daughter Miss Jean Heiberg, who have been at the Windsor the past week left this morning for the Miramichi on a fishing trip. Mr. Heiberg spent a day fishing on the Nashwaak last week. He regards it as one of the most beautiful rivers in America. "I would not hesitate to build a summer home on the Nashwaak," he told The Mail, "but for the obstruction at the mouth of the river which prevents the free passage of fish." Mr. Heiberg and family plan to remain here a month.

Left Hospital

Miss Gertrude Forbes, who has been confined in the Victoria Hospital for the past few weeks, following an auto accident, in which she received quite serious injuries, was able to leave that institution several days ago and is now recuperating at her home in Carleton street.
